U. S. NAVY TURNS MASSIE OVER TO HAWAII POLICE

Murder Defendants Appear in Court.

BULLETIN.

HONOLULU, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Arrangements were made tonight to have Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three naval men accused of lynching a Hawaiian released on bail tomorrow. The decision was reached after Judge A. M. Cristy received assurances the navy would co-operate in keeping the defendants within the jurisdiction of the Circuit court. The defendants remained in jail tonight. Bail for Mrs. Fortescue was fixed at $5,000, while her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two enlisted men, E. J. Lord and O. A. Jones, will be freed on $2,500 bail. They will be taken to Pearl Harbor naval yard and required to report daily to a probation officer appointed by the court.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Jan. 29.—Out of the sheltering arms of the United States navy at the Pearl Harbor base, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, social figure here and on the mainland; Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and two sailors, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, were surrendered today in open court on murder charges. The murder accusations grew out of the abduction and killing of Joseph Kahahawai, defendant in the rape case in which 20 year old Thalia Massie, wife of the lieutenant and daughter of Mrs. Fortescue, was the victim.

LIEUT. THOMAS H. MASSIE.

They stood in a pale, stern and silent row before Circuit Judge A. M. Cristy, son of an Ohio minister, and were stared at by a quiet courtroom crowd of persons of mixed blood and a few whites, while an indictment charging second degree murder, which carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment, was read to them.

Asks Navy's Coöperation.

Before a plea was made however, and before a motion for bail was settled a new question was injected into the case by the court. This was whether the territorial court in this case could depend upon the coöperation of the United States navy in the orderly processes of law.

This involves, according to Judge Cristy, a definite and serious matter which touches the very continuance of the American structure of government on this island. He demanded before proceeding further with the case a cabled assurance from Secretary Adams that the navy department will continue to assist this court in its legal jurisdiction—that the trial, in other words, will not be illegally interfered with.

Not Anxious to Try Case.

Any orderly and openly agitated change in law would not be opposed by him, Judge Christy said, indicating that he is not anxious to try this case and had no opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendants, but he insisted that it be orderly and no high handed removal of the case from his court.

His position is strong in defending the integrity and jurisdiction of his court so long as it remained. If any change of venue is contemplated, he said, it would be all right to have it granted by the court on sufficient showing and if legal means were found.

The four defendants arrived from the navy yard, where they have been held aboard the receiving ship, U. S. S. Alton, shortly before 9 o'clock under the guard of sailors and Capt. Ward K. Wortman.

Search Visitors for Weapons.

A special force of dark skinned Honolulu policemen stood at the entrance of the courthouse and all visitors were searched for weapons, but there was no gathering around the building and the courtroom was only comfortably filled. It presented a cross section of the racial mixtures here, a matter to which Honolulu people pay little attention any more. They see no racial question in this situation, only a deplorable crime for which they are paying too dearly in the eyes of the world.

Winter's First Cold Weather Hits Chicago

From the frozen plains of western Canada the first cold wave of the present winter swept into Chicago last night. From a mark of 46 at 8 a. m. yesterday the mercury had falle nto 21 degrees at 9 p. m. At midnight it was 13 above at the city airport and at 3 a. m. it was 12 at the Tribune Tower. Meteorologist C. A. Donnell said that he expected a minimum near 10 above by dawn.

Indications were that skies would be overclouded today, but that tomorrow will be mostly fair. Subnormal temperatures are expected to prevail over the week-end unless the wind veers to the northeast or east. If that should happen, the temperature will be raised, but Mr. Donnel anticipated nothing but northwest winds today.

Below Zero in Midwest.

Readings well below the zero mark were recorded at 7 p. m. yesterday in cities scattered over a wide area in the northwest and the west. At Sioux City, Ia., it was 6 below; at Omaha 2 below; at Minneapolis 6 below, and at Des Moines just zero.

In western Iowa a 40 mile gale tossed dry snow into drifts. Roads were blocked and cattle were frozen in the fields, it was reported in parts of Nebraska.

Take Aid to Farmers.

Near Moorhead, Minn., where the minimum was 10 below last evening, Red Cross workers were battling the blizzard to take aid to snowed in farmers, it was said. The cold wave covered northern Kansas and much colder weather was experienced even in the western ports on the Gulf of Mexico.

Abnormally high temperatures continued in the east. New York having a reading of 48 at 7 p. m. and Buffalo one of 52. At Philadelphia, at the same time, the mark was 52 and at Pittsburgh 58.

Shippers were warned to protect goods in transit during the next 48 hours against temperatures as low as 20 below in the northwest and against zero if the goods are destined for the south or east.

Tailor Shop Shattered by Bomb; Family Aroused

The front of William Bielskis' tailor shop at 2614 West 71st street was damaged late last night by a black powder bomb. The loss was estimated at $200. Windows in the neighborhood were shattered. Bielskis, his wife, Antoinette, and their son, Walter, 3 years old, asleep in their living quarters in the rear, were jarred. Bielskis told Lieut. Richard Lawler of the Chicago Lawn station that the motive of the bombing was a mystery. He said he was sending his cleaning work to the Drexel Cleaners and Dyers, a member of the Cleaners and Dyers' Institute, headed by Dr. Benjamin M. Squires. Murray Humphries, alleged Capone lieutenant, is said to be a partner in the Drexel concern.

FOUND! SOFTEST GOVERNMENT JOB IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The softest governmental job in Washington was discovered today behind a heavy metal door in the new department of commerce building. It is the private elevator conductor to the secretary of commerce, Robert P. Lamont, whose goings and comings to his spacious suite of offices on the fifth floor of the new structure are negotiated in a personal elevator in which no other, except by his order, may ride.

The private elevator is manned by a young Negro woman whose only duties from 8 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon are to await the secretary's wishes regarding ascent or descent. She is paid a salary somewhere between $1,080 and $1,380 a year.

BANDITS FLEE UNDER BARRAGE OF SCRAP IRON

George J. Nikolas Jr., vice president of the G. J. Nikolas company, 1227 West Van Buren street, laid down a scrap iron barrage yesterday and routed three bandits who attempted to take a $2,000 pay roll away from him. The men, who had no firearms, fell on him outside the entrance of his office and attempted to wrest the brief case in which he carried the cash from his hands. He was knocked down and kicked, but clung to the case until he managed to regain his feet and seize several pieces of iron from a building being wrecked next door. He threw them at the robbers as they retreated to an automobile and drove away.

Rumor Names Lowden Envoy to St. James

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Reports persisted today that the Hoover administration has offered the London ambassadorial post vacated by Charles G. Dawes to former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois. Although the White House professed lack of knowledge of the move to send Mr. Lowden to the court of St. James's, it became known that steps were taken some time ago to sound him out on the question of his availability for the post.

State department officials declined to comment on the reports that former Ambassador Dawes had asked Gov. Lowden if he would like to accept the London post.

At the White House it was said President Hoover was not yet ready to name the man who would be appointed ambassador to London.

Lowden Not Receptive.

In administration circles the view persisted that the former governor of Illinois could have the post if he desires the honor. One report current here is that Gov. Lowden advised the White House through Mr. Dawes that he did not care to leave his Illinois farm at this time to enter the diplomatic corps.

It was recalled today that this marks the second time Mr. Lowden has been seriously considered for the London post. During the early years of the Coolidge administration Gov. Lowden was offered the ambassadorship at London and refused.

DENIES GETTING OFFER.

Former Gov. Lowden was found in Chicago yesterday attending to some of his business affairs, but he would not discuss the report that he might be the next ambassador to the court of St. James's.

"The honor has not been offered to me," he said, "so there is nothing I can say on that subject."

He declined to discuss the topic any further and added that he would have nothing to say on it in the future.

RIVETER SNARES REAL HOT ONE IN HIS LITTLE PAIL

Ypsilanti, Mich., Jan. 29.—(AP)—John Quirk, steel worker, who boasts a high fielding average in snaring rivets hot for the portable furnace, was bemoaning his dexterity today.

He reached out nonchalantly from his perch high in the air yesterday and caught the object that was hurtling toward him. Too late he discovered it was notice of a legal action against himself.

Deputy Richard Klavitter, who disguised the summons as a river to avoid waiting until Quirk descended at quitting time, said it constituted legal service.

Fire Destroys Elevator on Goose Island

A spectacular fire swept the grain elevator of the Atlantic Elevator company, 1549 Cherry street, on the north branch of the Chicago river at Goose island, early this morning. Damage was estimated conservatively at $100,000.

Fanned by a strong west wind, the flames swept in fiery tongues across the river and threatened the plants of the Fleischmann Yeast company and the Standard Brands company. Blazing embers were carried high into the air by the wind and deposited blocks away, threatening other buildings. The sky turned into a lurid canopy as the elevator burst into a mass of fire. More than 15,000 spectators, many of them in evening dress, gathered at the scene.

Flames Spread Rapidly.

The fire broke out shortly before 2 o'clock and spread rapidly through the six floors. The elevator, constructed of wood and corrugated iron, and owned by the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, 332 South La Salle street, was empty at the time. Firemen arriving on the scene first turned in calls for help immediately, and 2-11, 4-11, and 5-11 alarms followed, with Marshal Michael Corrigan hurrying to the scene personally to assume charge.

There was no chance to save the structure because of the headway it had gained and the high wind. The flames shot high into the air, being seen as far away as Cicero. Hundreds of taxicabs and private cars sped to Goose island. Their parked cars hampered firemen in locating water plugs.

Heat Holds Firemen Off.

Within a few minutes the elevator was a mass of fire, shooting embers all over the factory district. The intense heat kept firemen at a distance. Several companies devoted their attention to the Fleischmann and Standard Brands plants and to a lumber yard on the south. Water connections were made across the Division street yards of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, completely tying rail traffic there because of lines of hose stretched across the tracks. Several box cars were scorched and docks along the river for a block were burned.

Half an hour after the fire had started, the 2,000 gallon water tank atop the elevator leaned over and toppled lazily into the river.

The blaze resulted indirectly in one fatality, that of Capt. Thomas Conway, 68 years old, of 4313 North Ashland avenue, veteran of the fire department in command of Engine 71, located at North California and Rosemont avenues. He listened to the extra alarms as they sounded on the joker. He was ill at the time. As the call for a 4-11 came, Capt. Conway collapsed. He died 10 minutes later of heart disease.

Two Firemen Injured.

In another early morning fire, this one of incendiary origin, at 93d street and Ellis avenue, Lieut. William Brown and Pipeman Richard Corcy of Engine 82 were severely burned. The blaze demolished an empty frame structure. Firemen found almost a barrel of gasoline in the place and several small cans with which the gasoline had been sprinkled on the floors. Brown and Corcy were among the first arrivals, and were caught by a wall of flame which enveloped them inside the house. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

CHINESE BANDITS DEMAND RANSOM FOR U. S. CITIZEN

PEIPING, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Chinese bandits who more than a week ago kidnaped Charles Baker, American captain of a river boat plying on the Yangtse river, have demanded 10,000,000 silver dollars as his ransom, Capt. Baker declared in a letter received by the commander of the United States river gunboat Oahu today.

Capt. Baker said the conditions under which he is being held captive are "impossible."

"My treatment is deplorable," he said, "and the bandits have threatened to behead me unless something is paid promptly, for which reason I beg you to make haste."

He is being held, he said, at Chowho, a village in Hupeh province. The letter enclosed a list of merchandise, worth 1,000,000 silver dollars, which the bandits demanded be sent as part of ransom payment.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Solomon Levitan, state treasurer, today said Gov. Philip F. La Follette notified him he would take a 20 per cent salary cut, dated from Jan. 1 and effective for the year.

The reduction will give the governor $6,000 for the year instead of $7,500. The action followed suggested legislation by the governor that all state departments reduce budgets up to 20 per cent.

CHINESE BATTLE MARINES; U. S. TO AVOID WAR TANGLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 30.—(Saturday.)—(Special.)—In official circles here it is felt that if the United States should apply an economic blockade to Japan such action would lead to war. Japanese officials declare they cannot understand how the United States rationally could take such a step. Japan feels the present landing force at Shanghai is insufficient and it appears likely that regulars will be dispatched. It is feared that unless the army sends troops to Shanghai the landing force now there will be unable to handle the situation should the Chinese undertake a strong offensive.

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30 (Saturday.)—(AP)—Authorities of the international settlement lodged a protest with United States Consul General Cunningham this afternoon in which they charged Japanese naval officials with violating the neutrality of the international settlement "continuously."

The settlement authorities charged the Japanese were using the settlement as a base for their operations against the Chinese.

Consul General Cunningham denied, however, that he had made such a protest. He also said the consular corps had not taken any action. He also denied the accuracy of reports concerning an alleged Sino-Japanese truce. He said there was no truth in the report that he acted as a mediator in bringing the Japanese and Chinese together, seeking a truce.

SHANGHAI, China, Saturday, Jan. 30.—A volley of Chinese artillery fire from the north railroad station today renewed the fierce struggle between Japanese marines and powerful concentrations of Chinese troops defending the city of Shanghai. Severe fighting broke out in the Chapei district and the Japanese were forced to retire.

Throughout the night there had been intermittent bursts of rifle and machine gun fire. Shortly after dawn the sporadic fighting was intensified and at 8:30 a. m. Chapei was again the scene of fierce warfare.

Shells fell in the Range road district, in the international settlement, where United States marines and other foreign troops were on duty.

Fire on Scots Fusiliers.

Chinese snipers fired on the Royal Scots Fusiliers guarding the North Honan road gate to the settlement. Two Scots Fusiliers were removed in ambulances. The seriousness of their wounds was uncertain.

It appeared that the 10,000 Chinese reinforcements which were reported Friday morning to be en route from Nanking had arrived and were bearing the brunt of the assault against the Japanese.

The reinforcements had come into the north railroad station overnight and it was estimated that 20,000 Chinese regulars took part in the counter attack on the Japanese marines.

Japanese Order Offensive.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—President Hoover's cabinet, in a heated two hour session today, placed the seal of its disapproval upon any policy of single-handed coercion of Japan by the United States which might involve us in war in the far east.

With the European powers holding aloof and allowing President Hoover alone to do the bearding of Japan, a majority of the cabinet members expressed themselves in favor of confining our unaided efforts henceforth to the protection of American lives and property in Asia.

They arrayed themselves against further admonishment of Japan or resort to naval demonstrations, boycotts or embargoes unless the United States should be joined in the adoption of such measures by other powers. The views of members were so forcibly expressed as to generate reports of dissension in the cabinet over the policy the President and Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson have been pursuing in the effort to curb Japan's aggressions upon China in the name of enforcement of the Kellogg anti-war pact.

See Setback for Japanese.

That Japan has already suffered a serious setback in her intended occupation of the Yangtze valley to Hankow is the view of American military experts.

They hold that the Japanese landing force at Shanghai sustained what amounts to a defeat at the hands of the Chinese infantry. In their opinion it will take not less than 50,000 Japanese troops to occupy Shanghai and organize the city as a base for further operations and 250,000 troops to occupy and control the Yangtze valley.

Secretary Stimson reported to the cabinet that Great Britain had consented to make an appeal to Japan similar to the one Mr. Stimson dispatched Wednesday that the Shanghai international settlement be spared in the occupation. Farther than that, Britain will not go at this time.

Reads Note to Tokio.

The secretary also read to his colleagues the American note to Tokio which expressed the hope that Japan would exercise a maximum of self-restraint. The note pointed to the serious concern which would be aroused in the world by an attack on Shanghai, due not only to the international settlement but to the international character of the port in general. It contended that Japan should not act alone, without consulting the other powers interested in Shanghai, and emphasized that the international settlement was maintaining law and order.

The American government hoped Japan would not act in contravention of the rights of others in Shanghai, including China, or jeopardize the lives and interests of the nationals of all countries there, including those of the United States, Japan and China. This country, it was added, was solicitous for the rights and best interests of all concerned and made the representations in a spirit of friendliness.

Hoover Noncommittal.

President Hoover is described as listening to the views of the members of his cabinet, but not committing himself as to his future course. Some administration officials think he has been considerably disillusioned by his experience in attempting single handedly to make the Kellogg pact a living force for the preservation of peace. The net result of his policy up to date has been to incur the ill will of Japan for America without enforcing Japan's respect either for the Kellogg pact or the nine power treaty.

One theory is that the President has been unduly influenced by the numerous groups of pacifists who, when not promoting reduction of our navy to the point of incapacity to back up our threats are urging Mr. Hoover to "put teeth in the Kellogg pact."

Secretary Stimson took occasion to deny today that he had suggested to Great Britain anything beyond an appeal to Japan to respect the Shanghai international settlement, to which the London government acceded.

Ask British Support.

"Several days ago, when the situation first became acute," said Mr. Stimson, "I consulted with the British ambassador in regard to the crisis at Shanghai and asked him to confer with his government. I discussed with him the making of representations to Japan that, in view of the efficient police and other sources of protection already available in the international settlement, there should be no military occupation of that settlement by Japan unless the municipal force became clearly inadequate to protect life and property.

"On Wednesday our government made such a communication to Japan and we have now received an answer assuring this government that the international rights and interests in Shanghai would not be interfered with. I learn this morning from the British ambassador that his government has made the same suggestions to Japan that were conveyed by ourselves. An informal communication, such as we made to the British, has been made by both Great Britain and ourselves to France and Italy. No other proposals for international action have been made by the American government.

British Support Meager.

The representations to Japan regarding the international settlement constitute the first support the President has been given by Great Britain in his effort to protect China and foreign interests therein from Japanese aggression. Mr. Stimson had expected the British government to back his note to Tokio serving notice that America will not recognize any arrangements in Manchuria made in contravention of the Kellogg pact and nine power treaty, but the MacDonald ministry declined to go along. France and other powers also held aloof, leaving Uncle Sam on the limb.

In quarters inclined to be critical of the administration it is suggested that Mr. Hoover is getting beyond his depth in world politics. France, according to this view, has picked Japan for a winner in the orient and is maneuvering to array Japan against Britain. The British perceiving the French objective, are doing nothing to offend Japan. But both Britain and France have no objection to the United States pulling their chestnuts out of the fire in China.

Many officials are convinced that Japan deliberately chose a time when the western nations were financially embarrassed to gobble up Manchuria and that further occupation of China proper is merely temporary for the purpose of forcing China to call off the boycott of Japanese goods and acquiesce in Japan's annexation of Manchuria.

Japan's Warlike Preparations.

Attention is directed to various indications that Japan has been preparing for war for some time. Much significance is attached to the enormous quantity of cotton, which is used in the manufacture of ammunition, which Japan has been buying in the United States. In the last six months Japan's purchases in this market have aggregated 1,069,000 bales, an increase of 579,000 bales over the same period in 1930. In addition the Japanese have bought 500,000 bales this month for future delivery, despite the slump of the Japanese textile industry. Japan now has one year's cotton supply on hand.

China also has bought 705,000 bales in the last six months, compared with 210,000 bales in 1930. China has purchased 75 airplanes in the last two months. Japan has also been a heavy buyer of American automobiles, airplanes, and gasoline recently.

The delicate situation in the far east and the evident incapacity of the United States to back up the protests being made by the administration may cause the committees of congress to reconsider their decision to shelve the bills providing for the building of the American navy up to treaty limits.

Compare Fleet Strengths.

Senator Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.], chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, said today he will address the senate soon with a comparison of the American and Japanese navies.

Because of the fact that Japan is building up to the 10-7 ratio fixed by the London treaty and America is not, the Japanese navy in under-age craft will be almost equal in tonnage to the American navy when the treaty expires in 1936. The comparative strength as of that date at present building rates will be as follows:

UNITED STATES.

Type—	Number.	Tonnage.
Capital ships	8	251,600
Aircraft carriers	3	79,800
Cruisers, 8 inch	16	152,900
Cruisers, 6 inch	10	70,500
Destroyers	11	16,500
Submarines	20	27,070
Totals	68	598,370

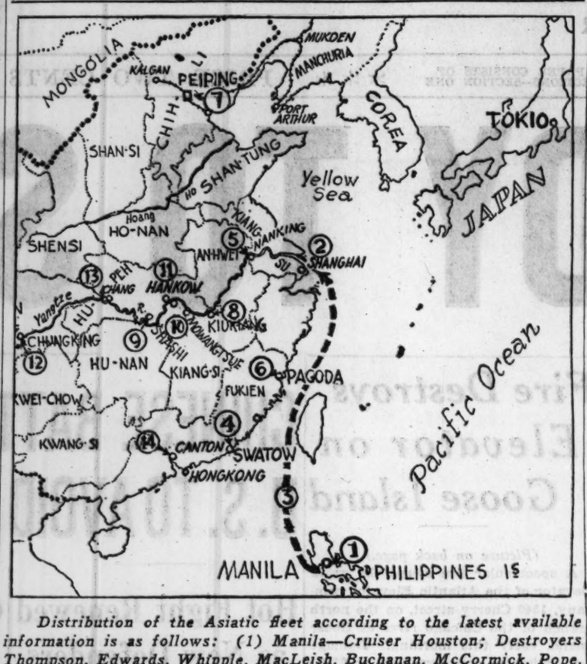
JAPAN.

Type—	Number.	Tonnage.
Capital ships	5	154,750
Aircraft carriers	4	68,870
Cruisers, 8 inch	12	108,400
Cruisers, 6 inch	18	103,895
Destroyers	70	96,291
Submarines	47	63,972
Totals	156	596,178

The Vinson bill for building our navy up to treaty limits in ten years is opposed by the President.

Representative Morton D. Hull [Rep., Ill.] introduced a resolution in the house today inviting the President to exercise his office to prevent a breach of the Kellogg-Briand pact by declaring an embargo against any nation which declared war in violation of the treaty's terms. The resolution would give the President authority to indicate the aggressor nation and to enforce either a partial or full economic boycott against the offender.

Where U. S. Asiatic Fleet Is Stationed



Distribution of the Asiatic fleet according to the latest available information is as follows: (1) Manila—Cruiser Houston; Destroyers Thompson, Edwards, Whipple, MacLeish, Buchanan, McCormick, Pope, Peary, Pillsbury, and Ford; 12 submarines, two mine sweepers, and one airplane tender with 12 planes. (2) Shanghai—Destroyers Truxtun and Borie. (3) Destroyers Paul Jones, Edsall, Parott, and Bulmer are en route from Manila to Shanghai. (4) Destroyer Tracy is at Swatow. Eight More U. S. Warships Set for Dash to Shanghai

BULLETIN.

BULLETIN.

BATAVIA, Java, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The British cruiser Kent, which had been under orders to remain at Priok until Feb. 2, was ordered tonight to leave for China tomorrow.

MANILA, Jan. 30 [Saturday].—(AP)—Eight more destroyers of the American Asiatic fleet were geared here today to dash for Shanghai on short notice for possible service in the new area of conflict between China and Japan.

ADMIRAL TAYLOR. [Acme hPoto.]

Four destroyers sailed hurriedly yesterday and the additional preparations were made as alarming reports of fighting in the Chinese city were received.

The new cruiser Houston, flagship of the fleet's commander, Rear Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, was undergoing minor repairs at Cavite, on Manila bay, but the admiral said it could be ready to sail on 24 hours' notice.

Manila Buzzes with War Report.

Three other destroyers, a dozen submarines, and a small fleet of colliers, mine layers, and tenders were available for instant use.

Justo Chan, president of the Chinese Patriotic society, announced today that transportation to China would be provided for any of the several thousands of jobless Chinese now in the Philippines.

Admiral Taylor, great-nephew of the fighting President Zachary Taylor, said he was maintaining close touch with the situation by wireless. His only statement was:

"Whatever decision is reached depends upon developments."

Manila Hears War Rumor.

Manila was celebrating its annual carnival with characteristic gayety when the orders came that sent the four destroyers speeding toward Shanghai. The hurried roundup of men on shore leave and the quick sailing gave rise to the rumor that war had been declared.

With electric speed the rumor spread, penetrating Malachanang palace, where a glittering reception was in progress.

The reception was being given by Vice-Gov. Gen. George C. Butte in honor of Gov. Gen. Pierre Pasquier of French Indo-China. Admiral Taylor was at the reception, but left before the rumor of war spread.

Gov. Gen. Pasquier made plans to sail at midnight tonight on the French cruiser Waldeck Rousseau, which had brought him here from Hongkong.

Sailors in High Spirits.

The men of the four destroyers seemed in high spirits as orders were broadcast throughout the city for them to get aboard their ships quickly. The American Asiatic fleet generally is in Manila during the winter and its personnel has plenty of shore leave between maneuver periods and while ships are being overhauled.

Proceeding under forced draft, the four destroyers, each carrying 105 men, were expected to join the American Yangtze river patrol Sunday. The ships are the Paul Jones, the Parrott, the Bulmer, and the Edsall, all under the command of Commander E. W. McKee.

There already are three destroyers in the Shanghai area—the Truxton at Shanghai, the Borie, which left Tuesday to relieve the Truxton, and the Simpson, at Nanking. The Destroyer Stewart is at Foochow, south of Shanghai. The McCormick left here Monday to relieve her. Orders for the Truxton to return from Shanghai to Manila were canceled.

With the four ships speeding toward the scene from here, their arrival will bring the number of United States destroyers there to nine. There also is the regular force of seven river gunboats of the American fleet on the Yangtze.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 29.—With the dissolution of the dail today the Free State general election campaign is in full swing. The election will be held Feb. 16.

President William T. Cosgrave said he has "the greatest confidence that the Irish people will see through the Fianna Fail's insincere and fatuous policy and return with enhanced numbers the only government which can handle the present situation.

"During ten years of careful finance we have laid a foundation broad and secure. Our credit is second to none in Europe. We have a balanced budget. Our national debt is barely equivalent to one year's revenue."

BRITAIN WARNS JAPAN NOT TO GO TOO FAR IN CHINA

Requests Her to Keep Out of Foreign Areas.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Great Britain took the initiative today and in a polite but stern note handed to Japanese Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira expressed the hope that Japan take no action inside the international settlement at Shanghai without first consulting the powers concerned.

At the same time the British government invited the United States to take similar action and notified France and Italy of what she had done. The government also addressed an inquiry to Tokio "for information about the recent development in Shanghai."

Answers U. S. Invitation.

This, in effect, is Britain's answer to the American invitation of two days ago to take a common stand against Japanese aggression. It does not go so far as America is understood to have suggested, but is based on the British hope rather than a belief that the Japanese can be induced to act reasonably for the protection of their legitimate interests.

When the phrase "hope" rather than "belief" is used, it does not mean that the British distrust the Japanese government, but it does mean that they fear that the excitement of the populace of Japan and the attitude of the military leaders on the spot contain factors which might lead to incidents which would be hard to explain on a basis of peace.

It is also learned that the British action is now based upon the precedent set in 1927, when Britain had to act in Shanghai to protect her nationals and interests against Chinese irregulars. Then she was meticulously careful to consult other interested powers before taking any action and she now relies upon Japan to follow the same pacific course.

France Not Invited.

It is notable that France was not invited to coöperate. Italy has no interests in China, but France has large possessions in Indo-China and also large trade interests. Britain's action in "ignoring" France may be due to the fact that in 1927 France refused to coöperate with the other powers in defending the foreign settlements and made her own arrangements. It may also be due to the reported close liaison between French and Japanese military establishments.

THE TRIBUNE is informed that many high Japanese officers have been educated in French military schools and were even attached for a time with the French armies, while France is said to have a number of observers with the Japanese armies.

On the whole, however, the feeling in London today is that the tension is somewhat relieved and it is hoped that action by the league of nations' council, which is expected hourly, may help the situation. There has been no change in the basic sympathy for Japan's position, but this feeling has been hardened somewhat against the methods she has employed to secure her rights in China.

The cabinet met today in the absence of Prime Minister MacDonald, who is in Scotland, and discussed the Chinese situation. No announcement was made of any decisions, but it is understood approval was given the work of diplomats and the efforts to coöperate with the United States to bring about a peaceful settlement of the dispute.

8 ABOARD PLANE 4 HRS. OVERDUE IN WINDSTORM

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A trimotor plane of the Century-Pacific Airlines corporation, bound from Bakersfield to Los Angeles, was 4½ hours overdue tonight with 3 women and 5 men aboard. One of the passengers was Frank Dewar, former Los Angeles county jailer, and now chief criminal deputy sheriff.

A 60 mile an hour wind over the ridge route mountains from the north coupled with hazy, overcast skies, caused feeling of concern for the plane party.

'War Stocks' Record Gain; Japanese Bonds are Lower

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—America's leading security and commodity markets reflected a varied feeling over Sino-Japanese developments in Shanghai. Japanese bonds dropped $10 to $30 or more for $1,000 units, while "war stocks" rallied.

After a listless morning in which stock market prices drifted steadily lower, there was a sudden renewal of moderate speculative buying starting in the early forenoon. This buying, whipped up a mild degree of interest based on the possibility of war—a possibility which leading Wall street executives described as remote, but none the less an interesting will-'o-the-wisp for speculators who started talk of a "war boom."

Wheat Prices Advance.

At about the same time, the grain markets responded to better buying. Wheat rose 2@2⅛ cents. The silk market, important to Japan because silk is one of that country's principal commodities, eased off. The Japanese yen also gave ground, piercing the year's former low point of 35 cents reached on Jan. 2 last.

American buyers of raw silk withdrew substantial buying orders early in the day, the quotation declining as much as 7 cents a bale. Later, better buying developed and prices closed with net losses confined to 3 cents or less a bale for various options.

Japanese government 5½ and 6½ per cent bonds yielded around $20 each for denominations of $1,000. The Great Consolidated Electric Power bonds of Japan declined as much as $52.50 or $1,000 units.

Japan Heavy Cotton Buyer.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Large Japanese purchases of raw cotton in the United States during the last few months have aroused unusual interest among munitions experts due to the ease with which this material can be converted into powerful explosives. Although the level of the Japanese textile industry remains low, department of commerce figures disclose Japan has become the world's largest cotton buyer.

Purchases of cotton in the United States by agents for Japan from July to December, 1931, amounted to 1,069,000 bales, compared with 490,000 bales during the corresponding period of 1930. During November, 1931, Japan bought 246,000 bales of cotton in the United States and 315,000 bales in December. Trade reports indicate, moreover, that sales of American cotton during January for future delivery to Japan total about 500,000 bales.

Has Over Year's Supply.

Due largely to heavy purchases by Japan in this country during recent months, it now has on hand in excess of a year's supply, according to information of government officials. This large supply, regarded by some as unusual in view of the slump of the country's textile trade, is unprecedented in Japan's history.

Shortly after the initiation of military activities by Japan in the Manchurian area it became known that Japanese interests were unusually active in the southwestern cotton belt.

Eleven Women Hurt When Laundry Tank Gives Way

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Eleven women employés of the Massachusetts laundry were taken to a hospital today suffering from minor burns, cuts, and sprains following a panic in the building when a tank gave way.

CHINESE MINERS GO ON STRIKE; BEAT OFFICIALS

TIENTSIN, China, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Apprehension was felt today over the situation in the Kailan mines at Tongshan, where workers have been called on strike by their union as sequel to a dispute over the interpretation of a bonus agreement.

The Chinese bureau of industries, which is a party to the agreement, supported the interpretation of the Kailan administration, but the union officials returned forthwith and ordered cessation of work.

Mobs besieged the offices of the principal mines, assaulted the senior members, and demanded immediate compliance with their demands. The chief of the Kailan labor bureau was dragged through the streets, beaten, and tied up in the union headquarters. Urgent representations were made to the local Chinese police for protection.

SHANGHAI 'DEAD'; BANKS AND SHOPS DECLARE 'STRIKE'

Chinese Leaders Swear "Battle to Death."

John Powell, one of the Tribune's correspondents in China, was in Manchuria when the threatened strife in Shanghai began to loom. He was ordered to Shanghai and here is a graphic story which he found as he reached the city.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30.—[Saturday.]—I arrived in Shanghai from the Manchurian front late yesterday afternoon aboard the Japanese coastal steamer Hotenmaru.

I stopped briefly at Tsingtao, which felt the force of Japanese animosity on Jan. 12, when a Japanese mob looted and destroyed the Chinese newspaper Kuo Min Jih Pao because it had printed a headline over a story of the recent attempt to assassinate the Japanese emperor which offended the local Japanese populace.

The mob also burned the Kuomintang headquarters, a five-story building on the waterfront.

Japanese Demand Revenge.

According to the American consul, Augustus S. Chase of Waterbury, Conn., who made a thorough investigation of the incidents, the Japanese mob attacks were engineered by local Japanese reservists, who staged a massmeeting and delivered speeches demanding that the Japanese government dispatch forces to Tsingtao to avenge the alleged insult to the Japanese emperor.

The crowd was worked to a high pitch of excitement and finally set fire to the buildings and prevented Chinese firemen from extinguishing the flames.

See Carnage from Sea.

Evidence of the developments at Shanghai were apparent long before my steamer entered the mouth of the Whangpoo river. Dense clouds of smoke hung over the city, while the river was lined from Woosung, at its mouth, to Shanghai with Japanese destroyers.

Twe warships were stationed outside Woosung, while the rest of the Japanese flotilla was anchored along the shore adjacent to Japanese properties. In some cases the destroyers were anchored in clusters of three and four, their decks piled high with war supplies.

Japanese bombing planes were constantly circling overhead, dropping explosives on the Chapei section of the city. The steamer docked at the wharf, which belongs to the South Manchuria railway, alongside a Japanese cruiser from which a landing party was dispatched yesterday.

Chinese Stores Strike.

Shanghai gave evidence of great tension. The streets were deserted and banks and shops were closely boarded and shuttered. Only a few food stores were open.

Chinese merchants, acting on the advice of the Chamber of Commerce and the Bankers' association, had declared a general strike as a protest against the Japanese aggression. It is reported that the Chinese will also close all food stores and withdraw staffs of all public utilities, thus completely killing the city's activities.

The Japanese admiral, Koichi Shiosawa, in a statement tonight said the Japanese had not intended to burn the north railway station and had refrained as long as possible. However, he said the Japanese discovered that the Chinese had stationed armored cars near the station and the Chinese fired on Japanese troops, making necessary the adoption of self-protection measures.

Japanese Make New Demands.

Twelve additional demands were presented by Admiral Shiosawa, according to the Chinese, including the dissolution and suppression of activities of the Kuomintang party, withdrawal of Chinese troops for 30 miles from Shanghai and the immediate elimination of allegedly anti-Japanese statements from Chinese school textbooks.

Outstanding Cantonese leaders, including Sun Fo, former foreign minister, Eugene Chen and sixteen others, tonight broadcast a statement to the nation eulogizing the Nineteenth division for its action in repelling the Japanese troops. Sun Fo announced a personal donation of $1,000 reward to the Chinese troops who took part in yesterday's fighting. It is reported that Chiang Kai-shek, who is now back in the saddle as "dictator of the government," has ordered two more divisions from Soochow to move to Shanghai.

The Chinese demand last night that the foreign consular body prevent Japanese naval forces from using the foreign settlement as a base for operations has created a serious diplomatic problem, since the Japanese possess full legal rights in the settlement, while 1,500 Japanese sailors are actually participating with Anglo-American forces in the protection of the settlement.

Deny Japan Will Control Area.

The Chinese demand caused the circulation of wild rumors that the British and Americans had decided to withdraw their armed forces and leave the Japanese in control of the settlement. The British and American consuls refused to comment.

Foreign protective forces stationed inside the settlement, aside from the Japanese, now total 7,000 men, including 1,200 American marines, 2,800 British regulars, 1,700 French troops and 1,200 local volunteers composed of American, British, German, Italian, French and Scandinavian residents. Aside from the 1,500 Japanese sailors inside the settlement acting as part of the defense units, the Japanese now have 2,000 marines ashore. An additional 1,000 marines are expected within 24 hours.

Chinese Military Proclamation.

The Chinese military commanders last night issued a proclamation expressing a determination to fight until the Japanese are expelled. It was signed by Gen. Tsai Ting-kai, commander of the 19th army division, Chiang Kwang-nai, field commander of that division, and Tai Chih, garrison commander of the Shanghai-Woosung area. It said:

"Since the Japanese occupation of Manchuria the Chinese map has changed its color to conform to the Japanese empire. Our nation is on the verge of extinction. Not satisfied with the Manchurian campaign of aggression and terrorism, Japanese armed forces have now ruthlessly murdered our people and burned our homes and business properties in Shanghai, while Japanese reservists and rowdies planted here for obvious purposes have aided and abetted them to create a situation which would excuse aggression in the Yangtze valley.

"We, officers of the Nineteenth army division, being military men trained to defend our territory, intend to fulfill our duty. The Chinese people cannot afford to lose a foot of ground or an inch of grass. Hence, for the sake of preserving our race and saving our country, we are ready for any sacrifice and as long as we have a single soldier and a round of ammunition, we will never retreat, withdraw, or dishonor the good name of the Chinese republic. We call on heaven to witness our purpose."

Hint at Secret Agreement.

The Japanese last night bombed the Chinese merchants' wharf on the French bund, several miles from Chapei. The incident is regarded with grave concern by observers here, who say it indicates a secret Japanese-French agreement.

Soochow creek, which divides Chapei and the foreign settlement, is black with hundreds of sampans filled with fleeing Chinese families. The streets are filled with tragic figures, moving hopelessly and helplessly. It is estimated that 3,000,000 Chinese are in the lower settlement, the authorities having permitted families to take refuge there before another strafing by the Japanese bombing planes.

Communications toward Woosung are imperfect, but it is believed the Chinese forts there were captured by the Japanese following a shelling from twelve Japanese warships.

CHICAGO PEOPLE IN SHANGHAI FOR RELIGIOUS WORK

Bible Society Head from Evanston.

Most of the Chicagoans now in Shanghai are missionaries or are connected with hospitals maintained by the different denominations. The city is the center of mission activities and the established base for religious work in China.

J. C. Lacy, general secretary of the American Bible society at Shanghai, is from Evanston, having been graduated from the Garrett institute there in 1914, and later taking an advanced degree at Northwestern university. He has been in China for the last 15 years, save for occasional furloughs in this country.

Katherine Putnam There.

Deaconess Katherine Putnam, a sister of Maj. Rufus W. Putnam, former United States engineer in Chicago, is attached to St. Elizabeth's Episcopal hospital in Shanghai. Maj. Putnam lives at 181 Scottswood road, Riverside.

Miss Putnam was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1913, then entered an Episcopal training school in Philadelphia, where she remained a year. From there she went immediately to China, where she was stationed at Yangchow until the bloody revolutions in 1926 and 1927. She, with other Episcopal religious workers, was ordered to return to America then by the bishop there. In 1928 she returned to the University of Chicago, taking her master's degree in religious education and left again for China, this time Shanghai. She has since been living at St. Elizabeth's hospital on Twelve Avenue road.

Two De Paul Graduates.

Two graduates of De Paul university, Father Maurice Ahern, A. F. M., and Father Thomas Murphy, C. M., are in Shanghai. Father Ahern has been in China about four years and Father Murphy went to Manchuria last fall, coming to Shanghai after the recent fighting there.

Miss Annabel Lewis of Des Moines, daughter of the late Episcopal Bishop I. A. Lewis of Iowa, is stationed at the headquarters of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church in the embattled city. The Rev. W. A. Main of Des Moines, general manager of the Methodist Foreign Missions, has been in Shanghai for twenty years.

Records of Army Reserve Being Brought Up to Date

Records of the organized reserve office at the Sixth Corps area headquarters, 1819 West Pershing road, relative to the commissioned and noncommissioned reserve, personnel are being brought up to date, it was learned yesterday. Blanks are being mailed to all members of the reserve for entry of their home and business addresses, emergency addresses and place and type of employment.

U. S. BUSINESS MEN WORRIED ABOUT THEIR SHANGHAI EMPLOYES

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Apprehension for the safety of their American employés in the international settlement of Shanghai was expressed by several New York concerns today. Some had received no cables from Shanghai for several days. There are about 3,500 Americans in the international settlement, in addition to 1,225 marines and their wives.

The Chase bank's American staff numbers about fifteen, not including wives and families of the employés. The National City branch has about ten American employés. The American Express company had received no messages of conditions in Shanghai except routine business cables.

"It is too soon to gauge what effect present events will have on American business in China," said H. A. Smith, official of the express company. "Apparently all our men are serving in the volunteer corps and have left some boy in the office to run things."

The Dollar line, which has about 40 American employés in Shanghai, has heard nothing for several days. More than 1,000 passengers on three Dollar liners either have just left Shanghai or are due there within several days. Officials of the line expressed no concern for their safety. Most of the passengers are Americans.

The Standard Oil company's Shanghai branch has 30 American employés, many of whom have their families with them.

Steamship Line to Orient Buys War Risk Insurance

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The American-Hawaiian Steamship company announced here today it had taken out war risk insurance on two of its vessels, the Golden River and the Golden Horn, plying between San Francisco and the orient. Company officials said they were not particularly alarmed, but took the step as a precaution against loss from damage which might be caused by stray bombs, shells, or bullets.

AMERICAN SHAM WAR IN HAWAII WILL OPEN TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Jan. 29.—The joint army and navy maneuvers on the island of Oahu and in adjacent waters will begin tomorrow and will continue until Feb. 15 unless terminated sooner by the official umpire of the sham war. All army and navy units now stationed here, except naval air forces, are assumed to be units of the black force which has captured the island.

The fleet, transports with troops from the mainland, and the naval air forces are assumed to be the blue expedition sent to recapture the island. The entire Hawaiian division will participate in the defense, covering all probable landing places and preparing positions in the interior to dispute the blue's passage if the latter succeed in landing.

The general movement of troops began today. Advance parties planned their positions and reconnoitered and camp sites were selected. The aerial problems are considered the most interesting, since the attackers will have a numerical superiority in the air.

SHANGHAI FIRST CHINESE CITY TO DROP WHITE BAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The story of how the international settlements developed at Shanghai is told by the National Geographic society in a statement issued today following the Japanese attacks on the Chinese city.

"Shanghai was one of the first Chinese cities to be opened to western trade, one of the five 'treaty ports' established in 1842," the society states. "British merchants who moved in during the next few years obtained a concession to manage municipal affairs in their settlement.

Join in Concession.

"French and American residents joined in the arrangement, but later the French set up a municipality of their own which is maintained separately today. Residents of other nationalities have thrown in their lot with the British and Americans and today about twenty nations, including the Japanese, have trade and extraterritorial rights in Shanghai.

"The entire urban group—Chinese, international, and French—that bears the name 'Shanghai' has an estimated population of 1,540,000.

"Shanghai is near the mouth of the Yangtze river, China's great natural water highway, and close to the grand canal. Around it for many miles stretches the province of Kiangsu, the most densely populated political unit in the world. This strategic situation has made the city a great commercial emporium and it has become as well one of the greatest Chinese industrial centers.

"Approaching the city from Woosung, its port on the Yangtze river, the villages, graveyards, and anchored ships of all kinds become more numerous as one nears the wharves. The hum and roar of factories and cotton mills belie the real atmosphere of this metropolis of central China. It is not until the heavy, half sickening smell of bean oil, incense, opium smoke and of human beings penetrates the nostrils that the true Asiatic flavor of the city is revealed.

Settlement Is Modern.

"The foreign settlements are modern, with plenty of space, light and air, and are as sanitary and orderly as western cities. Most of the important business and industrial houses are concentrated in the international settlement. Nanking road has most of the shops and retail stores; Bubbling Well road is the fashionable place to live; Kiukiang road is 'the Wall street of China,' and the Bund is the favorite promenade."

Girl, 4, Dies of Burns; Dress Ignited by Match

Joyce Ryan, 4 years old, and a little girl companion played with matches on Jan. 20 in the Ryan home at 3631 Ellis avenue. Joyce's dress was ignited. Last night she died at home of her burns. The child was the daughter of Edwin G. Ryan, president of the Multicolor Sale company, 437 South Dearborn street.

CHINESE LAUNCH SHANGHAI DRIVE; PUSH JAPS BACK

Foreign Quarter Shelled; U. S. Mission Wrecked.

leaguered Japanese moved out from headquarters, led by armored cars and supported by field guns. Japanese artillery replied to the fire from the Chinese concentration.

The intensity of the fighting was increased steadily. A small house adjoining the Japanese barracks was struck by a Chinese shell and burst into flames.

Casualties were mounting rapidly and ambulances raced back and forth from the scene of fighting. Throughout the Hongkew section snipers were firing constantly. Casualties among Chinese civilians were believed extremely heavy.

Japanese Forced to Retreat.

The marines were hurled back under blasts of artillery and machine gun fire and an official announcement at Japanese headquarters said they were forced to retreat to the North Szechuen road after stiff fighting.

The center of the engagement was on the northern edge of the international settlement. Japanese and other foreigners were evacuating the endangered areas.

Shortly before 10 a. m. the Chinese moved up their artillery, including mountain guns and trench mortars, and began attacking the headquarters of the Japanese marines in the international settlement.

Planes Again Held Ready.

However, Admiral Shiosawa, commanding the Japanese fleet, announced that, in accordance with a promise given when he conferred with the United States and British consuls general last night, no Japanese airplanes would fly over the city today.

At 11:10 a. m. no airplanes had appeared, despite announcement at Japanese marine headquarters that planes would aid in the attack.

Civilians in Panic.

The explosives struck on the Morrison road and the Range road, in the northern part of the settlement, and along the boundary guarded by the British troops and volunteers.

Chinese civilians stampeded in wild panic along the North Szechuan road, which runs from the settlement northward through the native district. The civilians apparently feared retaliation for the Chinese attack on the settlement by foreign troops guarding the area.

Six shells from Chinese Stokes trench mortars fell in the international settlement before 9 a. m., half an hour after the Chinese offensive began. One of them was a clean hit on the new Japanese Buddhist temple on the Chapoo road.

Another shell damaged the offices of the Shanghai Nichi Nichi, a newspaper, on Chapoo road. Still another struck the Shanghai Telephone company building on Haining road.

Concurrently with the renewal of hard fighting at Shanghai, the government at Nanking again sent an appeal to the powers signatory to the Kellogg pact an the nine power treaty asking thim to take effective action.

CITY IN FLAMES

(Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30 [Saturday].—(AP)—Six huge fires, virtually merged into one vast conflagration, crept slowly toward the international settlement this morning from the Chapei native section, where the rattle of machine gun and rifle fire foretold another day of battle.

The day brought a threat to the international settlement as well as to the Chapei district, where unknown numbers of Chinese have been killed during the sanguinary fighting of the last few days.

The Chinese military command warned the settlement authorities that unless they used their influence to halt the rising tide of the invaders, Chinese guns would be trained on the international area, where United States marines, with the troops of other nations, have been walking guard over foreign interests worth millions of dollars.

$5,000,000 Fire Damage.

All Shanghai was brilliantly lighted early this morning by the flames of Chapei, which leaped 75 to 100 feet in the air. The roar of the conflagration could be heard for a great distance. It was estimated that already damage amounting to $5,000,000 had been caused.

Beyond the lines of the international settlement thousands of terrified Chinese attempted to make their way toward the magic foreign area where they might find safety.

Here was a major danger, comparable to the threat of action by the armed forces of China, who, it was feared, might decide to enter the settlement in the belief that by sheer numbers they might overwhelm the comparative handful of men defending the area's long and tortuous borders.

Armistice Attempt Fails.

The second day and night of Japanese occupation brought a series of dramatic developments. An attempt by civilian authorities to effect an armistice failed. Japanese marines, aided by air bombers, continued their advance in Chapei in the face of stubborn resistance by Chinese soldiers.

An American mission in the international settlement was invaded by the Japanese. The Shanghai wireless station was bombed out of commission. A shell fell in the settlement, but no one was hurt.

Bombs, machine guns and rifles spread death and destruction through the native districts. Illumination and communication facilities were blotted out.

Mission Is Bombed.

The quarters of the Southern Methodist mission were enterd by Japanese soldiers early this morning and the furniture was demolished. The Japanese excused themselves by saying they were searching for guns and anti-Japanese literature, but mission officials said they would file a claim for damages through the American consulate.

The mission also was bombed by Japanese planes. A bomb fell on the roof of one of the mission buildings. There were no casualties.

Chapei was a regular theater of war as the Japanese strove to consolidate positions already captured and extend their control over the entire area. At no point did the Chinese offer mass resistance, but they impeded the progress of the invaders by sniping at them from every conceivable vantage point.

Civilian Population in Terror.

The hours brought terror to the civilian population as the flames, started by Japanese bombs, licked at the ancient, ramshackle structures and filled the tortuous streets and alleys with smoke and firebrands. The people became the targets of the bullets of both sides in the confusion of battle.

A dozen Japanese airplanes wheeled and circled above the beleaguered area, dropping carriers of death that sent up enormous eruptions. Japanese marines stole through the streets in groups, picking off snipers with machine guns. The Chinese called on their knowledge of the city to harass the enemy at every step with small arms fire.

A spectacular event of the day was the direct hit of a Japanese airplane bomb upon the North Railway station. The roof fell in, the walls collapsed outward, and the entire ruins were flaming within a minute. It is estimated that more than 150 Chinese were killed by this hit alone.

Foreigners Brave Death.

More than a square mile of buildings have already been destroyed by fire, including the Commercial Press, an enormous newspaper plant.

Many foreigners ventured into the fighting zone to rescue Chinese wounded civilians. Often they encountered Japanese marine stretcher bearers, holding up stretchers with one hand and a cocked revolver in the other as a precaution against snipers.

The railroad line was severed and telegraph and telephone lines crashed to the ground, lights were shot out and darkness presented a new problem. A bomb dropping within the settlement ignited another blaze, but it was quickly squelched.

Chinese refugees streaming into the settlement reported that the casualties among the 200,000 people were enormous and that the dead and dying would reach into the thousands.

One group of defenders pushed into the international settlement and fired on Japanese defense troops, but were driven off. Another band attacked a Japanese club close to the boundary and also was thrown back. Reports that additional troops were on the way from Nanking spurred the Chinese to frenzied activity.

Published reports of an armistice grew out of the efforts of Japanese consular officials and Chinese civil authorities to bring an end to the hostilities. Their work was nullified by military chiefs on both sides, who took the position that a truce could not settle the controversy.

U. S. Envoy Silent on Action.

American Consul-General Edwin S. Cunningham kept a close watch on the strife throughout the day and night but would not commit himself as to the possible effects on American lives and interests. The U. S. S. Borie arrived from Manila, bringing the number of American fighting vessels in Shanghai waters to ten. More are on the way from Manila.

When the control lines of the principal wireless station were shattered by the punitive measures of the Japanese, American engineers hooked up a temporary circuit by way of Manila and Java to San Francisco and trans-Pacific communication was restored.

In spite of the heavy loss in life and property and the danger of grave international complications, the Japanese naval command showed no more disposition than the Chinese to arbitrate the issue, but were intent on pushing matters to a conclusion.

After more than 36 hours had passed since 2,000 Japanese marines landed from a battle fleet in the Whang Poo river, the Japanese naval command clung tenaciously to their contention that the Chinese civil authorities must disband all anti-Japanese societies, terminate the boycott against Japanese goods and pay reparations for Japanese produce destroyed.

Fat Men!

Here's a Red Hot Tip

Safe Way to Get Rid of Surplus Fat and at the Same Time Gain in Vigor, Energy and Mental Activity—Feel Younger.

"Yes, Gentlemen," writes W. R. Daniels of Richmond Hill—"I have finished my second bottle of Kruschen Salts and have obtained the following results:

"I have removed 3 inches from the belt line—Get up in the morning feeling 100 per cent—I am 25 per cent more active—My mind is clearer—My wind has improved 25 per cent—All skin eruptions have disappeared—My face and lips have color—When I go to bed I am motionless—sleep like a brick. Am 46 years old and feel 20 years younger."

Millions of men the world over are taking the little daily dose of Kruschen because they know that it keeps them feeling fit and active—life really becomes a glorious adventure—well worth living.

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts which costs but a trifle and will last 4 weeks. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—cut down on sweets for a while—persist in this method every morning and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again—and know that the six mineral salts of Kruschen have presented you with glorious health.

To take off fat harmlessly and SAFELY, take Kruschen every morning—don't worry—it's the SAFE way to reduce.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why, money back.

U. J. HERRMANN CHOSEN HEAD OF MEDINAH SHRINE

U. J. (Sport) Herrmann was elected potentate of Medinah temple, local Shriners' organization, at the annual election of officers last night. The election was held in the mosque of the temple, Cass and Ohio streets.

Other officers elected were: Hyde W. Perce, chief rabban; Benjamin L. Metzger, assistant rabban; Earl L. Schneider, high priest and prophet; William H. Bied, oriental guide; Arthur H. Vincent, treasurer, and Samuel H. Smith, recorder. They were installed by Frank C. Roundy, past imperial potentate. Harry J. Gardiner was appointed captain of the guard.

The temple elected Herrman, Perce, Metzger, and Will H. Wade, past potentate, as representatives to the imperial council, and Albert Hancock, past potentate, and Ralph H. Wheeler, retiring potentate, as members of the finance committee. It also voted $10,000 for relief work in Chicago. The annual report showed that the temple's membership was in excess of 21,000, maintaining its position as the largest in North America.

16 AMERICANS IN M. E. MISSION WRECKED BY JAPS

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Sixteen Americans are included in the personnel of the American Southern Methodist mission at Shanghai, which today was invaded by Japanese soldiers. Bishop John M. Moore of Dallas said the mission was headed by Bishop Paul D. Kern, who served as dean of the Southern Methodist university theological school 14 years before being transferred to the orient. He was made a bishop in 1928 and placed in charge of Methodist mission work in Japan, China, and Korea. His wife and two daughters live with him at the mission.

The Rev. Sid R. Anderson and the Rev. Dr. Y. C. Hawk and their wives are others on duty at the mission. In addition eight unmarried teachers conduct classes in the mission school. They are the Misses Marguerite Clark, Louise Robinson, Jean Craig, Pearl McCain, Nettie Peacock, Muriel Smith, Julia Wasson, and Lucy Webb.

Policeman Shot in Holdup of Alderman Recovering

Charles Greer, 47 years old, colored, 3637 South State street, a state highway policeman, who was shot in the arm early yesterday morning in an exchange of shots with five Negro bandits who invaded the home of Ald. Louis B. Anderson of the 2d ward at 3800 Calumet avenue, is reported to be recovering in the Provident hospital. Greer, who was a guest of the alderman, had been disarmed by the bandits, but was handed a revolver by Ald. Anderson as the robbers departed. The bandits escaped with $200 and a wrist watch taken from Mr. and Mrs. Ira Kelley, son-in-law and daughter of Ald. Anderson. During the robbery Mrs. Kelley was struck in the face by one of the men.

TOKIO THREATENS TO QUIT LEAGUE IN WAR OVER WAR

China Invokes 'Dynamite' Articles in Crisis.

BY JAY ALLEN.

GENEVA, Jan. 29.—China today as a member in good standing of the league of nations dared to invoke the stiffer house rules of the club against the Japanese brothers for their invasion of Shanghai and the Japanese are very angry about it.

DR. W. W. YEN.

The Japanese were so angry that when the council felt it could do nothing but register and act upon the complaint of Dr. W. W. Yen, for China, under article XV. [which gives the council the right to act in circumstances such as these without the votes of the interested parties], their always bland delegate, Naotake Sato, froze beneath his smiling mask and said:

"The league is contracting a very heavy responsibility. This affair could compromise peace—even international peace."

Uttered Obliquely at French.

These words were uttered obliquely at the hesitant French and fell with a clammy hush on the society, which is now living perhaps the most critical moments of its existence. Through the polite façade of international discourse the menace stared.

In chaste new halls which are filling for the disarmament conference the Japanese legal councilor in crisp but clear English blurted out:

"The results of this action by the league may be very grave. Japan may withdraw. More will be said tomorrow about this procedure."

The Chinese member had already, by invoking the unpleasant article whereby the council must try to effect a settlement of the dispute or admit the league's bankruptcy, told the council to "put up, or shut up."

But, regardless of the menaces facing the league, the council went ahead tonight and took the first steps for handling the prescribed Article XV, in "a situation which is likely to lead to a rupture" by requesting the British, French, Gercan, Italian, Spanish, and Norwegian governments to rush their representatives in China to Shanghai and report immediately the events of the past, present, and future. They also decided to ask the United States to participate to the extent of its obligations under the nine power treaty.

The council took its first lunge forward since its September resolution after Joseph Paul-Boncour of France, president of the council, had flatly declared that Japan's effort to ward off China's appeal to the league's inner conscience in Article XV wouldn't do, as the council had no alternative other than to accept the invocation of the almost virgin article.

Also Invokes Article X.

China also invoked Article X when Dr. Yen said:

"A specific and solemn obligation has been imposed and accepted by all to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and political independence of every member of the league."

Abandoning China's previous tactics of asking the council how to handle the problem to the best advantage Dr. Yen said:

"As to the means to be employed 'by which this obligation shall be fulfilled' the choice is plainly for the council to make."

He thereby put it to them squarely.

"Japan's disregard of her engagements under the covenant are flagrant," Dr. Yen continued. "The use of an armed force without submitting the entire matter to arbitration or judicious settlement and without awaiting the outcome of an inquiry by the council is a direct violation of not only the spirit but the letter of the covenant."

Invokes "Dynamite Clauses."

Thus China invoked the first two of the supposedly dynamite clauses "where her rights and remedies as member of the league are more specifically defined."

Dr. Yen in his impeccable Virginian accent told the horseshoe table about the war in Shanghai. He claimed that although the reply of the Chinese was received by the Japanese consul general "with satisfaction at 1 p. m. Jan. 28, at 11:20 p. m. the Japanese naval commander sent an ultimatum demanding the immediate withdrawal of the Chinese troops."

While the Chinese authorities were protesting, Dr. Yen said, the Japanese commenced firing machine guns at 12:20 a. m.

"All responsibility for such provocative action and results arising therefrom must therefore be borne by Japan," he continued. "The fighting still continues."

Ex-Wife Settles Alimony Row with Radio Announcer

Mrs. Rose Friedlander Miller, 846 Montrose avenue, yesterday announced that she had reached a settlement with her former husband, Philip L. Friedlander, a radio announcer with station WCFL, and Circuit Judge Denis J. Normoyle dismissed a petition for a rule to show cause why the latter should not be held in contempt of court. The settlement was not revealed. Recently Judge Normoyle had warned Friedlander that he must pay up $2,400 back alimony or go to jail when it was disclosed that he had been called before eleven different judges over a ten years' period since Mrs. Miller, who has remarried, was granted a decree on grounds of cruelty.

Japan Ranks Second in Total.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The United States had a larger share than any other country in the total 1930 trade at the port of Shanghai, according to figures made available today at the department of commerce. Its share in the total was $120,253,554, or 26 per cent.

Japan ranked second with 17 per cent, or $78,270,651; Great Britain, third, with $52,773,411, or 11 per cent; British India, fourth, with $50,758,302, or 11 per cent, and Germany fifth, with $24,265,519, or 5 per cent. The five countries enjoyed 70 per cent of the total trade of Shanghai in 1930. France dropped from fourth position in 1929 to sixth in 1930 and its place was taken by British India, due chiefly to heavy exports of cotton in that year.

Has 2,000 Firms.

Serving the needs of the 3,000,000 population of the first port of China are nearly 2,000 business firms, of which 897 are Japanese, 350 British, 241 American, 123 French, 92 German, and approximately 210 firms of all other nationalities, exclusive of Chinese.

The total gross value of the trade of Shanghai, including all imports, original exports, transit traffic and native customs trade, but excluding treasurer, was $814,031,520 in 1930, compared with $1,066,350,538 in 1929, and $1,161,231,740 in 1928.

Leads Imports and Exports.

In the import trade of Shanghai during 1930, the United States ranked first with $78,620,837 or 25 per cent of the total imports; Japan second, with $59,427,432, or 18 per cent; British India third with $42,733,521, or 14 per cent; Great Britain fourth with $38,539,161, or 12 per cent. Germany was fifth with $20,343,126, or 6 per cent. These countries enjoyed 75 per cent of the total import trade of the port in 1930.

In its export trade the United States also ranked first in 1930 with $41,625,717, or 28 per cent of the total. Japan was second with $18,843,219, or 13 per cent. France was third with $16,420,481, or 11 per cent.

RUSSIA BACKS DOWN AS STAND ANGERS JAPAN

Permits Use of Railway if China Agrees.

MOSCOW, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Whether Russia will allow Japanese troops to be transported to Harbin over the Chinese Eastern railway, which is jointly owned by China and Russia, was put up to China today. This decision was communicated to Japanese Ambassador Koki Hirota by Assistant Commissar for Foreign Affairs Karakhan.

The ambassador called on the commissar to explain that the Japanese command had found it necessary to avail itself of the Chinese Eastern for a troop movement in connection with "a rebellion of Chinese troops in the region of Harbin." The ambassador declared soldiers were needed to protect Japanese citizens and their property in an area menaced by two conflicting factions of Chinese forces.

Hirota said his government had no intention of violating the Chinese Eastern and added that Tokio was ready to pay an indemnity for use of the line. He had called, he explained, to "avoid any misunderstanding by the soviet government."

Refers Tokio to China.

Karakhan replied that the fact that the Japanese authorities had appealed to the Russian president of the board of the Chinese Eastern for permission to carry troops 12 hours after soldiers had been entrained at Kuanschentzu "might lead to a misunderstanding."

He remarked that acceptance of that action as proper depended not only on the soviet government but also on the Chinese authorities who jointly operate the road, and added that it cannot be forgotten that the Chinese Eastern passes across Chinese territory.

"If the Chinese authorities find it possible to transport Japanese troops toward the Harbin region, the soviet government, on its side, has no reasons to create obstacles under absolute conditions that the interests of the Chinese Eastern railway will not be violated," the foreign commissar said.

Japan Resents Railway Ban.

TOKIO, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Grave danger of conflict between Japan and Soviet Russia over the Chinese Eastern railway loomed tonight.

A government statement again assured foreign powers that Japan would not encroach on their interests in the International Settlement of Shanghai and was only taking protective action "similar to effective measures taken in these localities by Great Britain and other powers in the past."

The Japanese government will hold officials of the Chinese Eastern railway, jointly owned by Russia and China, responsible for holding up the movement of reinforcements toward Harbin, Manchuria, where two Chinese armies have been battling, official sources revealed.

Threaten to Use Force.

This ultimatum followed upon information from Consul General Obashi at Harbin saying the Russian manager of the railway, acting on instructions from Moscow, had forbidden the sending of Japanese troops to Harbin over the line from the northern terminus of the South Manchurian railway at Changchun.

In this connection a Regno News agency dispatch from Changchun reported that the Japanese themselves would begin operations on the Changchun-Harbin branch tomorrow to combat the passive resistance of Chinese and Russian trainmen. Four hundred employés of the South Manchurian railway will handle the rolling stock.

Japanese Protest Recalled.

The manager of the railway, Kunetzoff, was quoted as maintaining that the board of directors had refused to transport Chinese troops on the line during the Nonni river engagement and that Japan herself had demanded nuetrality in the operation of the road.

A war office spokesman countered that by virtue of the Sino-Russian agreement of 1924 the railroad was purely a commercial concern and the refusal to move Japanese soldiers virtually amounted to lending assistance to the irregular Chinese army which is reported to have looted Harbin for several days and to have influenced numerous casualties on the Japanese and Corean populace.

The dispute grew out of orders dispatched to Gen. Jiro Tamon, hero of the capture of Chinchow, to proceed to Harbin from Mukden with a division of troops. If necessary, it was said authoritatively, 10,000 men would be sent into that area to restore order and to avenge Japanese mortalities.

Twenty Japanese and Corean civilians have been killed, Consul General Obashi reported, a dozen or more women and children have been kidnaped and numerous houses have been burned since a clash broke out between troops belonging to Gov. Hsi Hsia of Kirin province and those fighting for Ting Chao, head of the Chinese railway guards.

Asks Russia to Send Troops.

HARBIN, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The possibility that Japan and Russia might come to grips over the operation of the Chinese Eastern railway was envisaged here tonight in view of the conflict between rival Chinese armies.

Ting Chao, commander of the railway guards, was reported by the Rengo correspondent to have appealed to the manager of the railway, jointly owned and operated by China and Russia, to urge the soviet government to send troops into this area.

Commander Ting telegraphed the Chinese government at Nanking and Marshall Chang Hsueh-liang at Peiping saying he intended to stem the advance of the Japanese.

"As commander of the Chinese Eastern railway guards," he said, "I will coöperate with the Russians in attempting to check the Japanese marching on Harbin."

Commander Ting was said to have arrested Gov. Chang Chin-hui of the Harbin district and proclaimed himself the successor. He and his adherents were understood to have occupied the provincial government headquarters.

OLD AND NEW STYLES IN HAIR DRESSES SHOWN

Starts Monday

The history of styles in women's hairdress will be told at a meeting of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association at the Sherman hotel Monday night. From the long flowing tresses of an Egyptian princess, and the Psyche knot worn by Helen of Troy, to the marcel wave invented in 1875 by a Frenchman and tried out on his mother, Mme. Marcel, hairdress of the ages will be illustrated by models in period costume. The latest hairdress to be shown in the revue will be that of the Gibson girl of 1900, the pompadour topped by an aigrette.

FLEEING AUTO SOMERSAULTS IN CHASE; 1 CAUGHT

Woman Hurt in Wild Pursuit.

Sergt. William Shea and his detective squad yesterday pursued a car containing three men a mile in a wild chase over west side streets and captured one of the trio when the fugitive car turned a somersault at Van Buren street and Sacramento boulevard. During the chase the fleeing car sideswiped several automobiles, injuring a woman passenger in one.

The squad pursued the car when it turned from Francisco avenue into Madison street at 50 miles an hour. The car passed a stoplight at Sacramento boulevard and turned south, going a mile a minute. The woman who was injured, Mrs. Bertha Wahl, 2234 South Kirkland avenue, was in an automobile which was sideswiped at Adams street.

Car Turns Somersault.

At Van Buren street the fugitive car sideswiped another car, the third or fourth it struck in its flight, pitched up on its nose, over on its top, and completed the somersault to land on its wheels again. The wheels were smashed. The three occupants fled, and the squad captured one of them, James Sloan, 39 years old, 3652 West Huron street, just after he had thrown a revolver away.

He asserted that he did not know the other men in the car, and said they had offered him a lift to the loop when their car stopped for a moment at Lake street and Francisco avenue. The car was stolen Jan. 10 from Antone Bukowiecki, 5605 South Ashland avenue, police records showed.

Owner Robbed Again.

Bukowiecki received the news that his car had been recovered just fifteen minutes after four bandits entered his grocery at 4446 South Ashland avenue and took $565 from him. It was the second holdup of his store in recent months, he said.

Agrees to Quit Penthouse for Small Home with Mate

Mrs. Ruth Hennessey Holden promised Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Court of Domestic Relations yesterday that she would leave her parents' penthouse apartment and seek a small apartment where she would live with her husband, Asa D. Holden, 224 East 71st street, a drug store clerk. The judge then continued indefinitely a charge of nonsupport she had filed against the husband. The Holdens said they would live together on his modest salary. Mrs. Holden is the daughter of Thomas Hennessey, owner of the Hotel Lincoln, 1816 North Clark street.

BRIDE CHARGES KIDNAPING AND ASKS ANNULMENT

Mrs. Dorothy M. Batten, 26 years old, 326 North Grove avenue, Oak Park, yesterday charged that she was forced to marry Seth Batten, 1609 North Mobile avenue, on Jan. 11. She charged that Batten kidnaped her and threatened to kill her and himself by driving into a tree while his automobile was speeding at more than a mile a minute. These tactics caused her to agree to an immediate marriage, she declared in a bill for annulment filed in the Circuit court. The bill says they were married by a Berwyn justice of the peace. Then she demanded that she be taken home to procure some clothes, the bill alleged, and when she arrived home she refused to leave.

Attorneys of the law firm of Smith & Haddad, who filed the bill, said that Mrs. Batten, whose parents reside in Sioux City, Ia., was engaged to marry a young man who lives in Detroit at the time of the kidnaping. They added that Seth had agreed to the annulment.

1932 AUTO SHOW TO OPEN TODAY; 300 NEW MODELS

Leaders Hope for Sign of More Buying.

BY HAL FOUST.

The 32nd National Automobile show will open at 2 p. m. today in the Coliseum. The exhibit will be open daily thereafter, including tomorrow, from 10 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. until next Saturday night.

Three hundred 1932 automobiles comprise the show. They represent the latest products of an industry that spent $75,000,000 last year to be able to present new models improved mechanically and in appearance. This expenditure also included the inauguration of more economical manufacturing and distributing methods so that the 1932 model is either lower priced than its predecessors or has additional value with no increase in retail price.

75,000 Visitors Expected.

Yesterday executives of the automobile companies began moving into Chicago for the show which is bringing to the city 15,000 men associated with the industry. During the eight days it is estimated that 75,000 visitors from outside the metropolitan area will come to Chicago to see the 1932 motor cars assembled under one roof.

The executives are here to note any evidence of a revival in public buying. At the New York edition of the national show there was an increase in sales and attendance over 1931. Whether this was due to a partial release of delayed replacements remains to be seen. There are more new models at the show this year than last.

Trade Association Meets.

Last night the Chicago Automobile Trade association held its annual dinner at the Hotel Sherman. Paul G. Hoffman, president of Studebaker Sales corporation, was the main speaker. He told the 1,400 dealers and salesmen that their 1932 business will depend upon how intelligently and aggressively they go after it.

The Chicago association this year is sponsoring the annual salon of custom built cars. This exhibit of high priced domestic and foreign models will be open at the Drake hotel concurrent with the national show at the Coliseum.

$500,000 Balm Suit Filed Against Steel Man's Widow

Steubenville, O., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. David M. Weir, widow of the vice president of the Weirton Steel company and socially prominent, today was made defendant in a $500,000 alienation suit filed by Mrs. Loretta Millsop of Steubenville. She charged Mrs. Weir with alienating the affections of her husband, Thomas, a salesman for the Weirton Steel company. Mrs. Weir's husband died two years ago.

TRIAL OF NINE STONE OFFICERS SET FOR MAY 3

The trial of Henry F. Norcott, president of the defunct H. O. Stone & Co., real estate and investment concern, and eight of his associates on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud was set for May 3 by Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday. All the defendants were in court and pleaded not guilty.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph A. Struett pleaded for trial on an earlier date. He revealed that since the government has more than 100 witnesses, the trial will last between three and four weeks. The defense attorneys won the delay on the argument that they needed more time in which to study the books of the concern.

The men who have been indicted gained control of H. O. Stone & Co., a 95 year old institution several years ago. It failed more than a year ago with liabilities of $14,500,000.

Besides Norcott, the indicted officers include: Claude Miles, vice president; Marshall W. George, secretary; W. Scott Carrell, controller; Harold D. Bennett, vice president; Leslie A. Needham, attorney for the company; Charles P. Packer Jr., treasurer; David A. Coleman, president of the Stone Finance company, a subsidiary, and Francis E. Richardson, vice president of the subsidiary firm.

STATE OFFICIAL HAS SIDELINE AS MARKET EXPERT

His Magazine Tells Just How It's Done.

John Keane began his career as an Evanston policeman, drifted into theatrical promotion, and switched to politics. He is now general superintendent of the Illinois Free Employment bureau by appointment of Gov. Emmerson.

Aside from his activities as a public official, Keane has opened a suite in the State Bank building, 120 South La Salle street, and invites prospective speculators from the rural communities of Wisconsin, Indiana, and Illinois to write to him for free advice on how to play the stock market.

He disseminates general forecasts on the market trend in a monthly publication called "Keanesurvey," but reserves the real secrets of La Salle and Wall streets for those who submit him a list of their present holdings, if any, and who seem disposed to follow his counsel on the purchase of other stocks. Many of his recommendations, Keane admits, are listed on small exchanges or on none at all.

Says State Job Is Help.

In giving his advice of stock investments Keane asserts that his position as superintendent of the state employment bureau has given him some very valuable contacts. In a signed article on the first page of the January issue of "Keanesurvey," he makes the following announcement:

"While I am no prophet and pretend to no occult mysticism, my years of experience in the investment field, together with the wonderful assistance I receive from my staff of experts, enables me to draw logical conclusions.

"In my activities as general superintendent of the Illinois free employment bureau to which I was appointed by Gov. Emmerson, I am constantly in contact with business conditions and with men of high caliber and standing in industry and finance. I am therefore able to have before me at all times a graphic picture of industrial conditions in the great state of Illinois. Where this information violates no confidences, I shall convey it through the medium of Keanesurvey to its readers."

"Offers Profit Possibilities."

Mr. Keane advises his readers they must dispose of many of their holdings and use the proceeds for other investments, or switch their securities to shares which have "profit making possibilities."

"I want to help you to profits," he asserts, "selfishly, perhaps, because I know that in helping you I help myself. Earnestly I invite you to take stock of your holdings. Send a list of them to Keanesurvey and let us analyze them and advise you about them."

Mr. Keane devotes the second page of his publication to an announcement of his "consultant, analytical and readjustment services." He also mentions a daily market letter and a telegraphic service, maintained only for readers who will accept messages on a collect basis. Page 6 is given over to a question and answer service. An example:

Q.—I would like to have you give me the name of a stock which you are sure is going to advance and in which I can make a profit.

Here Is the Answer.

A.—If you had asked us such a question under normal conditions you probably would have aroused us to a verbal castigation. However, due to certain unusual conditions, we do know of a stock which we feel is almost certain to make around 14 points within a comparatively short time. It is a situation which the average person, even in touch with the market, would not have unearthed in a thousand years. We will send the name of this stock to you and others who will sign the coupon on the back page and mail it to us.

On page 8, just above his mailing coupon, Mr. Keane discusses a stock "with opportunity of 500 to 1,000 per cent gain within a comparatively short time."

"Such an advance seems incredible, doesn't it?" he asks. "Like a tale out of the Arabian Nights. But there's nothing incredible about it, as you would agree if you knew the stock.

"The most amazing thing about it is its low price. The price places it within reach of almost every man and woman. Send in your name now for this stock of tremendous profit making possibilities."

Reporter Asks Questions.

A reporter put a few additional questions to Keane last night in his office. A condensed account of the interrogation follows:

Q.—Name the stock which was to gain 14 points? A.—Well, now—you know I didn't write those answers. I don't suppose the man who did had any special stock in mind. A lot of stocks might have gone up 14 points.

Q.—What about this stock with profit possibilities of 500 to 1,000 per cent? A.—That hasn't come out yet. I'm still working on it. I may have something soon.

Keane was appointed general superintendent of the free employment bureau in 1929, the same year in which Keane & Co. was incorporated. Keane's state salary is $3,300 a year.

DAWES NEW TYPE DIPLOMAT, SAYS LONDON PAPER

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York News.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Tribute is paid to Charles G. Dawes and regret is expressed over his resignation as United States ambassador to Great Britain in the current issue of the Spectator.

"He represented a type of ambassador very different from the stately tradition of Lowell and Choate and John Hay and Whitelaw Reid," the Spectator says. "His was the idiom of the west, just as Walter Page's was that of the south."

The Spectator said Dawes was probably the only man capable of heading the Reconstruction Finance corporation as he has been absent for three years and his repute had not been tarnished by recent disasters. "He is uncommonly shrewd and an adept at his own kind of diplomacy," the article says.

U. S. NAVY TURNS MASSIE OVER TO HAWAIIAN POLICE

Murder Defendants Brought Into Court.

university and Harvard law, 1914, dressed in easy summer style, entered the gray and white courtroom from his chambers. The attorneys for the territory and the defense took their places and all proceeded in order and decorum.

Mrs. Fortescue was clad in a wine colored suit and a close fitting felt hat to match. She is a tall, thin woman with gray eyes, which looked upon the scene with some hostility, but with utter composure, a strong chin and nose, lips reddened and cheeks very pale.

Lieut. Massie Nervous.

Her son-in-law, Lieut. Massie, was paler and more nervous. He is slightly built, a dark haired youth. The two enlisted men stood side by side with folded hands, stolidly bearing it all. Mrs. Massie was accompanied by a brown skinned police matron in a white dress, the star of office on her breast.

After the indictment was read, Montgomery E. Winn, counsel for the defense, asked that his plea be delayed one week. In view of other motions, this was set for hearing next Monday afternoon. The motion for bail was taken up by Barry S. Ulrich, special prosecutor.

The territory, he said, wanted to be fair and impartial to these defendants as well as to the four surviving defendants in the rape case, who are now at liberty on bail. He agreed to a bond of $5,000 for Mrs. Fortescue and $2,000 each for the three men if the commander of the naval base would have them report to him daily. Judge Cristy then raised the new issue by questioning Frank Thompson, senior counsel for the defense, as to whether he had been in telephonic communication with Washington in regard to "usurping the courts of the territory."

Counsel Retorts to Judges.

Thompson looked surprised, but quickly replied that nothing congress did could be considered usurpation and that the only communication he had was with a member of congress who had asked his views.

"I can't see how this affects the bail," he said. "If congress decides this case is not to be tried here, it will surround the defendants with all methods of escape possible in this court. This court is subject to the rule of congress."

"This involves something more than mere custody of defendants in the territory," said Judge Cristy. "It involves also that this court take safeguards so that its jurisdiction be maintained at all times. It must safeguard the judicial structure of the territory so long as there is a judicial structure."

Asks About Rich Funds.

The court then wanted to know if it is true that the defendants have rich friends ready to assist them at all times.

Mr. Thompson said he had not heard of it and that the aggregate bail obtainable by them was $25,000. He added that the defendants in the rape cases had been let out on bonds aggregating $8,500.

"The Ala Moana defendants are local residents and have no means of departure from the islands," said the court.

Judge Cristy then said he would give the defandants their liberty on bonds of $2,500 each, with a $5,000 bond for Mrs. Fortescue if he had the written assurance of the navy department that it would supplement orderly government on the island. Otherwise, he said, he would place the bonds at $50,000 each. He insisted upon a written communication that the navy would support the territorial government.

Court Denies Defense Motions.

At the afternoon session and while the navy department's reply was still awaited and the prisoners were ordered made comfortable in the city jail, the court took up defense motions to dismiss the case on the ground that a speedy trial had not been granted and that the rights of the defendants had been prejudiced by newspaper articles.

These were quickly overruled. But another motion to quash the indictments because of alleged coercion on the part of the court required a more lengthy argument, chiefly on the part of Judge Cristy himself and Defense Attorney Winn.

Winn put himself in danger of contempt of court when he refused to inform the judge as to the basis of the averments in his affidavit as to what went on in the grand jury room, but this was averted later when Winn admitted he was acting solely on rumor and newspaper reports and had not talked with members of the jury.

The court put into the record a transcript of all that occurred in the sessions of the grand jury and Winn asked him to rule his own language as being coercive. There was no dispute as to the fact that the jury at one point in its deliberations attempted to bring in a "no bill." Winn argued that the court had no right to refused to accept this and that the court's remarks were coercive. The court finally denied the motion.

Gov. Julius L. Meier of Oregon and his wife passed through Chicago yesterday bound for Washington, D. C. Oregon's chief executive was accompanied by Henry Hanzen, state budget director of Oregon, and Col. Alfred E. Clark, legal adviser. Gov. Meier said that the finances of his state were in good shape because a year ago "instead of raising the taxes we lowered them and wiped out the state tax on property altogether, which gave the people money to spend." While in Washington, Gov. Meier will appeal to the United States engineering board for improvements on the Columbia river.

LA SALLE STREET TRAFFIC CONTROL SPEEDS UP AUTOS

Leslie J. Sorenson, city traffic engineer, reported yesterday that the flexible progressive type of traffic signal system that is installed in La Salle street between Kinzie street and Lincoln park has been working satisfactorily and giving increased capacity and efficiency of movement with higher average speeds.

The system embodies ten intersections and permits traffic to flow smoothly through its entire length of 1.7 miles at an overall average speed of 26 miles per hour. Starting at Kinzie street with the green light and traveling 20 miles per hour to Illinois street, 24 miles per hour to Chicago avenue, and then 27 miles per hour to Clark street, the trip takes only 3 minutes and 50 seconds.

20 Sticks of Dynamite Found in Box in Alley

Twenty sticks of dynamite in a wooden box, each stick wrapped in paper, were found yesterday on an ash pile in the alley in the rear of 1137 West Madison street. Edgar Herzog, 15 North May street, a janitor, discovered the package and notified the Des Plaines street police. It was believed the dynamite had been discarded by gangsters or that it may have been intended for use as a demonstration of some kind in connection with an unemployment protest meeting at Peoria and Monroe streets.

CROWE, LASHED BY PROSECUTOR, LEAVES TRIAL

Northup Assails Graft in Former Canal Regime.

Timothy J. Crowe, president of the sanitary district during the whoopee era, deserted his six co-defendants in the graft conspiracy trial yesterday. Crowe vanished from the courtroom during a lull in an attack upon him being made by First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup at the morning session and did not return in the afternoon.

T. J. CROWE.
[Walinger Photo.]

At the convening of court the prosecutor continued his opening argument, begun on Thursday. Crowe was seated with the other defendants and their attorneys. Time after time the prosecutor directed his remarks at Crowe, who shifted in his chair and gazed about the courtroom. Once the attack drew an outburst from Crowe. The prosecutor was listing the number of district employés from Crowe's ward—the 37th. As he concluded he walked to Crowe and leveled a finger and said: "Yes, the 37th ward is very popular this morning."

A Retort from Crowe.

"You lived there, too, Mr. Northup," Crowe blurted out.

"Yes, as Mr. Crowe says, I lived there, too," Northup said, "but I wasn't on the pay roll."

At another time the prosecutor looked directly at Crowe and shouted: "The net of evidence is drawn so tightly about Crowe that he can never wiggle out in a thousand years."

The prosecutor mentioned the name of James [Hippo] Vaughn, former pitcher for the Cubs.

"All that Jim Vaughn did to speed the sanitary waters on their way down the canal and to make them pure and wholesome was to play ball for the T. J. Crowe ball club."

Prosecutor Attacks Link.

Then Mr. Northup switched his attack to Frank J. Link, another defendant and former member of the drainage board, and Crowe left the courtroom.

"Link is buried under an avalanche of testimony from which he can never be extricated," said the prosecutor. "There is no more escape for Link than there is from death and taxes. Link reimbursed himself for his political activities by forgery."

The prosecutor detailed the testimony on a check which was made out in the name of a person who was not listed on the pay roll and which was indorsed by Link.

"The Beardstown buccaneers were sharp shooting at the public treasury. They didn't fire any blank cartridges when they robbed the treasury of $200,000. And there is a lot of truth which has not come out in this case.

"The public treasury was tapped to get hordes of election workers. Those who got and gave the money were not common plunderers of public funds—they were not representatives of any party, because no representative of any party would have stood for such thievery."

Turns to Crowe Again.

In the afternoon Northup again directed his fire at Crowe, although the latter was absent.

The judges sitting in the trial may get the case on Monday or Tuesday after arguments by defense attorneys and a closing argument by the state. Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court is presiding in the trial, with Judges James J. Kelly and John Prystalski sitting in an advisory capacity.

RAILWAY'S BLUNT 'NO' TO UNIONS DELAYS PARLEY

Reconsider Compromise After Stormy Session.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

The rail wage agreement was delayed again last night, and it appeared the latest delay was caused in part at least by a tactical error made during the morning session by the committee of railroad presidents which has been negotiating with the railway union representatives.

At a joint evening session in the Palmer house the two groups spent two and a half hours discussing the compromise proposals which had been advanced earlier in the day by the labor forces.

Then it was announced that the railroad presidents would take the union suggestions under consideration over night and that another joint meeting would be held at 10 o'clock this morning.

Unions Offer Compromise.

The unions at the morning session, making a counter proposal to the railroads' request for a one year's voluntary wage cut of 10 per cent, offered to accept the cut on condition that 35 per cent of the savings accruing to the railroads from the reduction would be applied toward giving jobs to the unemployed and in giving direct charitable relief to the needy families of jobless railroad employés.

The unions also said they would accept a straight 6½ per cent cut, in which event they would take care of their own jobless and needy. A third compromise proposal from the unions was that they would accept a 10 per cent cut for a year if the roads would agree to repay 3½ per cent to the employés or their heirs in the year following.

Also embodied in all the union compromise offers was one that the roads should agree not to press for any freight rate decrease during the year following the termination of the present agreement.

Rejected in Fifteen Minutes.

The railroad presidents, headed by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, listened to the union suggestions in the morning, left the conference room and in fifteen minutes returned to announce they would accept none of them. Therein, it was said, was the tactical error which caused a stormy session of the labor leaders in their executive session later.

The union men were irate that the proposal they had made, after many hours of consideration, would be curtly disposed of by the presidents' committee in fifteen minutes.

"We can't be treated like children," one labor chief declared. "The presidents could not possibly have given our proposals consideration in time which was only enough for them to smoke a cigar."

Willard Clears the Air.

So the union men went back into another conference last night and announced to the presidents they were still pressing their compromise offers. Mr. Willard, it was learned, cleared the air somewhat, saying that his committee had intended no offense or discourtesy. He was reported to have explained that the presidents had been given to understand, through newspaper reports, that a compromise was to be offered and that they had given the fullest consideration to the possibility of compromises being offered, arriving at conclusions that it would be impossible for the roads to agree to them.

Mr. Willard in an interview after last night's conference stated that the meeting was proceeding "pleasantly," and that he still had every hope for a satisfactory conclusion. It was reported that in the meeting he had told the union men again that his committee could not grant their request.

Roads Consider Again.

However, it was announced by David Brown Robertson, chairman of the labor executives, that the railroad men had agreed to give the proposals consideration over night, and would give their answer this morning.

In his latest address to the union representatives, Mr. Willard was reported to have argued that due to the reduced cost of living, the employés would be able to live in substantially the same manner with their wages cut 10 per cent as they had before. He declared that his own salary had been cut, and that he found his income reaching about the same extent.

Replying to the union suggestion that the railroads agree not to press for another wage cut a year from now, Mr. Willard was understood to have said that it was impossible to tell what condition the roads would be in in 1933. The January business this year was 18 to 20 per cent below the same month last year, he said, and much lower than in 1930. No one could tell just when the upward trend would come, Mr. Willard declared, and the railroads could not bind themselves in advance.

Bound for Only Year.

He is reported to have urged that if an agreement were signed now at a 10 per cent rate for the one year period better times would result from that action, but if they did not come, the union men had bound themselves only for one year. He also pointed out that if this negotiation fails, the railroads would be forced to adopt other means at once toward obtaining a premanent reduction.

Mr. Robertson, on the other hand, insisted that it was only reasonable that some of the pay cut should be devoted toward helping unemployed and poverty stricken railroad workers. He emphasized there was a pressing need for aiding humans, every bit as much as there was for aiding a financially distressed railroad system.

Mr. Robertson made it plain that there was nothing in the nature of an ultimatum from either side, and it is believed an agreement will be reached today.

DIES WITH GIRL

STANLEY GORDON CASE JR.

Stanley Case, 1049 North Euclid avenue, Oak Park, vice president of the Case-Moody Pie corporation, left for Seattle last night to arrange for the burial of his son, Stanley Gordon Case, 28 years old, who was found dead in a gas filled apartment there early yesterday.

Seattle dispatches reported that the young man, secretary-treasurer of Case & Case, a wholesale pie concern, had been found seated at the breakfast table with a young woman, Ethel Parks, who was also dead. Four gas jets on the kitchen stove were wide open. The couple had apparently entered into a suicide pact.

An unsigned and unaddressed note was found near the bodies. It read: "I can't live any longer. Please don't make a big story of this. Tell the kids and Dorothy my insurance will take care of them and pay the rent due for the apartment." "Dorothy," it appeared, is Mr. Case's wife, who is now living in Seattle with his mother. Their two sons are Stanley Jr., 5 years old, and Gordon, 3 years old.

Mr. Case Sr. said he did not know that his son and his wife had separated.

PROBES CHARGE DOCTOR KILLED 8 PORTO RICANS

(Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.)

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Jan. 29.—An investigation has been ordered by Gov. James R. Beverly into a letter, photostatic copies of which have been widely circulated by the Nationalist elements here, in which Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads, an associate of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, is alleged to have admitted that he had killed eight Porto Ricans and had infected others with cancer.

Dr. Rhoads spent six months here carrying on studies of the treatment of anemia, but returned to New York just before Christmas. The letter was found, after he had departed, by Luigi Baldoni, a young technician employed by the Rockefeller institute, who turned it over to the National group.

The letter, which was addressed to "Ferdie" and was signed "Dusty," referred to the Porto Ricans as the dirtiest, laziest, and most thievish of peoples, saying that but for its inhabitants the island might be liveable, and adding, "I've done my best to further the process of extermination by killing off eight and transplanting cancer into several others."

Doctor Calls It a Parody.

New York, Jan. 29.—Dr. Rhoads through a friend explained tonight that the letter in question, which was never mailed, was intended as a "parody." It was written after a patient in the Presbyterian hospital at San Juan, where Dr. Rhoads was working, had died, despite the best efforts of the staff to save him. Dr. Rhoads then penned his idea of what a nationalist sympathizer, obsessed with anti-American beliefs, might suppose to be the sentiments of the doctor who had treated him. The letter was not addressed to any particular person and Dr. Rhoads never expected any one to read it, it was explained.

DIVERS CONTINUE TO SCAN BOTTOM OF SEA FOR SUB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Despite the fact that all hope for saving the lives of the 60 men aboard the submarine M-2, which disappeared last Tuesday in the English channel, was abandoned by the admiralty today, minesweepers still are continuing the search for the vessel.

The search is being continued on the chance that the submarine might be salvaged, but the families of the victims received the news of the official resignation of the M-2's fate this afternoon—King George's message of condolence.

WILL OF WRIGLEY DISPOSING OF MILLIONS FILED

Estimate Value of His Illinois Property.

An estate of at least $20,215,000 is disposed of in the will of William Wrigley Jr., which was filed in Probate court yesterday. The bulk of the estate goes to his immediate family, with bequests and annuities provided for other relatives and business associates. His only son, Philip K. Wrigley, is bequeathed the Chicago Cubs baseball club.

P. K. WRIGLEY. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Attachés of the court estimated that the Wrigley fortune was one of the largest ever recorded here. The $20,215,000 figure, mentioned in the petition for probate, referred only to Illinois property and did not include the chewing gum manufacturer's homes in Phoenix, Ariz., Pasadena, Cal., and Lake Geneva, Wis., nor the Catalina island estate, for which he was reported to have once refused $19,000,000.

Form Trust Corporation.

Philip Wrigley and the First Union Trust and Savings bank are named coexecutors and trustees. The will provides that a corporation be organized to acquire and administer the properties in trust. The trust is to be dissolved upon Philip Wrigley's fiftieth birthday, Dec. 5, 1944, in the event the widow, Mrs. Ada E. Wrigley, is no longer living at that time, but must otherwise be continued until her death.

Upon dissolution of the trust its entire assets are to be divided as follows: Six-tenths to Philip Wrigley, two-tenths to a daughter, Mrs. James R. Offield of Chicago; one-tenth to Mrs. Offield's husband, and one-tenth between two grandchildren, Wrigley Offield and Ada Blanche Wrigley.

Gifts Made in Will.

Among the outright bequests are the following:

1. All household goods, personal effects, automobiles, jewelry, the Wrigley home at 1500 Lake Shore drive, a $100,000 annuity, and the Wrigley share in the National City bank building in Madison avenue, New York, to Mrs. Ada E. Wrigley.

2. $100,000 annuities to Philip K. Wrigley and Mrs. James R. Offield.

3. Bequests of $10,000 each to D. M. Benton and David P. Fleming of the Santa Catalina Island company.

4. Annuity of $6,000 to a sister, Mrs. H. E. Price, Germantown, Pa.

Annuities to Brothers.

5. Annuities of $2,000 to three brothers, Byron E. Wrigley, Germantown; Edward Wrigley, Germantown, and Charles W. Wrigley, Wilmette.

6. Annuity of $2,000 to a cousin, Mrs. Grace Wrigley Why, Pasadena; annuity of $1,500 to a cousin, Miss Alma E. Wrigley, Lake City, Fla.

7. Bequests of $500 for each year of service to the household servants, Nathan Diamond, Alma Swanson, Antonie Van Buren, Sigrid Anderson, Carl H. J. Kokamson, Ida Hall, and a secretary, Robert M. Kirkman.

The will was filed by Attorney Paul G. Harper of the firm of Cutting, Moore & Sidley. Emerson R. Lewis, a trust officer, acted for the First Union bank. James R. Stanley, vice president of the William Wrigley Jr. company, provided the estimate of $20,215,000 on the fortune.

Statement by Family.

"The general scheme of disposal of Mr. Wrigley's estate under provision of his will filed in Probate court today carries out his purpose to maintain the unity of the estate, which is employed in various active business enterprises, and the continuity of the management and the development of such enterprises for a period of time before its ultimate division among members of his family.

"There are the usual special bequests to members of his immediate family. The bequest of the Chicago National league baseball club to his son, Philip K. Wrigley, is of outstanding interest."

The will was executed last Oct. 19. In addition to the real estate and personal property disposed of in the will Mr. Wrigley had at least $1,500,000 in life insurance. Another large estate probated recently in Cook county was that of Julius Rosenwald, estimated to be above $20,000,000.

COURT UPHOLDS INDIAN'S RIGHTS GRANTED IN 1818

Chief Thunder Cloud, a full blooded Ottawa Indian, who has proof that he is a great-great-grandson of Chief Pontiac, outstanding war leader of his race in the 18th century, appeared before Municipal Judge A. O. Erickson yesterday. Thunder Cloud, who lives at 1541 North Springfield avenue and whose paleface name is Scott T. Williams, was defending a $200 civil suit brought by Joseph A. Kucharski, 1801 West North avenue, who was hurt in a collision of their two automobiles last August.

As Williams was called before the bar Attorney Robert E. Kinnare, judge advocate of the American Legion, stepped forward and addressed the court. "Your honor," he said, "this man is not an American citizen even though he served through the world war and emerged a sergeant. He is of the Ottawa nation, one of the five great eastern Indian tribes, and as such he is subject to the treaties which were negotiated with his nation back in 1818. One of the provisions of the treaties is that no Ottawa is subject to the jurisdiction of other than federal courts. This court then is not one of competent jurisdiction and I move that the case be dismissed."

"Attorney Kinnare is right," said the judge as he turned to Kucharski. "I am familiar with this question because my uncle, Chief Justice George B. Nelson of the Wisconsin Supreme court returned a 40 page decision recently on this very point. You will have to file your suit in the United States District court. Case dismissed."

ASSASSIN KILLS SIX OF FAMILY; SETS HOUSE AFIRE

ELMA, Man., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Under cover of darkness an assassin moved like a phantom through the farm home of Martin Sitar early today, dealing death to the farmer, his wife and four of their children. Only one member of the family, four year old Paul, remained alive tonight.

Supposedly in an attempt to destroy the bodies of his victims, the slayer set fire to the house and the smoke attracted neighbors.

JURY WINDS UP LOESCH INQUIRY WITHOUT ACTION

Finds Insufficient Basis for Indictments.

The January grand jury, which had been engaged in a controversy for the last week with Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court over the method of conducting an investigation of charges against the judiciary made by Attorney Frank J. Loesch, heard witnesses on the subject yesterday and then adjourned without taking any action. A new grand jury will be impaneled on Monday morning.

Mr. Loesch, who is president of the Chicago Crime commission; Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the commission; Clarence P. Denning, executive secretary of the Chicago Bar association, and E. J. Davis, a reformer, all went before the grand jury and told of the rumors they had heard about two Municipal court judges, one of whom was referred to by Mr. Loesch as a "cash register" judge. The charges were made by Mr. Loesch in his report to the crime commission recently. The jury, it was reliably reported, decided that the rumors were not sufficient basis for action and voted no indictments.

Jury Given Full Power.

Henry S. Henschen, president of the Chicago Bank of Commerce, who was foreman of the grand jury, and his associates, were given full power by Judge Fisher yesterday to conduct the inquiry in their own way. Judge Fisher told the jury foreman at a conference yesterday morning that the jury might call any witnesses it desired. At that time it was announced that evidence was expected on which indictments could be voted.

While the jury, which was placed under technical arrest by Judge Fisher on Wednesday when it defied a judicial order to come into court, was getting permission to go ahead with the inquiry, Charles P. Megan, president of the Chicago Bar association, was issuing a statement reproving the judge for interfering with the grand jury.

Reproof for Judge Fisher.

"We deprecate Judge Fisher's manner of treating the grand jury and its foreman on Wednesday—placing the jurors under arrest—while they were in the grand jury room in session, and putting them in apprehension of a commitment for contempt without opportunity to secure legal advice," said the statement, which was issued in behalf of the board of managers of the bar association.

"When public spirited and upright men respond to the call for jury service and approach their work fearlessly and with an obvious intention of doing it thoroughly, we must express our regret that they should be harshly treated by the court, when, in our opinion, foreman and jury were entirely within their rights and were doing their duty."

The controversy between the judge and jury seemed on the verge of flaring up anew when the jurors went into session to hear Mr. Loesch. Special Assistant State's Attorney Thomas D. Marshall, who had been appointed by Judge Fisher to conduct the investigation of Mr. Loesch's charges, failed to appear at the appointed hour. He issued a statement saying he had resigned because the jury had virtually granted Mr. Loesch immunity by allowing him to appear and testify without an immunity waiver. He said that he could not be a party to any proceeding where, in his opinion, the "law was being violated."

Witnesses Are Called.

Then Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Spiro, regular adviser to grand juries, was pressed into service and Mr. Loesch and the other witnesses were called before the jury. It was said that Mr. Loesch was not asked to prove his charges that some judges were "mountebanks."

After the jury session Foreman Henschen and his colleagues went before the judge to report "no indictments." The foreman told the judge that the jurors "now appreciate the ability and capacity of the presiding judge and we leave here with the kindliest of feelings." The judge returned the compliments and said he was glad that the atmosphere was cleared up.

Dies at Work in Ice Plant; Probe Escape of Gases

Tilford Atkinson, colored, 50 years old, died yesterday in the plant of the Eagle Ice company at 4946 Federal street, where he was employed. It was said he had been overcome by the escape of gases used in making ice, and a chemical examination will be made of the lungs to determine if this is true.

PRINCIPAL HITS BUDGET CUTS AS BLOW AT SCHOOLS

Bases Views on Hope of Increased Revenue.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The most severe criticism of the school board's proposed $94,640,296 budget at the public hearing yesterday afternoon came from Irvin Wilson of the Principals' club.

None of the trustees would predict that the board can obtain $94,640,296 this year in taxes or by borrowing, or by both methods combined. Four trustees were asked for their estimates of the cash the board will be able to obtain this year, and the highest is 50 per cent of the budget. To get the budget to its present level, the appropriations have been cut $6,778,845 from those of last year. To that the educators object.

Schools Crippled, Claim.

Mr. Wilson, in voicing the objections yesterday, said: "By the cuts already made the schools have been crippled, which the board will realize in 30 days. It is a mistake to pass some of the drastic cuts proposed. The effect of the crippling will be felt for 25 years.

"The board has undertaken an expensive [$100,000] survey of the schools, and with the crippling already done, that survey will be made worthless."

Mr. Wilson bases his opinion that the cuts are a mistake, and his opinion is shared by Superintendent Bogan and many teachers, on the belief that the Judge Jarecki decision will place billions of personal property on the tax rolls. On the point, Mr. Wilson said:

"Two courts have decided there is 15 billions of personal property escaping taxation in Cook county. There is no question that personal property must be placed on the books to get a legal assessment. It is unfair to assume that the schools will have less income, unless you intend to throw those two court decisions in the waste paper basket.

Prefers Closing of Schools.

"If the present policy of cutting is followed nothing can prevent trouble in 1934, when the statutory limitation on the budget becomes effective.

"It would be much better to permit the schools to operate unhampered and uncrippled as long as they can and then close them and close them tight.

"The budget raises the question of whether Chicago can maintain first class schools. It will have second rate schools if it does not pay for first class. The suburbs pay 50 per cent more for education than does Chicago."

Becoming more specific, Mr. Wilson continued: "The educational estimates for this year were $850,000 more than for 1931, but that budget has been trimmed more than $8,000,000.

Questions Building Budget.

"The estimates for the building fund for 1932 were $3,500,000 more than for last year, and the decrease in that budget is only $250,000 as compared with last year. That raises the question of whether the building budget was a dummy budget. Something set up for target practice, while the real sniping was at the educational budget."

The trustees will meet this morning to provide that the cuts already agreed upon shall become operative Feb. 1 and continue until the budget is passed.

The trustees conferred at length yesterday afternoon on their reply to the D. F. Kelly committee, which criticized the proposed appropriations for new buildings. The board members are uncertain as to what the reply will be except that they desire not to offend the Kelly group.

AL SMITH'S SON FREED ON AUTO DEATH CHARGES

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Charges of suspicion of homicide against Walter J. Smith, the 22 year old son of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, were dismissed in the Homicide court today after several witnesses placed the blame for a fatal automobile accident on the victim.

The charges were placed against young Smith, a student, after his automobile struck and killed Harry Wallace, 60 years old, on Lexington avenue about 3 o'clock in the morning of Jan. 15.

Three taxicab drivers testified before Magistrate Guy Pan Amringe that Wallace was crossing the street against the traffic lights, that Smith was driving at less than twenty miles an hour and that Wallace apparently did not see or hear the oncoming car and walked directly in front of it.

The attorney for the Wallace family concurred in the motion made by J. J. Curtin, as attorney for young Smith, for dismissal of the charge.

Police Expert Is Ordered to Submit Plan by Feb. 15

A subcommittee of the council police committee, headed by Ald. John A. Massen, [48th] yesterday instructed Bruce Smith, police expert employed to advise on the reorganization of the Chicago department, to submit by Feb. 15 a complete plan for such reorganization. Police Commissioner Allman was questioned by members of the committee regarding the advisability of appointing civilians to the posts of inspector, seven of which are provided under the reorganization plan. He replied that in his opinion civilians would not fit into the plan, that the uniformed force would resent civilian supervision.

Holds Wife Who Killed Husband During Quarrel

Judge Frank M. Padden in the Felony court yesterday ordered Mrs. Shirley Gibson, 33 years old, 2017 Prairie avenue, held to the grand jury without bail on a charge of murder. Mrs. Gibson stabbed her husband, Edward, to death when he attempted to beat her at the home of a family friend, Charles Hughes, at 2614 Indiana avenue on Tuesday night. At the coroner's inquest she was exonerated on a plea of self-defense.

COAL COMPANY AGREES TO ACCEPT BONDS OF COUNTY ON FUEL BILL

The Consumers company agreed yesterday to accept $130,000 in poor relief bonds from the county in payment of a coal bill.

Fred Bieschke, a coal dealer at 3117 North Western avenue, who holds one of the county coal contracts for delivery to the poor, told the county board that the Consumers company, from whom he buys his coal wholesale, had demanded $130,000. Since Bieschke has not been paid by the county, the Consumers company told him, he said, to obtain county tax anticipation warrants which they would accept at a 10 per cent discount in lieu of cash.

Officials of the Consumers company were summoned and agreed to accept the poor relief bonds at par.

The county commissioners working on the budget yesterday cut $8,600 from the appropriation of $260,152 asked by Supt. A. G. Barry for the Home for Dependent and Delinquent Children. The request was for a sum $11,606 less than the amount spent in 1931.

FIND CHICAGO TRADE AGAINST MORE U. S. TAXES

Proposed new taxes and increased levies now under consideration by the house ways and means committee in congress are not regarded with favor by many Chicago interests that would be affected, it was learned in talks with officials of several concerns and organizations yesterday.

The underlying objection to the proposed new taxes and increased levies was stated by James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, who had just returned from Washington, where he testified before the committee. He said Illinois business men feel that before any new taxes or increased levies are adopted governmental expenditures should be "cut to the core."

"Members of our organization have taken the stand that government officials in Washington have failed to recognize that there is an emergency," he said. "While the manufacturers of Illinois are willing to assume their fair share of taxation, they are not ready to do so until there has been an honest and sincere effort to reduce the cost of government."

Mrs. Sadie Goodman Gets $50,000 as Widow's Award

Mrs. Sadie E. Goodman of the Ambassador East hotel, was given $50,000 as a widow's award yesterday by Nuncio J. Bonnelli, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner, pending the final settlement of her late husband's $1,500,000 estate. Her husband, Milton H. Goodman, president of the Reliance Manufacturing company, died in September of 1930 and his will, leaving all the estate to his wife, was probated at that time. The inventory of the property, which consisted of real estate and of the manufacturing company stocks, was approved yesterday.

CITY EMPLOYES TO GET PAY TO JAN. 1 MONDAY

Seven North Side Parks Will Be Closed.

All city employés will be paid up to Jan. 1 on Monday, Mayor Cermak announced yesterday.

There is sufficient cash in the corporate fund to meet these pay roll demands, totaling $1,477,000, without dipping into other funds through the sale of tax anticipation warrants, it was said. The payments, however, will again drain the corporate fund of cash, most of which has accumulated through collection of miscellaneous license fees since the first of the year.

Police and Firemen Get $880,000.

Police and firemen, unpaid since Dec. 15, will receive the bulk of the money. Their pay rolls to Jan. 1 total $880,000. Other pay rolls to be met are those of the municipal courts and a number of small city departments. About 12,000 employés will get checks.

Not all of the payments will be for a two weeks' period. Formerly pay rolls have been staggered throughout the month, and some of those to be paid on Monday have already been paid up to Christmas. Other employés have already been paid to Jan. 1. Under the continuation ordinance adopted pending the drafting of the 1932 budget, all pay periods will fall on the first and fifteenth of the month and the pay day on Monday is designed to coördinate the previously staggered pay periods.

Chicago Heights Schools Close.

Schools in Chicago Heights closed yesterday, and unless it is possible to sell $60,000 worth of tax warrants they will remain closed for the remainder of the year, officials said. The schools there have 97 teachers and about 3,300 pupils. The action does not affect Bloom Township High school in Chicago Heights.

Parent-teacher organizations and other civic bodies will stage a campaign to sell tax warrants to residents there. Feb. 8 has been set as the deadline for the campaign.

The Chicago Heights teachers were given their January pay yesterday. They got 25 per cent in cash and the remainder in 6 per cent warrants.

Evanston High school passed its January pay roll yesterday, the first time it has been forced to do so. The school owes its 130 teachers $42,000. Evanston will start a tax warrant drive on Monday to raise funds for the schools.

Seven Parks to Be Closed.

The Lincoln Park board will lay off 100 employés and shut down the seven small parks on the north side where they have been employed Sunday night, Warren Wright, president of the park board, said yesterday. Included in the shutdown will be the gymnasiums in Seward, Stanton, Lake Shore, Hamlin, Welles and Chase parks. The seventh park, Emmerson, was opened recently and has no fieldhouse.

The closing will affect principally indoor athletics for which the fieldhouses are used at this period of the year. Skating rinks will be open, as will other outdoor facilities, but no caretakers will be on duty. The present cost of operating the parks, even on the most economical basis, is from $800 to $1,000 a week, it was said.

MURDERS WOMAN FATHER MARRIED AGAINST WISHES

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Antagonism existing between Mrs. Mildred Helm, 36, and Mrs. E. L. Hoag, 67, who had been her stepmother only ten days, late today flared into an open quarrel which resulted in the elder woman's death.

Mrs. Helm, who refused to attend the wedding of her father and Mrs. Hoag Jan. 19, told police she killed her stepmother during a quarrel over housekeeping.

Mrs. Anna Howard, sister of Mrs. Hoag, found the body, with Mrs. Helm lying nearby, and called police.

Mrs. Helm is separated from her husband, who lives in Des Moines, Ia., with their daughter, Alice, 14.

Mrs. Helm told county authorities that, after pommeling and killing her stepmother she went to the garage and attempted to end her life by inhaling monoxide poison. Failing in this, she returned to the house, lay beside Mrs. Hoag's body, and awaited the arrivel of police.

$250,000 FIRE IN BOSTON.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Fire, which caused $250,000 damage, sent one fireman to a hospital when it swept a large six story brick building stored with leather and rubber goods last night.

LOOP PROPERTIES DELINQUENT IN TAXES LISTED

Adding to Chicago's Finance Tangle.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The city, county, schools, and other local governments have little or no credit. They are unable to borrow even for pay rolls, and there are certain essential governmmental functions which must continue.

Some of the solvent property owners, it has been pointed out, could aid by paying a substantial part of their 1929 taxes. Those who believe their assessments unfair are privileged to pay the part which they deem just.

Loop Property Owners.

A list of a few of the loop property owners who have paid no part of their 1929 taxes has been compiled from the tax collector's records. These show the legola description and not the street numbers of the property. The item number and the number of the tax volume showing the properties have been copied for the purposes of identification.

The name attached is that on the record, which, in some cases, is that of the owner and in others that of the agent, or the name of the person or concern which last paid the taxes, so far as the records have been corrected. A few of the loop properties on which no part of the 1929 taxes, due May 15, last, have been paid, are as follows:

One reason why the local governments cannot obtain current loans is because there has been a disposition on the part of some property owners to refuse to pay taxes.

Bandits Subdue 4 Men, Steal $20,000 in Jewelry

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Hurling three persons to the floor and grappling with a meter reader who interrupted the holdup, two well dressed bandits escaped with the diamonds and jewelry in a downtown store holdup here today. Proprietors estimates value of the loot at $20,000.

FARMERS URGE SLASH IN COSTS OF GOVERNMENT

Attack Monetary System of Country.

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Political issues came to the fore in the final sessions of the seventeenth annual convention of the Illinois Agricultural association here today.

E. A. O'NEAL.

"Now, of all times, American farmers can be heard in legislative halls," declared E. A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation. "Call back your representatives in Washington, rebrand them and let them know who owns them. From the President on down they've got to be reëlected and they're thinking more about votes than anything else."

Defends Farm Board.

"Midwest farmers said not a word when millions were spent for the Panama canal, which has never paid out. They did not complain when railroads were given federal aid, when industry was given protection. Now it is asinine and foolish of any one to attack the federal farm board when all we ask is its use in perfecting our own surplus control without subsidy.

"We are the only nation on earth where a few bankers control the entire monetary system. They have made of the gold standard a sacred cow, to be shushed in whispers, while foreign goods come piling over any tariff walls we can raise."

Monetary System Blamed.

The association voted this afternoon to urge legislation providing immediate reduction in public expenditures. The present monetary system was blamed for falling price levels in farm commodities and a resolution adopted incorporating a plan by which the federal reserve system could "stabilize the purchasing power of money" without violating its legal powers.

Other policies adopted provide for investigation of live stock marketing terminal costs, recognition of the bargaining power of dairy farmers supplying St. Louis, lowering of public utility rates, and strengthening of existing farmers' organizations, tending toward a "united front" for agriculture.

Falls Off Roof While Repairing Aerial; Killed

Charles Rongsted, 62 years old, 2055 North Albany avenue, was killed yesterday when he fell from the roof of the three story apartment building in which he lived while fixing an aerial for his radio.

JOHN D. MISSES HIS GOLF TO AVOID WOMAN; POLICE IN QUANDARY

Ormond Beach, Fla., Jan. 29.—[U. P.]—City authorities announced today they would do what they could to make the Ormond Beach golf course "safe" for John D. Rockefeller. The 92 year old millionaire missed his daily golf for the third consecutive day, assertedly to avoid a woman who persistently seeks to interview him.

ADOPT NEW FOOD SUPPLY SYSTEM IN RELIEF CRISIS

The Joint Emergency Relief fund announced yesterday that beginning today it will inaugurate a new system of supplying food and necessities to needy families. The food will be purchased in large quantities at wholesale prices and trucked to the doors of the homes instead of the present system of giving orders to local grocers.

Edward L. Ryerson Jr., president of the fund, and his fellow officers issued the following statement in explanation:

"It is only because of the extreme necessity if securing the last ounce of food possible for every dollar spent for relief, regardless of every other consideration involved, that we are compelled to alter our accustomed plan of giving a needy family a grocery order which can be cashed at any store to go into the wholesale purchase and distribution of foods.

"Thousands of new families are applying for help and the total now on the list is far beyond the 100,000 mark, with no diminution in the appeals. If some are not to be allowed to suffer, we have to adopt extreme measures to provide them with the barest necessities."

Price Fixing Methods No Cure for Depressions, Expert Says

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Stabilization of price levels would not stop depressions; the business cycle is not purely a monetary product; and inflation as advocated by "economic quacks" is not a cure, according to Gottfried Haberler of the University of Vienna. He delivered the third lecture yesterday at the institute on "Gold and Monetary Stabilization" at the University of Chicago, under the Harris Foundation. His theme was "Gold and the Business Cycle."

"If it were only a wave of pessimism and actual inflation which caused the trouble," said Dr. Haberler, "it should be possible to get rid of it very quickly. After all, a defiation, however strong it may be, can be stopped by drastic inflationary methods within a comparatively short period.

Hits "Economic Quacks."

"If we have, however, once realized that at the bottom of these surface phenomena lies a far reaching dislocation of the productive resources, we must lose confidence in all the economic and montetary quacks who are going around in these days and are preaching inflationary measures which would bring almost instant relief.

"If we accept that the productive apparatus is out of gear, that great shifts of labor and capital are necessary to restore equilibrium, then it is emphatically not true that the business cycle is a purely monetary phenomenon; this is not true, although monetary forces have brought about the whole trouble. Such a dislocation of real physical capital, as distinguished from purely monetary changes, can in no case be cured in a very short time.

Tells Cause of Crisis.

"I do not deny we can and must combat the secondary phenomenon, an exaggerated pessimism and an unjustified defiation. I only wish to say that we should not expect too much of a symptomatic treatment and, on the other hand, we must be careful not to produce again that artificial disproportion of the money streams, directed towards consumption and production of goods, which led to overinvestment and produced the whole trouble. The worst thing we could do is a onesided strengthening of the purchasing power of the consumer, because it was precisely this disproportional increase of demand for consumers' goods which precipitated the crisis."

Dr. Haberler took up stabilization of price level and the theory that depressions would cease if fall in prices were stopped. He declared it an insufficient explanation.

Price Level Misleading Guide.

"I shall try to show," he said, "that price level is frequently a misleading guide of monetary policy, that its stability is no sufficient safeguard against crisis and depression, because a credit expansion has a much deeper and more fundamental influence on the whole economy, especially on the structure of production, than that expressed in the mere change of price level.

"The principal defect of these theories is that they do not distinguish between a fall of prices which is due to a contraction of the circulating medium and a fall of prices which is caused by lowering of cost as a consequence of inventions and technological improvements."

Indiana Supreme Court Bars Holt from Practice

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The Indiana Supreme court today formally removed the name of Olin Holt, Kokomo, from the list of attorneys admitted to practice before the high court. Holt resigned from the state bar following his conviction in federal court on a liquor conspiracy charge. Holt was once the Anti-Saloon league-Ku Klux Klan supported candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

HOW MUCH SPEED?
by E. S. GORRELL
President, Stutz Motor Car Co. of America, Inc.

ABOUT fifteen years ago Stutz had a famous car known as the "Bearcat," a sports roadster which was the smartest and fastest car of its day.

Under the new regime at Stutz we have revived the name and reputation of the "Bearcat" in two new sports roadsters—the "Bearcat" and the "Super-Bearcat"—both guaranteed to do 100 miles per hour or better (by the stop-watch).

A speedway is about the only place where you could drive a car that fast, even if you wanted to—but we do know that people love power, and that what power really means is to have power under your control, whether you use it or not.

We also know you have to have safety. Because Stutz is the safest car in the world, we felt that we had the right to make it one of the fastest.

Our answer therefore to, "How much speed should a motor car have?" is "More speed than it needs," because that means better, safer performance at any speed.

The new 100-miles-per-hour Stutz Bearcats have the speed but they also have all the famous exclusive Stutz safety principles, plus the beauty and performance which are the natural results of safety. Every Stutz is a Safety Stutz.

CONVICTED RUM MAKER'S CAREER TOLD BY EX-AID

Old Confession in Hands of U. S. Revealed.

Additional circumstances indirectly surrounding the sentencing of Sam Rinella, alleged Capone henchman, to five years in prison for violation of the prohibition law, were revealed yesterday. The penalty imposed is the maximum prison term provided by the Jones "five and ten" act.

A federal jury convicted Rinella last week on charges of operating a huge still which had a daily alcohol output of 2,000 gallons. A lease which he was said to have signed linked him with the place. Assistant United States District Attorney Walter E. Wiles prosecuted the case, and Federal Judge John P. Barnes imposed sentence, adding a $1,000 fine.

During the interim between conviction and imposition of sentence, Assistant District Attorney Daniel Anderson, rummaging through some forgotten files, discovered a five year old affidavit allegedly revealing Rinella's past bootleg career. It was made by his former chauffeur, Homer West, colored. The affidavit, incidentally, told of police graft.

Judge Rejects Proposal.

Anderson turned the affidavit over to Wiles, and the latter visited Judge Barnes. Wiles asked Judge Barnes if he would consider further evidence concerning Rinella before passing sentence.

Wiles' plea was promptly refused by the judge. Discussing the incident yesterday, Judge Barnes said he had declined the proposal of Wiles because he doubted the propriety of such procedure. When he sentenced Rinella, Judge Barnes said:

"A still that will turn out 2,000 gallons of alcohol a day will keep at least 400 speakeasies supplied. I have been sentencing these speakeasy owners to from two months to four months in jail. Certainly a man who has been making it possible for so many men to break the law should receive far greater punishment."

Charge Police Graft.

The chauffeur's affidavit throws light on bootleg operations of a few years back. Chauffeur West said he had seen Rinella carry as much as $50,000 on his person at one time. "Police squads," he asserted, "frequently called at his headquarters in a smoke shop on the south side to be paid for not molesting his trucks. After Rinella sold alcohol he often had his men hijack it so he could resell it."

West charged that Rinella hired a man named Frank Mustari as a killer, and paid him $200 for each murder. He told of how a policeman and a detective demanded $150, but finally accepted $50 to "stay away." Rinella's followers, whom he named, were flashily dressed and "loaded with diamonds," West said.

Some talk was heard in the federal building yesterday that West might be endangered because of his rôle as an informant.

10 A. M. QUARREL BRINGS WIFE A 2 P. M. DECREE

Cook county courts set a speed record yesterday when Mrs. Loretta M. Burch, 5015½ Kenmore avenue, was granted a separate maintenance decree by Judge Harry B. Miller in the Superior court.

She quarreled with her husband, Hiram, at 10 o'clock yesterday. At 1 o'clock Attorney Harry X. Cole had drawn a bill for separate maintenance, filed it, and Burch accepted service in his office. Judge Miller heard Mrs. Burch's testimony and at 2 o'clock signed a decree awarding her $12.50 a week alimony.

Burch is a member of a quartet which sings at banquets throughout the city. His wife charged that frequently he came home intoxicated from such performances and abused her.

WIFE SUES YOUTH; DENOUNCES HIM AS A BOOTLEGGER

Greencastle, Ind., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Ben Deming, Fort Worth, Tex., Depauw university student, married Nov. 12, soon after he wrote an article for the De Pauw Student that resulted in temporary suspension of the entire staff, was sued for divorce here today.

Deming's article urged dismissal of Miss Katherine S. Alvord, dean of women at De Pauw, alleging she was "incompetent" and too staid.

Deming's wife, whose home is in Miami Beach, Fla., formerly was Sue D'Arcy, also a De Pauw student. The divorce suit alleges Deming is a bootlegger. Ten De Pauw students were put on probation a few days ago for intoxication.

DRY PATROL WHO SHOT PASSENGER ON BOAT GUILTY

Convicted by Federal Court Jury.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A jury in federal court today found a border patrolman guilty of shooting an innocent bystander. Clarence Fish was convicted of assault and battery in the shooting of Albert Gajewski, a passenger aboard the excursion steamer St. Claire last July. Walter Weselowski, border patrolman who was with Fish at the time of the shooting, was acquitted.

The two patrolmen had been charged with felonious assault, but Federal Judge Charles C. Simmons, who heard the case, instructed members of the jury they could find the defendants guilty of the lesser offense of assault and battery.

The maximum penalty is $100 fine and 90 days' imprisonment, and Fish will be sentenced Saturday morning. William G. Coomb, chief assistant United States district attorney, said he would appeal the verdict. In his charge to the jury Judge Simons stated that the customs officers had the right to use force in an endeavor to stop the rum runner, whom the border patrolmen were chasing around an excursion boat, but not in such a way as to disregard the rights of others.

Gajewski was hit in the elbow by a .45 caliber bullet fired by Fish. The affair was not without a bit of romance. At his side when Gajewski was shot stood a girl watching the battle. She gave him first aid, and a few weeks ago became his bride.

CALL 'TOWN MEETING' FOR DISCUSSION OF NEW TAX OFFICIALS

President Whealan of the county board announced yesterday that he will call a "town meeting" early next week in the city council chamber at which the personnel of the new board of assessment and review provided by the Kelly bill will be discussed.

Representatives of improvement, civic, building and loan and real estate property owners' associations, and all others interested, will be invited to attend, and to advance suggestions for the positions of county assessor and two members of the new board of review.

President Whealan and Mayor Cermak, who will address the gathering, both expressed the hope that the meeting will produce candidates "close to the people."

LAWYER FREED ON $40,000 BOND IN KIDNAP CASE

CRIMINAL COURT.

Sigmund Berkowski, burglary, sentenced to one year to life in Pontiac reformatory; Tony Zambrowski and Walter Cesary, robbery, sentenced to one year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge George Fred Rush.

Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks, in charge of prosecution of kidnaping cases, agreed yesterday to the release on bail of $40,000 of Attorney Ward Swalwell, who is under indictment charged with the ransom kidnaping of Dr. Max Gecht and Mrs. Georgia Gecht. Mr. Brooks explained that he agreed to bail rather than disclosed the evidence against Swalwell and the other defendants, William Thomas, John Pingera, Albert Russell, and Edward Finnen.

The five have been held without bail since their arrest, kidnaping for ransom being a crime for which the maximum penalty is death in the electric chair. Prosecutor Brooks said he will be ready for the trial within a few days—waiting meanwhile for the return to Chicago of Louis Alterie, who is indicted with Pingera and Thomas for the kidnaping of Edward Dobkin, a betting commissioner.

Gov. W. H. Adams of Colorado, on Thursday signed the extradition warrant permitting the removal of Alterie from Denver. Gus Sanger, who, confessed participation in the kidnaping of the Gechts and who agreed to be a state's witness, implicated Alterie in the Dobkin kidnaping which occurred last March and to which he confessed his own guilt.

GERMANS CLAIM THEY HAVE NOW PAID 16 BILLIONS

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—In reply to French official statements which it is claimed underestimated Germany's reparations payments, the German government today published a list of reparations payments totaling $16,112,000,000. This is $3,000,000,000 more than the estimates of their own economic experts, published previously.

German economists placed the value of payments in cash and deliveries in kind made by Germany until the Dawes plan went into effect at $10,500,000,000. Until July 1, 1931, she paid under the Dawes plan and the Young plan an additional $2,640,000,000, or a total of $13,140,000,000, according to her economic experts.

The government's new calculations include expenditures for disarmament and the scrapping of German plants ordered under the Versailles treaty, the full value of German property confiscated by foreign countries and the full value of the German fleet and navy delivered to the allies. American experts of the institute of economics place the value of Germany's initial reparations paid and delivered before the Dawes plan at $6,560,000,000. The Americans add to this figure the Dawes and Young plan payments, bringing the estimate of payments made by Germany to the allies since 1918 to $9,200,000,000.

THE JAPANESE IN SHANGHAI.

The situation in Shanghai must be regarded as extremely serious. The cynicism with which Japan has treated the representations of Secretary Stimson could have been expected, although diplomacy seldom joins so much sarcasm in words to such irony in acts. Each remonstrance the American state department has made since September has been followed by an extension of the movements of which the American government complained. Now the Japanese bomb has dropped in the very Chinese city which is the nerve center of international interests in the far east.

The reply to Mr. Stimson's appeal to the empty Kellogg treaty, to the pledges against aggression and the use of force, is a night attack in which hardly any discrimination could be made between combatants and noncombatants, between resistance and nonresistance. If America cannot be brought by this to question the validity of the illusions which persistently direct the conduct of its government in foreign affairs it is blind to experience.

What must be most impressive is the confidence with which the Japanese have carried out their purposes. We have been told that the world was organized to prevent such acts. A new order prevailed. The nations were gathered under covenant in the league at Geneva, where remedies were available to prevent the use of force in national policy. The false front is completely wrecked. The league is pitiful.

The roots of Japanese confidence may have been in Europe. The American government has assumed that it would be supported in its protests, but it has been allowed to go out on the front alone. The expectations of Mr. Stimson have had little foundation. Where he looked for a concert of action he has acted without allies. It need astonish no one if it be discovered that in general Japan's actions were displeasing only to the American state department, at least until the incredible events of the last two days.

This country has seen before what an altruistic, pacifist government can do when it is aroused by some affront to its humanitarian pretensions. Mr. Wilson in Mexico was an example. A pacifist does not take humiliation easily when it touches his pride in his work and the dependability of his doctrines. The Japanese and American governments have irritated each other, one finding occidental moralities in its way, and the other being confronted with realities offensive to it. Part of the seriousness of the situation in Shanghai is that the troops of the two countries are virtually in contact. Indiscretions can lead to incidents and incidents to explosions.

Even if we are to accept with reserve news stories sent out of Shanghai in the excitement of the bombing, it is nevertheless apparent that the Chinese civilian population has been subjected to a terror which mocks all the pretenses of the pacifist world. If the reality merits the description the correspondents have sent out, then the world has offered it a spectacle which cannot find a parallel in any event of the world war, a massacre committed by one member of the league of nations upon the people of another member.

This is a votive offering from a signatory of the Kellogg peace treaty to the disarmament conference gathering at Geneva, a testimony to the validity of such documents in the affairs of the world, and a reply to the American government's reliance upon international agreements for the security of the American people. We are to trust our peace to a diminishing navy, to the decisions of Dr. Mary Woolley and the women pacifists who flocked with the American delegates to Geneva, and to the notes of Mr. Stimson. We are to make enemies, obstruct military people, and rely on the olive branch. We'll need be experts at taking punishment.

LAWYERS AGAINST PROHIBITION.

The vote of the Chicago Bar association upon its prohibition referendum is significant not only because only 296 in a total of 2,836 voted for the existing régime, but because 1,937 votes were cast for the repeal of the 18th amendment, the Volstead act and all laws enacted under them.

This is striking evidence that among men learned in the law there is an overwhelming demand for a restoration of constitutional principle. The lawyers throughout the nation, as the polls of the American Bar association revealed, have come to realize how much more than the sumptuary issue of drinking or not drinking is involved in the 18th amendment, the unrestrained expansion of the power of the central government, the fixation in the fundamental law of rules which ought to be a matter for statutory adjustment, the growth of bureaucracy, the disparagement of local self-government, the invasion of civil rights, the corruption and demoralization of law enforcement. The root of these evils is in the departure from the constitutional system, and men of law realize that to free ourselves from them we must go back to their source. Whatever expediencies we may find it profitable to try until the error of the 18th amendment is eradicated, such as the repeal or amendment of the Volstead act, the effort to restore constitutional principle must continue.

In addition to the vote of 296 for prohibition as is, 267 voted for the retention of the 18th amendment with the Volstead act amended to permit beverages of alcoholic content of more than one-half of one per cent, but not intoxicating in fact. Ostensibly this appears to be a dry vote, but it probably represents in the case of most of the voters for this expedient a belief that nothing better can be got at present, although some drys may have voted for it realizing that the Volstead act is an exhibit of bigotry not conducive to the prohibition cause.

A BLUNDER AVOIDED.

The house committee on ways and means has made a good beginning upon the new federal tax measure by eliminating the proposal to make the income levy retroactive. That would have been an unnecessary infliction and its effect upon the national morale would have more than offset the benefit to the government of such revenue as it provided.

The chief cause of the depression in the United States, as well as elsewhere, is excessive taxation, and one of the principal causes of the persistence of the depression is fear of worse taxation. The proposal to make the increased income tax rates retroactive ignored the inevitable reaction upon a taxpayer suddenly faced with an unforeseen exaction, his sense of injustice, his discouragement, his fear of future possibilities, his sense of uncertainty. The ways and means committee's avoidance of such a blunder will be gratefully received by the country.

Relief from the depression will not come from increasing its chief cause, inordinate taxation, but from lightening the burden, and this can be accomplished only by drastic retrenchment of public expenditure. Revenue must be raised to meet fixed charges and provide for the essentials of government service, but it should be strictly limited to these purposes.

THE JOB AND THE MAN.

While belated efforts to cut expenditures are being made in New York, the state has taken its tin cup to Wall street and got a loan of twenty-five million dollars at 4½ per cent. Slow tax payment and depleted revenues made it necessary to get funds to carry on. We doubt that the fiscal conditions of his home state will appeal to the country in general as recommending Gov. Roosevelt as a political Hercules to cleanse the Augean stables of the government at Washington. To accomplish that task calls for a will not to be broken by any opposition and a spirit no compromise can divert from the nation's critical necessities.

FEDERAL INTERVENTION IN HAWAII.

Affairs apparently get no better in Hawaii. The breach between the local authorities and the navy widens in consequence of civil procedure and practices. Admiral Yates Stirling Jr., commander of the Hawaiian naval district, has cabled the department in Washington that the grand jury was coerced by Judge A. M. Cristy into voting an indictment for second degree murder against Lieut. Massie, Mrs. Fortescue and the two sailors accused of killing the Hawaiian rapist. The jury, according to the navy report, had voted no true bill. The judge released from jury service a member who had accepted an appointment as police commissioner. Thereupon the jury disagreed and the judge refused to accept the report, charging it to consider a bill for second degree murder. It finally was voted.

Although this stiff attitude is taken toward the defendants accused of executing private justice upon a man who had escaped punishment under the law, the civil authorities seem indifferent to the case of the surviving members of the gang accused of the crime out of which the whole case arises. They, with the man later killed, were saved by a hung jury. That is why Lieut. Massie took retribution in his own hands. The family had waited for the law and the law failed. As to the other men it rests on failure now, but a jury is forced against its will to indict the persons who adopted the only methods an incompetent and dicorganized social system had left open to them.

Such conditions cannot prevail at this vital naval outpost of the United States. Affairs are too grave in the Pacific to permit it now if at any time it could be regarded as tolerable. The federal government can no longer justify a refusal to take the situation in hand at once.

THOSE ANTIQUE CARS.

[New York Evening Post.]

In the antique automobile race staged in connection with the automobile show in Philadelphia the cars of two decades ago seemed grotesque to eyes familiar with the sleek, stream lined cars of today. But in the performance records of these ancient motor cars there was another story.

Two one-cylinder cars, one twenty-nine and the other twenty-seven years old, were winners under the handicap system. Both averaged approximately fourteen miles an hour, one of them making a ninety-seven mile trip. A four-cylinder Buick built in 1907 made sixteen miles an hour for 145 miles. A 1910 Ford averaged twenty-two miles an hour for 146 miles.

Compared with the modern car, these veterans seem extremely slow. Compared with the horse and buggy, they were extremely fast. Moreover, they were sturdy. Their engineers had achieved a high degree of mechanical reliability, which in those days was a primary requirement. Since then we have refined our cars, added more cylinders to their engines, stream lined their bodies, and added color, beauty, ease of operation. But we have kept to the sound engineering of a quarter century ago.

We boast of our speeds today, but in 1911 Ray Harroun piloted a Marmon around the brick oval at Indianapolis for 500 miles at an average speed of 74.59 miles an hour. Today we have achieved 1911's racing speed in our passenger cars. The cars of twenty years ago were clumsy, rough riding, awkward, hard to drive and high in price. Today's cars are creations of beauty, fitted with every convenience and ridiculously low in price. We have come far, but we have not forgotten the sound engineering of twenty years ago. It was the solid groundwork which made today's motor cars possible.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hurrah, We're Going to Have a War!

The Perspiring Reporter asks five people—sometimes six—every day a question of great importance. Today's question, "Do you think we should go to war with Japan?"

JOHN BINKS (white collar worker): "I'll bite. Should we?"

MRS. CLIPPUM COUPONS (the Golden Coaster Arms hotel): "Oh, yes, indeed; I think a war would be perfectly sweet! I do hope dear Mr. Stimson will arrange things so that we can have a nice war right away! When we had the war with Germany you remember how we had to cut down on all sorts of things, absolute essentials of life, such as caviar, pate de foie gras, ice cream, loaf sugar, porterhouse steak, turtle soup, champagne, and everything, and do you know that before the war was over I had lost ten pounds. Ten pounds, can you believe! I think I'm getting just a tiny, weeny bit too plump again, although it may be I only imagine I am; but, anyhow, I do want to reduce a bit, and a war would be perfectly lovely! Mr. Hoover was so stern with us during the last war when he was food superintendent, or something like that, but in this war he's President, and, goodness, I expect he'll just put us in jail if we don't economize on our food. And I'll come out of it looking just like Greta Garbo. Oh, my dear, won't it be too thrilling!"

MR. I. GOTTA GROUCH (Big Butter 'n' Egg Man, Bungoloville): "Sure, we otta have a nice little scrap with that there Japan right pronto. We ought to lick 'em to a standstill in two or three weeks. My wife bought one o' them teapots in a Jap junk store here in Chicago and when she was taking tha damthing home in the car it rolled off the seat and busted. I took it back to funny face at the junk shop who sold her the teapot and durned if he didn't give me the horse laff when I wanted tha money back. So I want us to jump on these here Japs an' jump hard. By golly! I'll show them Japs whether they can hornswoggle me er not, dad burn 'em!"

MR. SOCRATES FULLER PRUNES (scientist, lecturer, and automobile washer): "Yes, let us avenge the great wrong Japan has done us, whatever it was! Let us again make the world safe for democracy! Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah! I know what war means and I am willing to pay the price! I will stand on the curb when the boys march past on their way to Japan and I'll cheer them on their way. I will do more! I will go down to the railroad station and wave the old flag as their trains pull out on their way to the front. Yessir, I'm a hundred and fifty per cent American, and even when the boys are away over there slushing around in the snow and mud they can know that I'm pulling for 'em!"

PERCY SMILEY (radio crooner and song writer): "Oh, a war will be great. Has it started yet? I'm writing some songs, so I'll be all ready. 'Lissen, folks,' I'll say, 'you've all heard probably that we're going to have a war with Japan, so we must all hate Japan all we possibly can. Now, everybody, let's hate Japan; come on, mamma, and you, too, daddie, get in on this—now, oh how we hate them Japs!' That's it. Now we all have that fine war feeling; but remember, when you go out to hear the news of the latest battle, you should wear a warm sable lined coat or overcoat these cold days and you can get one at the Seven Sable Sisters' Sable store, 2619 Parking boulevard, for only two thousand berries. Remember, for swell sables the Seven Sable Sisters' Sable store, 2-6-1-9 Parking boulevard. I will now sing you a song dedicated to America which our soldiers boys will soon be singing as they march through the streets of Tokio. Okay, orchestra, let's go:

When the soldier boy comes sailing home again,
From Japan across the ocean far away,
On the dock at Frisco bay.

CHORUS.

Oh, we're goin' to soakio that Tokio,
That Tokio, that Tokio!
Poor Tokio, poor Tokio!
We'll just make a jokio of Tokio,
They'll go brokio in Tokio,
When we put a spokio in Tokio."

JACK TROOPER (wounded veteran selling apples in the loop): "What? War? Who? Me? You githell outten here or I'll crown you with this apple stand!"

BRIEFLY, THE SUN.

The sun has fully found us out today.
Now dazed with light, round and about we run,
Unheeding Fortune's play and counterplay,
Whose any move may turn us from the sun.
So let's forget we've given aught to know
Of truth or beauty, wisdom, law, or power,
And tenderly gone mad, be happy so,
Let us be wanton with the piper's gold!
Perhaps, in our unthinking blindness, thus,
Some God of fun or chaos will have sold
A jot of immortality to us.
Two dancing motes—a bright oblivious sun—
Who knows what little heavens may be won?

LOLA MALLATT.

AND NOW MISSISSIPPI says it will boost Senator Huey P. Long for the Democratic nomination for President. Now, Democrats, you see what you've done by wabbling around so long and leaving the gate open. Get busy, rally around somebody right away! Rally around Gov. Roosevelt; rally around Gov. Ritchie; rally around Newt Baker; rally around Greeter Gaw. Fevven's sake, rally around somebody and head off Huey P. Long. Hey, quick now, snap into it!

THE NATION has a variation of the Republicans' 1932 campaign slogan, "Don't Change Horses in the Middle of the Stream," which, while our interest in the G. O. DEMENTIA PRECOX.

DR. M. BLEULER, presumably a relative of the man who contributed so much to our knowledge of mental disorders, has undertaken to discover the facts about the inheritability of one kind of insanity. The kind he studied is dementia precox. In this investigation he made use of American institution and family histories, and these he compared with similar records from several parts of Europe. He did not discover very much, for the difficulties are great.

The inheritance of mental and personality characteristics is very complicated and rarely or never follows Mendelian law. It is as though all the elements that go to make up the new individuals were molten material in a great vat. Into this vat every ancestor pours a part of himself. The mixture is not stirred much. When a new individual is to be poured a faucet is turned and the molten material flows into the mold. What flows in may be all from one ancestor, or it may be from several, in varying proportions.

Or, the materials in the vat may have acted on each other to make something with new characteristics, as chemicals are liable to do.

It is rather generally accepted that dementia precox, of all forms of insanity, is that one which is most apt to be inherited. Dr. Bleuler finds that it is not very inheritable. If a person has dementia precox, there is about one chance in twenty that a brother or other very close relative will be found also to have it. He found some evidence that this mental disorder runs in families. There is a larger proportion of cases in certain families than in the general population.

Dementia precox is generally regarded as a later chapter in a serial. In childhood a child does not play with other children but herds to himself. In school he reads rather than plays. A little later he behaves in a way that makes people say he is peculiar or distant, or of a "shut-in" type. Dr. Bleuler tried to determine just the relationship of this type of behavior to dementia precox, but without reaching a very definite conclusion.

Rarely do we find an individual who follows the type exactly. There is mixed in with his personality some characteristics that do not fit into the type. That was one difficulty encountered by the investigator. A second was our skimpy knowledge of the people we are studying. As a rule, mental specialists draw their conclusions from reports made by social workers after a half hour interview, or some similar period of observation. What he should have is the daily observation by a mother who knows something about personality and behavior.

And, finally, the investigator was handicapped by lack of an exact conception of what dementia precox is. He did find that some of the cases of it had symptoms that followed exactly in a groove.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

Mrs. J. W. W. writes: So much has been said about symptoms and immediate treatment of infantile paralysis, I should like other mothers to benefit from my experience.

Four years ago my now 12 year old son was stricken, the paralysis affecting his stomach and back muscles. It was my good fortune to be in touch with a woman who has had charge of the after-treatment in the James Whitcomb Riley hospital in Indianapolis, namely, the corrective massaging and exercising which is so vitally important in the developing of muscles to take the place of those paralyzed. After nine months on a Bradford frame, with complete rest, and three hours each day of massage during that time, we started on a program of corrective exercises.

Today my boy is so much improved that many people would never know he had ever had that dread disease. We report to her every six weeks for examination and new exercises. So many people do not know about this treatment, and consequently their children are crippled, with shrunken muscles, curvatures, and other things which can develop. We have traveling rings, stall bars, and an hour set apart each day for the correction work. I feel sure my boy would have been a terrible cripple had I not known of this.

VITAMINS BEFORE BREAKFAST.

A. D. B. writes: Will you please advise me regarding the drinking of a glass of tomato juice and sauerkraut juice, half and half, before breakfast. What would be the effect? I am 74 years old and normal. Would any other time be better than before breakfast?

REPLY.

UNPAID BILLS.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I purchased clothes on credit, promising to pay so much weekly. That was five months ago. Since then I have not worked a single day. 1. Can they put me in jail? 2. Can they liquidate my furniture? I have promised to pay them as soon as I begin working, but they don't seem to want to wait.

C. A. S.

1. No.
2. Yes, if it is covered by chattel mortgage. If it is not so covered you will be entitled to $400 if you are head of a family.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TRAFFIC REGULATION.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—[Friend of the People.]—I do not wish to be considered a "crank," but I cannot understand how a corner such as Adams and Canal streets remains unprotected. Can a policeman be assigned to direct traffic at least during the morning and evening rush hours? E. P.

We agree that the intersection of Adams and Canal streets is an important one, but still there are many more important intersections within the loop district which are left unpoliced, not because of the fact that there are officers assigned to unimportant posts, but because we lack the numerical strength to give the intersection of Canal and Adams and others the attention we desire. However, this intersection is being policed during the morning and evening rush hours and has been for some time past. This detail will continue in effect there, and if we possibly can in the future we will assign an officer there throughout the entire day.

JAMES P. ALLMAN,
Commissioner of Police.

ASSIGNMENT OF PROPERTY.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Four years ago I assigned my property over to my wife, trusting it to her. The wife also was in business, but all the fixtures belong to me. I have all the bills of the property and business. Now my wife put me out with an injunction. She is assigning the property to her sister. Could I ask the court to assign this property to our boy, who is now 9 years old, and could I secure the fixtures? E. L.

We cannot advise to advantage without knowing the purpose of the original transfer to her. It seems probable that you had inconsistent purposes in mind, namely, that you wish the property to be hers as far as possible claims of creditors could be concerned, but wish it to be yours for other purposes. We advise you to employ an attorney. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

This nation has had other serious financial depressions, as the following excerpts from The Tribune files reveal. Each of these periods of hard times has been followed by periods of great prosperity.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 13.—Distrust in financial circles continues to a great extent, and the Mechanics Savings bank closed its doors. The bank was possessed of plenty of assets, but they are at present unavailable and the officers believed it would be best not to meet the strain of depositors' withdrawals by keeping the bank open. Mellon & Sons' bank did not open for payment and received no deopsits. The private real estate of the senior member of the firm, Former Judge Mellon, would alone meet all liabilities. He stated that the outside drain upon him was too great and that he was compelled to suspend. He said he did not know how long he would continue closed, but he had $5 of assets for every dollar of liability.

Chicago, July 1.—Continued lawlessness marked the progress of Dictator Debs in the A. R. U. railroad strike. The Rock Island was chief sufferer from the mob spirit. It was as much as a man's life was worth to endeavor to operate a train on that road. A passenger train was deliberately wrecked at Blue Island. In that town anarchy reigned and the mayor and police force could do nothing to stop the rioting of the strikers. At Riverdale the mob broke all Panhandle trains, detached the Pullmans, ransacked the buffet cars and devoured the provisions. On the Illinois Central it was the same old story of destruction of the company's property without interference from the police.

Conductors and brakemen on the Alton at Bloomington refused to move freight. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois at Terre Haute has appealed to the United States district attorney for federal aid. The road claims that the strikers are delaying the mails. Dictator Debs, in fulfillment of a threat, carried the war into the yards of the road running Wagner sleeping cars because their officers belonged to the Managers' association.

CLEVELAND.—President Wilson, speaking in Pittsburgh today and in Cleveland tonight, issued a solemn warning to the people that the time may come when he cannot both keep the United States out of war and maintain its honor, and that the country must be prepared to defend itself and prepare at once. "Let me tell you very solemnly you cannot postpone this thing," he declared. "I do not know what a single day may bring forth." He advocated his reserve army of trained citizen soldiers which he said could not be viewed as a turn toward militarism as might be the raising of a huge regular army.

MORRIS, Ill.—Charles B. Munday, former vice president of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, of which William Lorimer was president, is in jail. He was sentenced to five years in Joliet penitentiary by Circuit Judge S. C. Stough, before whom he was convicted on Nov. 19 of conspiracy in connection with the wrecking of the bank.

PARIS.—Twelve persons were killed and thirty injured in a Zeppelin raid on Paris tonight. Six persons—one man, three women and two children—were killed in one house hit by a bomb. In all five bombs were dropped.

LONDON.—The Germans, suddenly taking the offensive, have thrown the entire front in the west into the greatest battle since the September drive of the allies. From the sea to the Vosges there is a rush of furious attacks and counter attacks. The German war office announced the capture of the village of Frise, 75 miles northeast of Paris on the bank of the river Somme.

CHICAGO.—The board of education adopted by unanimous vote of the eighteen members the report of the finance committee, which provides for a reduction of $1,118,697 as compared with the expenditures of last year for educational purposes. Salaries of teachers who have served more than seven years were cut about 2 per cent. Those high school teachers and all employés of the board receiving more than $1,000 were cut 5 per cent. Kindergartens are to be closed next June with an annual saving of $100,000. Drawing, singing, domestic science, and so-called "fads" were greatly reduced. The number of district superintendents receiving salaries of $4,500 a year was reduced from fourteen to six.

CHICAGO.—"Do away with political machines. Nominate candidates for public office by petition. In this way only can we get men who will enact laws under which Chicago can be operated sensibly. Only by having such men in the legislature can Chicago ever get relief from present financial difficulties." This is the remedy prescribed by City Controller McGann as a cure for Chicago's troubles.

SHERIDAN'S RIDE.

Chicago, Jan. 24. — Mrs. Edwards-Matzke's story in your editorial columns brought back the long forgotten days when, as a small boy, I used to listen, to my father's war stories, the affair at Cedar creek being one of them.

As he used to tell it, the successful outcome of that battle was due more to the stubborn resistance of a bunch of new recruits who formed part of the 19th corps than to Gen. Sheridan.

On that night father and his buddy, Mark Courtwright, both members of Company D, 75th New York Volunteers, were sleeping soundly in their pup tent, when some one came running, gave them a kick, and shouted: "Run! The Johnnies are all in amongst us!"

They grabbed their guns and scrambled out. Everything was in utmost confusion. Here and there a gun flashed in the darkness or some too sound sleeper let out a groan as a raiding Johnny pinned him with the bayonet.

What had happened was that one of Early's captains had dressed his soldiers in Union uniforms, got the password somehow, and relieved an entire post of Union pickets with them, thus letting the confederates into camp without opposition.

As I recall it, my father said it was the 8th corps, of which the 75th New York was a part, which retreated down the Winchester turnpike. These were all veteran troops who knew exactly what to do in a case of that kind—beat it to the rear and re-form.

It was somewhere along that road that Sheridan met them, shouting to each group of soldiers, "Come on, boys, we're going back!"

So they re-formed and went back to the scene of conflict, where they found this dumb crowd of raw recruits battling away for dear life, though greatly outnumbered.

The confederates, confident that they could wipe them out at their leisure, were devoting most of their attention to the contents of Sheridan's wagon trains. This gave time for Sheridan and his troops to get into action and come to the assistance of these stubborn 19th corps rookies who had somehow got the impression that war had something to do with fighting.

By the time Sheridan got back so unexpectedly the confederates were taken almost as much by surprise as the Yanks had been, for the seasoned vets with him knew quite as well what to do in those circumstances as they had the night before under others.

As to Sheridan's being drunk, I think father would have mentioned that as an additional point of interest if it were true. C. I. T.

PROBABLY HE SHOULD.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—One of your correspondents wants to know when we will be relieved of these so-called "torch singers." I can tell him when. When they will recognize a good singer. I know from experience. My husband has a wonderful voice; everybody that hears him tells him so. They ask him why he doesn't sing over the air. But he should try and get in! If you haven't got a pull you haven't a chance, no matter how good a voice you have.

MRS. McC.

BIG BEN.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—As an added attraction for the coming World's Fair it would not be a bad idea to install a great bell, similar to the one on the house of parliament in London. It would, in somber tone, proclaim the hour, day or night. The new Board of Trade building would be a good location for such a bell.

TAXES IN WISCONSIN.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—In view of the tax situation here it is refreshing to receive a tax bill on our Wisconsin home this morning showing 10 per cent reduction from last year's bill in spite of wonderful concrete roads, etc. That state seems to be well managed. WILLIAM S. JENKS.

NIGHT SCHOOL FEES.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—When are the night schools that have been closed going to open? And if they are not going to open, when are we going to get our $2 deposit back? STUDENT.

THE AUTOMOBILE DIFFERENTIAL.

Green Bay, Wis., Jan. 23.—The article captioned "Inventor of Auto Differential Is Dead" in today's TRIBUNE is in error in stating that Mr. Gallinger was the inventor of the differential gearing now universally used on automobiles. This device was applied to a power driven road vehicle by Dr. Harland of Middlesborough, England, in 1798. This was a steam operated carriage and was successful. English laws, however, prevented the use of power driven vehicles on the highways. A law was in force for many years restricting the speed of such vehicles to three miles per hour and it was compulsory to have a man ahead carrying a red flag. Dr. Harland was a man of great ability and energy and was one of the founders of the great shipyard of Harland & Wolff of Belfast, Ireland, the builders of the White Star fleet.

The prize offered by the legislature in 1877 was $10,000 and was not awarded as none of the competing machines were able to finish according to the rules. The machines entered were extremely crude and clumsy and this fact coupled with the frightful condition of the roads made success impossible. One of the machines stalled in six inches of sand on the old military road thirteen miles south of Madison.

James Baker of Madison also entered a machine in this competition in which the so-called "Jack in the box" was employed. The surprising thing about this matter was that steam propelled engines were in use in England and had been for years. See "Catechism of the Steam Engine," by John Bourne.

C. M. CONRADSON.

BIGOTS.

Gary, Ind., Jan. 22.—Frequently, in fact so frequently that it seems to be an accepted policy, you refer to all drys as "bigots." That really covers a lot of territory, and on careful examination you would doubtless find the word most inapplicable. However, since you have adopted it, why not adopt a corresponding word for those who agitate for the noble cause of beer? Suppose we call them "spigots?" As between the bigots and the spigots we ought to have a merry time of it!

Senator Walsh is quoted this morning [reference being made to the Bingham resolution which the senate voted down yesterday] as saying that the drys would flaunt this vote all over the country. That would, of course, be very inconsiderate! But does any one doubt that if the vote had contained one glimmer of hope for the wets that it would not have appeared in metropolitan newspapers in big headlines?

One senses, further, quite an element of distress in your editorials, which exhibits itself in the language used to describe those who differ with you. Take just one editorial, that of this morning. Here are some of the epithets and adjectives used, named in their orders of appearance: "Bigots, unreason, intolerance, political clerics, lunacy, injustice, stupidity, hypocrites, weaklings, rascals." All in one editorial! Is the noble cause really in such distress?

RIVAL CHAUFFEURS.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—It would be consistent with principles of good journalism and fair play to mention both sides of the controversy regarding funerals. The writer has in mind the greedy action of the police and firemen in driving their private cars for hire on their days off in funeral processions.

It is inconsistent with any code of fair play for men who are regularly employed and living on tax money, partly contributed by the same men who are displaced and who are at best employed only two or three days a week, to interfere with the regular employment of the funeral driver. H. S. MARTIN.

THE WEATHER FORECAST.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—One way our government can economize is to get rid of a few of our weather prophets. I cannot remember when ours in this city ever guessed right. Why should we be paying them for something we can do as well ourselves? E. E.

HOWARD SAVAGE GIVES SUPPORT TO CARLSTROM

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Howard P. Savage, past national commander of the American Legion, announced his support yesterday of Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom for governor in the Republican primaries. The action stirred more than usual interest among the politicians. Two years ago, as a candidate for county treasurer, Savage had as his chief organization sponsor George F. Harding, who is now Gov. L. L. Emmerson's Cook county leader.

HOWARD P. SAVAGE.

Emmerson's pick for governor is Omer N. Custer of Galesburg, twice state treasurer and chairman of the state tax commission.

"Emmerson should withdraw his candidate," said the Savage announcement. "He should demonstrate his appreciation to the people for the 16 years of state service that they have given him.

Cites Carlstrom Withdrawal.

"He should support the man who had the courage and the foresight and the interest of the people at heart to withdraw three years ago so that Emmerson could be elected.

"Oscar Carlstrom is the only candidate announced in the Republican primary who can win the November election.

"The people are demanding a new order of things from the Republican party. Nothing can be hoped for by continuing the rule of the statehouse crowd."

Discord Among Republicans.

Mutterings of mutiny broke out yesterday among the "harmonized" Harding-Crowe-Emmerson-ex-city hall Republicans. Word last night was that some of the west side battlers may meet today at Garfield park refectory with blood in their respective eyes. One item is expected to be the question of whether a hole should be pushed in the so-called "harmony" slate by indorsing State's Attorney John A. Swanson for renomination. The Deneen group, which has kept out of the "harmony" movement, has indicated it will indorse Swanson on its slate.

The big fuss is over "leadership." After the councils at Springfield it was generally said that Eden T. Brekke, committeeman of the 37th ward, was to be recognized as west side leader. In the "harmony" slate making, however, Brekke was pushed out of this place by Robert E. Crowe, ex-state's attorney, who seemed to have rounded up most of the west side committeemen, and Crowe's friend, Judge Michael Feinberg, was put atop of the slate for state's attorney.

Some of the west side Emmersonians are now talking of recognizing Brekke, who is on the west park board, as leader. For some of the committeemen the tie that binds is the park pay rolls, and conjectures last night were that the Harding-Crowe-Emmerson "harmony" may be openly cracked, if not split, by feuds among the "harmonizers" themselves.

Stratton Opens Drive.

William J. Stratton, secretary of state, put his petitions into circulation yesterday as a candidate for renomination. He says he will run on the record he has made in the last three years in the office.

A boosters' club has been formed in the interests of Samuel Micon as a Democratic candidate for municipal judge. He has been a practicing lawyer for 25 years.

James H. Poage of the firm of Cannon & Poage has announced his candidacy for municipal judge on the Democratic ticket. For the last five years he has served as assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner, and for seven years he was a master in chancery.

Democrats Debate Slate.

The Democratic county slate makers met yesterday, but after long deliberation over the names presented at the recent county committee meeting, did not get to the point of voting on any office. For state's attorney, the chief position at stake, the chief contenders were reported as Judge John P. McGoorty, Judge Michael L. McKinley, and Judge Joseph Burke, the lead still being held by McGoorty. The slatemakers will meet again late today, and the meeting of the county committee set for tomorrow has been postponed until Monday.

The subcommittee on state slate is to meet today. Judge Henry Horner of the Probate court appears to hold his place as favorite for governor on the slate. Others entered are Francis X. Busch, former corporation counsel; Clayton F. Smith, county recorder and managing chairman; Michael L. Igoe, minority leader at Springfield and national committeeman, and Bruce A. Campbell of Belleville and East St. Louis. Leaders still say the prospects are for a primary battle, with Igoe contesting against the groups led by Mayor A. J. Cermak. Edward J. Barrett, state treasurer, is regarded as the agreed candidate for auditor and Senator Thomas J. Courtney is leading for attorney general. The state treasurership may go down state.

Roosevelt Is Favored by Pennsylvania Democrats

Lewistown, Pa., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Although indorsing no candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, Democrats of the 18th congressional district last night favored Franklin D. Roosevelt for the nomination by a vote of 25 to 2. It was understood the members attending the conference here had been instructed not to indorse any candidate because of the few possibilities in the field at present. The vote was taken merely to express the present preference, it was announced. Delegates to the national convention were not named.

LONG BACK HOME, PESTERS BANKS FOR 35 MILLIONS

Puts Spike in Roosevelt Support Hopes.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Senator Huey P. Long returned to Louisiana today and immediately assumed the prerogatives of governor.

He called a meeting of bankers and held long conferences with them in an effort to sell $35,000,000 worth of road bonds in order to try to keep from discharging 2,000 highway employés and from stopping all road construction in the state.

It is understood the bankers and financial interests are wary about advancing money on these bonds against which $12,000,000 promissory notes have already been drawn.

They argue that it would be dangerous to float these bonds, even if they could be sold at par, which the state requires, while Dr. Paul N. Cyr is contesting the seat of Gov. King.

Plans to Commute.

That the senator intends to keep an iron hand on political developments in Louisiana was indicated by several of his friends who declared that he was negotiating for an airplane, with which he intended to commute between Washington and Louisiana. Long laughs this off by saying he had no money to maintain an airship and didn't know where he was going to get it.

Coincident with the arrival of Senator Long, his brother, Julius Long, Shreveport attorney, said: "Huey and O. K. Allen fled from Louisiana immediately after it was found out that the highway department was in such financial straits. Huey, in his campaign for Allen, did not tell the people that millions in debts had been piled up. There's no telling what the highway department owes since its orgy of spending in successful effort in building up a political machine."

"Allen and Huey have wrecked the highway program in Louisiana and they had to elect Allen to cover up. There has been more lack of judgment, more rascality and graft in that highway department under Allen than ever took place in any department in this state since its beginning."

Spikes Roosevelt Hopes.

Senator Long put the quietus on any effort to secure the Louisiana delegation for Roosevelt today when he told his followers that under no circumstances could Roosevelt be elected and that he still favored Robinson, Harrison or Garner. He also said that Newton Baker had a good chance, but Roosevelt never. He said he liked Baker because Baker was attorney for the Cleveland baseball club in which he, Long, is a stockholder.

Senator Long made it clear today that while the Louisiana delegation will go to the Democratic national convention in favor of him, Long, for President, that he does not take his chances at all seriously.

ROB TEN IN CAFE.

Two gunmen invaded the Mid-City Food shop at 3325 West Jackson boulevard and robbed Henry Levine, the owner, and nine diners of $497 in cash and jewelry valued at $400 early yesterday.

HOOVER PICKS UTAH BANKER FOR POST ON FINANCE CORPORATION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—President Hoover today named Wilson McCarthy of Salt Lake City as the third Democratic director of the reconstruction finance corporation.

The selection of Mr. McCarthy, completing the directorate of seven members, is reported to have been suggested by Senator King [Dem., Utah], and to have had in addition the indorsement of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic senate leader; Senator Glass [Dem., Va.], and Senators Smoot [Rep., Utah], Thomas [Rep., Idaho], and other western senators.

Mr. McCarthy, a banker, lawyer, and stockman, was a delegate to the Democratic national convention at Houston in 1928 and was an active supporter of former Gov. Smith.

Formal organization of the board today, as planned, was prevented by a technicality in the senate rules which will delay the swearing in of Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Harvey C. Couch, and Jesse H. Jones, confirmed yesterday, until next week.

The senate rules require unanimous consent of the senators to be given to dispense with the provision that the President shall not be notified of a confirmation until two executive sessions of the senate have been held. Unanimous consent virtually was taken for granted until the last session brought up the case of Chairman George Otis Smith of the federal power commission. Since the controversy between the President and senators who wished to reconsider the Smith confirmation, Vice President Curtis has dropped the old formula of "and without objection the President will be notified" and has stuck strictly to the letter of the rule.

PICKS 7TH NEGRO YOUTH TO TRY FOR WEST POINT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Theodore E. Moran, Negro, 3711 Rhodes avenue, Chicago, has been named first alternate candidate for admission to the United States military academy by Representative Oscar De Priest [Rep., Ill.], it was announced today by the war department. Moran is the seventh Negro youth to be designated by Representative De Priest this year as a candidate for West Point, six others having been announced several weeks ago.

The department also announced today the candidacy of two other youths from the district represented in congress by Representative James T. Igoe [Dem., Ill.]. These are Joseph S. Angelkas, 2058 West Madison street, Chicago, and Kelton Davis, 1830 South 10th avenue, Maywood, designated as first and second alternates, respectively.

They will take the March 1 entrance examinations for admission to the academy, the department said.

Kansas G. O. P. Committee Indorses Hoover, Curtis

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The Kansas Republican state central committe unanimously indorsed the administration of President Hoover and Vice President Curtis today and pledged them support for renomination and reëlection. The committee decided to hold the state convention at Topeka March 8 to select delegates to the Republican National convention.

BOSTON MAYOR LISTS BAY STATE FOR ROOSEVELT

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will have the support of the entire Massachusetts delegation for the presidential nomination at the Democratic national convention in Chicago, it was predicted that former Gov. Alfred E. Curley of Boston.

Mayor Curley, a Roosevelt enthusiast, made the forecast after a luncheon conference in the executive chamber with Mr. Roosevelt. He also predicted that former Gov. Alfred E. Smith will not oppose Mr. Roosevelt for the Massachusetts delegation.

Instead, Mr. Smith probably will make one of the nominating speeches for Mr. Roosevelt at the Chicago convention, the mayor said.

The mayor asserted Mr. Roosevelt offers a solution of the nation's economic problems.

"What's the use of talking about giving the people beer when they want bread?" queried the mayor, apparently relegating prohibition to a secondary place among the issues.

Leech of Pennsylvania Resigns from Congress

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Representative J. Russell Leech [Rep., Pa.] today resigned from congress. He was recently appointed by President Hoover and confirmed as a member of the board of tax appeals. He began his congressional service in the 70th congress and was reëlected to the 71st and 72d congresses.

CLOSED OAK PARK BANK MAY MAKE PAYMENT SOON

With the beginning of hearings to discover assets of the Central Oak Park Savings bank, which closed on July 26, 1930, with deposits of $100,000, the receiver yesterday announced that a 50 per cent payment probably would be made soon. The payment awaits settlement of the $150,000 claim of Mrs. Wilhelmina Keebler, leaseholder of the bank's property. A master in chancery has already ruled against Mrs. Keebler and affirmation of the ruling by Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg, who is conducting the hearings, will result in the distribution of some $50,000 to depositors.

The Wiersema State bank, 11106 South Michigan avenue, was closed yesterday by State Auditor Oscar Nelson at the request of the board of directors. The bank's deposits of $3,500,000 in June, 1930, had dwindled to $985,000.

NINE INDIANA BANKS CLOSE VOLUNTARILY TO PROTECT DEPOSITS

Warsaw, Ind., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Nine banks of Kosciusko county voluntarily suspended business today following an all night meeting of the County Bankers association. The purpose of the closing is to protect legitimate deposits against withdrawals by panicky depositors, it was announced. The banks are all solvent, according to Grant Willis, president of the bankers' association.

The banks, it was said, will be reopened when depositors have signed waivers or agreements which will protect deposits against withdrawals. Thomas Barr, state banking commissioner, met with the bankers here tonight and tomorrow will address a mass meeting at the Methodist church. He approved the action taken by the Kosciusko banks.

The banks closed are in Warsaw, Milford, Leesburg, North Webster, Pierceton, Claypool, and Silver Lake.

FLOODS IN DELTA COUNTRY CALLED THE WORST EVER

Widespread Destruction Reported.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The most disastrous flood in the history of the Mississippi delta. The present overflow is so described by Adj. Gen. Ray Fleming, who has just returned from the flooded area, where five refugee camps already are in operation, with the prospects that others will be necessary to handle the increasing number of those driven from the lowlands.

The Red Cross and the coast guard are combining forces in bringing out the refugees and caring for them, while an increasing army of workmen at points in Louisiana, Mississippi and in Arkansas is battling to save the remaining levees. And as the battle goes on more and more of the protective dikes are crumbling under the hammering of the rising waters.

At New Orleans today the weather bureau forecast that the Ouachita river at Monroe would rise to 49.4 by Feb. 2, .3 of a foot above the all-time high level reached in 1874, almost 50 years ago.

Ten New Levee Breaks.

In the Mississippi delta a dozen towns are near inundation, with the little town of Colfax entirely cut off from communication with the outside world. Ten new breaks in the Atchafalaya drainage district permitted waters from the Yazoo river to pour over 75,000 acres of the delta's richest lands between Belzoni and Yazoo City.

Territory around Glendora, where heavy damage was done while that was the heart of the flood area, is coming out of the mud a little, with the danger points transferred to other places. Farm lands are still inundated and there is little possibility of spring planting.

The damage has been done this year not by the Mississippi river itself, but by its tributaries, the Red, the Ouachita, the Atchafalaya and the St. Francis, with the myriad bayous of the delta country adding their damage to the terrific whole. Famous old plantations have been virtually wiped out and planters face a year of privation and destitution.

The Negro and white tenant farmers have been the hardest hit, for they have depended on their little gardens and on the money paid them by the "big houses" for their farm work. With no money in the "big houses" and their little gardens wiped out by the swirling waters they face a year of destitution.

Two Drown in Kentucky.

Danville, Ky., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Two members of one family were drowned today at Ellisburg, 15 miles south of here, when flood waters swept through their home following a cloudburst.

The dead are John Russell, 66, and Alice Grubb, 6.

ILLINOIS MINERS ASK CONCESSION AT CONVENTION

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Made confident of his complete control of the convention by several test votes and supported 100 per cent by international officers, John L. Lewis, Springfield, Ill., president of the International Mine Workers of America, sat alternately calm and scornful through the fourth day of the union's thirty-second convention, while delegates fiercely battled about his record here today.

Insurgent delegates, principally from district No. 12, Illinois, fought vainly for a truce with the Lewis administration whereby it would grant so called home rule to the district in return for abandonment of the court injunction which now restrains international union activities in Illinois.

The insurgents who two years ago indignantly withdrew from the union's convention here and met in rump session at Springfield, today offered to drop their quarrel and recriminations if Lewis would permit them to name their own district officials and to control affairs of local unions within the districts.

An amendment to the constitution of the union will be necessary if the insurgents have their way, and it was indicated tonight that Lewis would ask the convention to demand withdrawal of district twelve's injunction proceedings.

GIVEN 30 DAYS FOR REFUSING TO AID SEABURY QUIZ

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—State Senator John A. Hastings Brooklyn adviser of Mayor James J. Walker, today was adjudged in contempt of the Hofstadter committee by Supreme Court Justice Peter A. Hatting and sentenced to serve thirty days in jail. The sentence, however, will not take effect until the Court of Appeals, on Feb. 8, has threshed out the constitutional questions involved in the Hastings case.

The decision was regarded as of great importance to the city-wide investigation. Samuel Seabury, the counsel who has fought the Hastings matter through in spite of court writs and the obstruction of the Democratic members, has insisted that Hastings is a witness who could testify to matters of gravity regarding the city administration.

The contempt judgment is based on Hastings' refusal to obey a summons issued by the committee.

Earlier in the day a resolution dismissing Hastings' complaint to the bar association against Seabury was filed by the grievance committee of the bar association. It found the charges "wholly vague and insufficient" and "not filed in good faith," and carried an implied rebuke to the senator.

12 Dry Law Prisoners Will Be Given Hearing

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Eleven men and one woman charged with violating the federal prohibition law were taken to Indianapolis today for hearing before Judge Robert Baltzell, who has been sending prisoners to jails other than those in their own county.

BOY HURT BY AUTO, ONCE CALLED DEAD, WINS DAMAGE SUIT

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—An automobile accident victim, who was pronounced dead by a Fordham hospital physician and subsequently revived, received $10,000 for his injuries in a verdict opened in the Bronx Supreme court today. Steve Masdis, 12 years old, of the Bronx, won the award from Harry Sachs of Richmon Hill, Queens, driver of the automobile. Masdis' father, John, was awarded $1,000 additional for loss of his son's services.

The accident occurred July 29, 1929, in the Bronx. The boy, then 9 years old, was knocked down and run over by Sach's automobile. Sachs, the evidence showed, then backed the car over the boy's prostrate body. He was taken to Fordham hospital and pronounced dead. The father was making arrangements for the funeral when a physician observed one of the boy's legs moving and revived him.

ST. LOUIS WIDOW SUES ESTATE OF A RICH BACHELOR

Says He Promised Her Half a Million.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Anna Hamilton, 36 year old widow, today filed suit for $500,000 against the estate of Nathan Frank, alleging that Frank failed to keep a promise to bequeath her that sum.

The promise was made, she alleges, after she agreed, at Frank's urging, not to remarry and to afford him the companionship of herself and her two children.

Frank, wealthy lawyer, real estate owner and former congressman, died April 5, 1931, at the age of 79 years. He was a bachelor and left the bulk of his estate to relatives, friends, and associates. No provision whatever was made in the will for Mrs. Hamilton.

J. M. Feigenbaum, attorney for Mrs. Hamilton, said that she first met Frank in a beauty shop, which Frank regularly patronized.

After the meeting, the petition states, Frank became friendly with Mrs. Hamilton and her two children, then 5 and 3 years old, and told Mrs. Hamilton that he desired the companionship of herself and her children.

Persuaded Not to Marry.

Frank said that having no children of his own, he desired to help educate the children and promised, according to the petition, to place them in a private school, pay for their tuition and board, and have them visit him at his home when not in school.

"In the early part of January, 1932," the petition continues, "Mrs. Hamilton advised Frank that she contemplated marriage. He requested her not to remarry, saying he did not want to lose her companionship and that of her children," the petition avers.

"He promised that if she would refrain from marrying and permit him to have the companionship of herself and her children, he would provide for her as long as he lived, pay for the eduction of the children and bequeath her $500,000 which she would receive on his death.

Fails to Keep Agreement.

"Three years after the agreement was made, he ceased to provide for the education and support of the children and gave her small sums for her support, but up to the time of his death, he reiterated his promise to provide for her in his will in accordance with the agreement.

"After the will was filed, Mrs. Hamilton learned that Frank had not provided for her. She herself faithfully carried out every provision of the agreement and it would be inequitable and unconscionable for specific performance not to be enforced against the estate."

TEAR GAS FLOODS BANK AS GUARD SHOWS OFF BOMB

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A guard employed by the Bank of New York and Trust company in Wall street today attempted to demonstrate a tear gas bomb to fellow employés. He did and the ground floor corridor was quickly flooded by the gas. Creeping up the elevator shafts the gas brought tears to the eyes of tenants as high as the fifteenth floor. A crowd gathered quickly in the street as red-eyed, choking men and women rushed from the building.

Mount Carmel, Ill., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Sentences of one year to life at Pontiac reformatory were given Harold Hawkins, 19; Leo Pierson, 20, and Roy French, 16, for robbing the Allendale bank of $10,000 last Dec. 24. The youths pleaded guilty.

BOOKS

Daugherty Book Calls Harding Slander's Victim

Takes Up Charges Made by Other Authors.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Inside Story of the Harding Tragedy," by Harry M. Daugherty in collaboration with Thomas Dixon. [Churchill.] Published Jan. 27.

THE title of this volume might quite as well have the word Harding interchangeable with Daugherty, for it is as much the story of the tragedy of the political career of its co-author as it is of that fe rociously attacked President of the United States.

From its pages there emerge two men viciously and wrongfully attacked by their political enemies, uncomplainingly sacrificing themselves for the good of their country.

What is of intense interest to the book reading world [that has an interest in the matter at all] is not so much the proof of the patriotism and judicial integrity of the attorney general as the wiping off of the mud from the image of the President. While the mud slinging was going on he contented himself with curt denials of the facts, but with no elaborations of the reasons why those "facts" were not exact. Now he calls them unequivocally lies and sets down his reasons in no uncertain terms.

"That Warren Harding's name should have been dragged through the mire since his death by a pack of wolves and jackals is an accident of the passions of a tragic era of reconstruction," he says.

Daugherty spares neither names nor violence when he discusses the books which have been published besmirching the name of President Harding. Of the first of them, a novel called "Revelry" [though Mr. Daugherty does not mention its title], he says: "A more stupid and malignant lie was never circulated about a public official within my knowledge of American history." And he concludes: "It is a disgrace to American literature."

Of Nan Britton's story of her alleged love life with Harding and of the child born of that union, Mr. Daugherty says "FAKE" is written "over every page of the book." He writes: "Without hesitation I say that I never heard of her, nor heard her name spoken until the appearance of the book, 'The President's Daughter.'"

Daugherty describes in detail the last hours he spent with Harding before the President left for Alaska in which Harding drew up a new will and discussed at length and very solemnly the future of every one he loved and who was dependent on him in any way. Mr. Daugherty says that Harding had a passion for children and it would have been inconceivable that if there had been a child he would have left it unprovided for when such provision could easily have been made outside the actual will.

The third anti-Harding book, "The Strange Death of President Harding," written by Mrs. Dixon Thacker, in collaboration with Gaston B. Means, Daugherty points out, has been repudiated by its author. Daugherty tells in detail about the last days of President Harding, to silence completely the fantastic story that the President's death was not due to illness.

It is only because readers of books will ask what Daugherty says about the Harding "literature" that I have devoted this review to that phase of the volume rather than to the one which is infinitely more interesting —his inside story of how Presidents are made and how they operate. Mr. Daugherty was the intimate friend of Harding for thirty years; was responsible for his nomination; was a right hand man in the election, and during the administration Harding took few important steps without consulting his old friend, his attorney general.

The President died without knowing that disgrace was to fall on any of his friends, except Col. Charles R. Forbes, as director of the veterans' bureau, Daugherty says, and he spends pages explaining why he charges that the statement was false which President Hoover made at the dedication of the Harding memorial in Marion, O. Mr. Hoover hinted that Harding's death was hastened by the "dim realization that he had been betrayed by a few of the men whom he had trusted." Mr. Daugherty says: "It is an accident that this book appears on the approach of the presidential convention of 1932," and adds that he believes Mr. Hoover "is entitled to a renomination. The party would stultify itself to refuse it."

As vividly as in any book of current political reminiscenes, Mr. Daugherty pictures the intrigue, the pettinesses, the revenges, the slanderings, the cruelties, the lies and even the murders [mental if not actual] done in the name of politics. The book is written with a naïve and disengaging frankness, with, at times, perhaps a little overcertain attitude of righteousness, but with a keen eagerness to clear the memory of a friend, and the memory of a political era, as well as to state his own apologia. Mr. Daugherty seems honestly [even if a bit naïvely] to believe that Harding, the man he made President, was, as he writes: "A modern Abraham Lincoln whose name and fame will grow with time."

Mr. Daugherty's collaborator is the well known author of "The Birth of a Nation," "The Clansman," etc.

NEW BRITISH AUTHORS ARE TO BE DISCUSSED IN SERIES OF BOOKS

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON. — [Special Correspondence.]—What seems to be an interesting new batch of the Modern Writers' series is promised for the current season; and the books about Mrs. Virginia Wolff by Miss Winifred Holtby, James Joyce by Louis Golding, and John Masefield by Gilbert Thomas should all be good reading. Miss Holtby is one of the ablest women writers in England, clear headed, rather hard, full of energy and intelligence. She is one of the active forces in Lady Rhondda's weekly review, "Time and Tide," which is edited by E. M. Delafield.

Mr. Golding is a novelist of talent and great variety, Mr. Gilbert Thomas a poet and journalist of much experience. These three subjects, moreover, are of greater immediate interest than those to whom the first volumes of the series were devoted; for Mr. Masefield, although now set aside by highbrow critics, continues unaccountably to flourish [his new book of poems is one of the best sellers of the moment in London]; Mr. Joyce, incomprehensible in his later installments of "Work in Progress" must be recognized as a leading influence in current literary theory; and Mrs. Woolf, with "The Waves" upon every table in Bloomsbury and Chelsea, calls for early inclusion in a series dealing with living authors.

George Thomas' "A Tenement in Soho" is going to receive much attention from the critics, for it is a novelty. The nearest thing to it that I know [there is only a very superficial similarity] is Barbellion's "Journal of a Disappointed Man," but "A Tenement in Soho" is good enough to justify the attention it will receive. It is the diary of a young man who is suffering from muscular atrophy, as are two of his four brothers and sisters. They are the children of a dustman, and live in the heart of London. Having taken several courses of adult education, Mr. Thomas, at the age of 27, has in spite of his affliction a life of great intellectual activity. He is also shrewd and perceptive; and the book is a document of high class. It is guaranteed as to authenticity by Mr. John Oxenham, the romantic writer, whose little devotional verses had in England, during the war, a perfectly inexhaustible appeal to the community. But indeed it needs no external guarantee, for the note of truthfulness is unmistakable. Also, "A Tenement in Soho" is humorous, for the author has had to adapt himself to a life of stillness, and without humor that would have been almost impossible.

There is a new and important biography of Dostoevsky. This has been written by Mr. E. H. Carr, who has made full use of the new Dostoevsky material which has gradually filtered through to those who are interested in the great Russian writer.

Alert Readers Setting Authors Faster Pace

Writers Driven to Clew Scrambling, It's Said.

BY MORTIMER QUICK.

THE truth of the matter is that readers of mystery stories have become so numerous and astute that writers of mystery stories are put to it to baffle them. This has resulted in a sort of ethical degeneration. No longer does the ordinary writer deny himself misleading clews and incredible endings. In panicky z l he hurls anything and everything to ravening readers who, to date, gulp the morsels eagerly. But it can't go on for long. Thirty-sev.. more ridiculous solutions and I, for one, return to biography and fairy stories.

Well, anyhow, Eden Phillpotts has written a serious and substantial book called "A Clue in the Stars" [Macmillan], and, my stars, what a clew. To make up for its tenuous qualities he has scattered suggestions and innuendoes of the first water throughout the book's considerable length and not one of them seems to lead to anything. But they make rather interesting reading and send you skirmishing after Jekyls, Hydes, gypsies, and degenerates. And certainly until the ultimate chapter you'll never guess who dealt the foul blow.

In contrast is "The Sweepstake Murders," by J. J. Connington [Little Brown] who can usually be counted upon to steer a thrilling course to a wholly just conclusion. The theme is one of those miraculous shares in the great horse races of England that bring dizzy fortunes to astonished plumbers, charwomen and arctic explorers. In this case the ticket is divided into many parts and what it does to its participants will surprise you. "The Sweepstake Murders" is a thoroughly good detective story that runs true to form and in the best tradition. It is as neatly woven as a fish net and leaves you surprised but satisfied.

J. S. Fletcher has returned to his earlier manner in "Murder in the Squire's Pew" [Knopf], and made a very good job of it. It is one of those two and two makes four kind of books that opens with one jolt and ends with another, and the old hand at detective stories will be very pleased with it.

Another old reliable is Freeman Wills Crofts, who comes to bat with "Sudden Death" [Harper's], a good mystery of the type whose solution seems obvious, but is really obscure. You are very suspicious of a number of people, so suspicious, in fact, that you suspect they must be innocent. If I were to pick a flaw in the story I would say that Mr. Croft's character drawing doesn't quite lead up to his dénouement. The killer never by [his] [her] [its] look or man.er gives [his] [her] [its] self away, which isn't really quite cricket. But it is an excellent story told with some distinction.

"Nothing Venture" [Lippincott], by Patricia Wentworth is one of those novel-like stories that combines a semi-mystery with a charming love story. It sets forth a perfectly impossible series of coincidences and events in such a way that for the duration of the book you are convinced of their plausibility. But one of the minor mysteries of the British mystery story is where the authors find the names they bestow upon incidental Americans. Miss Wentworth has christened one Fazackerly! Now, really——.

Dornford Yates' "Safe Custody" isn't exactly a mystery story and in no sense a detective story, but it rattles through a series of complicated adventures that will please admirers of Rudolph Razendyl, Mr. Brewster of the "millions," and Douglas Fairbanks.

If you can't put a mystery story down unfinished, and yet have a conscientious conviction that your other duties should be discharged, short mystery stories should be your salvation. Dorothy L. Sayers, who writes such awfully good ones herself, has compiled a "Second Omnibus of Crime" [Coward-McCann], which contains pages and pages of excitement. Like last year's volume, it is divided into stories of detection, mystery, and horror, every one distinguished of its kind. Don't miss the introduction by Miss Sayers. It reviews briefly and aptly the recent development of the literature of crime. She divides nicely the different genres and claims for the best of their kind a real literary quality and importance.

Each story, she says, is evolved from one central idea, around which the plot must grow: not any plot, but one that suitably, logically, and entertainingly clothes the idea. She claims that the central idea springs from inspiration, but that the details must be worked out "in a mood of calm and almost scholarly leisure." She feels that it is harder to write a good short mystery story than a good long one, and more wasteful, because the same idea, expanded, will make either one or the other, and in the long story characterization and elaboration of detail give reality and form. Her pronouncement that the detective writer has a more difficult task than the author of the "straight" novel will meet with the agreement of all thoughtful readers of detective stories.

In the "Best American Mystery Stories of the Year 1932" [Day] Carolyn Wells has done for America what Miss Sayers has done for England and has been able to pick an excellent group of short tales. Her very short introduction agrees in many particulars with Miss Sayers'. Miss Wells thinks that the plot is the thing, and that most readers of detective stories prefer good plots with "worthy technical workmanship to finer writing glossing an inferior plot." But she agrees that the literature of crime is being newly presented with "charm and lure."

Assured by two experts that it is literature, our passion for detective fiction may now be aired.

Get New Examples of George Gissing's Early Written Work

There lately have been some interesting discoveries of George Gissing's early work. Messrs Mabbott and Hastings have done some sleuthing, starting with a few hints from Gissing's autobiographical "New Grub Street," and have been rewarded with several lost stories of his.

"Brownie," a short story, was found in the files of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and appeared during the year Gissing spent in America, a miserable year for the young man. This story is signed.

Three other stories unsigned, but almost indubitably sketches that were later contributions of his, were also found in the files of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. "Brownie" was published by the Columbia University Press.

The editors and discoverers of these hitherto lost stories do not claim for them great literary qualities, but say that they indicate the growth and evolution of George Gissing as a literary artist.

Dr. W. A. Pusey Tells About Father's Country Practice

Dr. William Allen Pusey, a well known skin specialist of Chicago, has written a short biography of his father, Dr. R. B. Pusey, who was a general practitioner in Elizabethtown, Ky.

The book is called "A Doctor of the 1870's and '80s" [Thomas]. This book is really more than an appreciation of the author's father; it is a study of the medical profession in the latter part of the 19th century.

The Dr. Pusey described was a country doctor, and though the field has been romanticized and fictionized the conditions of this life remain fascinating simply as fact. The long rides over the countryside in a backless and topless buggy at all hours and in all weather, the crude surgical instruments, the methods of treating patients, all contribute to a picture of an era gone forever.

Mrs. Gladys H. Bevans Tells Daily How to Guide Children

The Charming Cheat

By Clara Sharpe Hough

SYNOPSIS.

Ricardo Dane visits New York in search of his aunt, Miss Filomena Stanley, his mother's half sister. Ricardo's mother had recently died and left him heir to the ranch and mountain land in Romeu Valley, Cal., where he had spent most of his life. He intended to find his sole remaining near relative and bring her back to Romeu Valley to spend her remaining days. He had understood this to be his mother's dying wish. His aunt, an actress, had been out of favor with the family, although his mother had sent her checks.

Ricardo calls at the New York address of Miss Filomena Stanley and finds not the ancient aunt he'd expected, but a beautiful young aunt. He arrives in the midst of a cocktail party, staged by Filomena and her roommate, Frances, a Follies girl, in their Bohemian studio. He stayed for the party and meets Filomena next day to talk everything over at luncheon. Ricardo finds taking care of his aunt an enjoyable task. His arrival was fortunate for Filomena, who was in a sad state financially, having been out of work for weeks. Filomena moves into a larger apartment and Ricardo takes more modest quarters in the same building on another floor. Being a Stanley of Romeu, Ricardo insists Filomena should know how to ride a horse, and gives her a piano as a reward for endeavoring to learn. Webster Sutton, a college friend of Ricardo's from San Francisco, visits New York for a few days. He invites Eunice Greenway, a friend from home, who is studying in New York, to the theater and also asked Ricardo and his aunt. They visit a night club later.

INSTALLMENT VI.

DISAPPROVAL.

While Filomena was dancing with Fleming the waiter arrived with various dishes of food with which he completely covered the little table, and Ricardo and Eunice and Web had to decide what to do with it.

Filomena saw a man she knew across the room, and waved to him. He arrived beside her just as Ricardo and Web came back from the bar, discussing the merits of the whisky with befitting gravity.

"Ricardo, it's Happy," proclaimed Filomena shrilly above the dance music that was beginning. "You remember Happy? Of course you do!"

"Sit down," urged Web, hospitably. "Sit down, everybody. You're blocking the road. Filomena has to dance with me now."

"Filomena has to dance with me," objected Happy, whose other name, it was discovered, was Fleming.

When Filomena came back, lured by the sight of plates and glasses, Web was eating her sandwich. She shrieked protest and succeeded in wresting from him an undamaged half. Fleming agreed to use the anchovies, and Ricardo, pushing aside his empty plate, obligingly began on the meringue glace.

"That boy's an ostrich," said Filomena; "he'll eat anything."

It was a perfectly successful evening, in every one's mind. It was almost 3 o'clock when they were on the sidewalk in the cold.

Then Fleming took Filomena by one arm and Web took her by the other and they literally pushed her into a taxi, leaving Ricardo and Eunice to take possession of the next one.

Ricardo's essay at singing a little song and his attempt to embrace Eunice both were quashed definitely by Eunice almost as soon as they began. They rode in silence for some blocks.

"It's queer you should find your aunt at all," remarked Eunice.

"Not so very queer," returned Ricardo practically, "it's an odd name.

There would hardly be more than one person named that. I hadn't been in town a week before I had her address."

"She seems so young to be any one's aunt," commented Eunice, "but perhaps she's older than she looks?"

"No, she isn't. She was born the year of the earthquake, so you see she's only——"

"O, just the usual stuff. She's at home, and there hasn't been much going on, I guess."

"I hear quite regularly," returned Eunice. "I should think you'd miss Romeu terribly. I miss California frightfully myself. And you've really had so much more of it to miss, out on that big ranch, than I did, living in town. I should think you'd miss the horses, and——"

"I do miss the horses. We ride here, of course. But it's pretty tame, riding in the park. It doesn't amount to much. Fil's just learning to ride, you see. Funny she'd never ridden before. But if she comes out to Romeu——"

"O, you're going to take her back to Romeu when you go?"

"O, she might come, some day," he returned vaguely, sensing some disapproval or criticism in her tone. Why should he not take darling Aunt Filomena to Romeu Valley if he wished?

Ricardo roused from thoughts of his adorable aunt to say good night to a slightly cool Eunice who refused definitely even to discuss a good night kiss. She was even slightly huffy over it, he fancied, as he walked back to his own rooms, the chill ten blocks that separated them. He whistled happily as he planned entertainment for Web's remaining two evenings in the city. He felt only swelling pride that Web so apparently approved of his selection in aunts.

Web and Eunice came to tea in the apartment two days later. Filomena had insisted on asking them, after the second evening of dancing. Unfortunately several other persons also arrived, more or less by invitation, for tea. Frances, who always fancied herself desired at any possible hour of the day, was in the living room in a nightmarish batiked smock."

Filomena leaped up with swift grace to let in the new arrivals, presented them with self-possession and charm to the others, explaining that Ricardo, who was riding, would be in any minute.

"Now, Jerny, do stop talking for a minute," she urged him, "I want to talk to Ricardo's friends. They've come from California to see him, and I think it's too bad not to let them say a word."

Frances, through her cigaret smoke, asked languidly, "What part of California do you come from?"

"San Francisco," replied Web.

Eunice sipped her tea and said nothing.

Frances said, "Really?" and went on smoking.

"Have a cake, do," Filomena urged, taking the plate to Eunice.

"They're very nice," said Eunice, with moderate enthusiasm, "I don't suppose you make them?"

"No, I can't make anything except waffles," replied Filomena. "Come for breakfast sometime and I'll make you some. We often have them. Ricardo says they're good. They are, too."

"But Dick's an ostrich, you said so yourself," said Web.

Web was growing uneasy and wondering where Ricardo could have got to, when Eunice said suddenly, "You have a nice piano."

When Ricardo opened the door with his own key a few minutes later, the two girls were standing beside the piano with a sheet of music spread before them.

Ricardo greeted everybody and poured his own tea. He wore the breeches and boots in which he had taken a canter around the park, and his hat and whip he had tossed onto a chair as he came in. He did not sit down, but began to discuss with Web the time it would take to get from his hotel to the train.

Eunice seated herself in the low chair before the piano. "What a wonderful—I wish——" Her fingers trailed up and down a broken scale, softly, lovingly.

Music was the chief thing in the world to Eunice. Filomena realized as she watched the girl's face that her own attempts were childish compared to the impetus that kept Eunice at the keyboard. She played with it, that was all. With Eunice it was deadly earnest, plainly. Perhaps she one day would be a great artist. Filomena herself would never be anything.

"Such a touch," said Eunice, glancing up at her. "And the one I practice on——"

"Damned right it was a touch," said Ricardo, pleased with his own wit. "Day she touched me for the piano, knocked a hole in the old bank roll you could drive a truck through. Touch is good."

The others, too, were pleased with this sally and Ricardo poured himself a little more rum, with a drop of tea in it, as they laughed.

Eunice did not laugh. She looked intently at Filomena and down again.

"Ricardo bought the piano," she said then.

"Yes," replied Filomena, "he—yes. I suppose it's his piano, really."

"It's your own piano, little pet," said Ricardo from the tea table, "and you know it is. I've no use for a piano. Only musical instrument I can play is an automobile horn. It's your piano, right enough. You've earned it, you know."

"I'm sure it's your piano," said Eunice, "if you practice on it, and take lessons. And if you——" she broke off abruptly.

"I suppose it is," agreed Filomena uncomfortably. What Ricardo had said did not sound very well to these people, but she did not want to explain now about the horseback riding to Eunice, who was acting as though something had offended her.

Eunice moved away from the piano.

"I think I'll run on home, Web," she said, "if you don't mind. Dick's going to the train with you anyway, isn't he? You know I'm going out to dinner, and it's five now."

"Must you hurry?" asked Filomena politely.

Eunice glanced once in Filomena's direction and then spoke to Ricardo.

Good morning!

First she thought she wanted one man. Then she was sure she cared more for another. By the time she reached her first decision her bluebird was well on its way toward wherever bluebirds go when they get tired of a variable climate. She wooed it back, however—and there's your story. Sleazy yarn at best. Rupert Hughes wrote it.

Carole Lombard looking extraordinarily beautiful as she sashays about Palm Beach wearing clothes that fairly take your breath away—and how she can wear 'em!—gives a sympathetic portrayal of this teeter-totter minded daughter of the rich. Ricardo Cortez is quite likable as the sexy and domineering playboy to whom Penelope is most powerfully drawn for awhile. Paul Lukas is perfect as the grave young doctor who loves the heroine, wins her, loses her, tells her where she gets off, and at last has HIS bluebird eating out of HIS hand. (This review appears to have an ornithic trend.)

You'll get some laughs from George Barbier's characterization of shrewd, crusty, indulgent Papa Newbold and from Virginia Hammond's fluttery, sugary, silly, and pretty Mamma Newbold. Other rôles are handled all right.

"No One Man" has been lavishly staged, and directed with some skill. Safe to say you'll like the players and the background, even if you don't go just wild about the play.

See you tomorrow!

U. of C. Girls Rehearse for Annual Musical Revue

Dress rehearsal was held last night by members of the Mirror, women's drama club on the University of Chicago campus, in preparation for their annual musical revue. The rehearsal was held in Ida Noyes hall. This year's presentation, to be given three times in Mandel hall on Feb. 26-27, has been named "All's Fair." It will depict the change in feminity from 1898 to 1933. Its basic theme will be the 1893 World Fair and the approaching one. Miss Jane Kesner and Miss Barbara Cook are managers of the production.

Mrs. Chas. G. Dawes Sails from England Wednesday

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, wife of former Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, will sail from Southampton for the United States on the Berengaria next Wednesday morning. The Berengaria is due in New York Feb. 9.

CHICAGOANS SAILING

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Among the passengers on the North German Lloyd liner Columbus sailing from here today on a cruise of the Mediterranean were E. S. Beck, managing editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and Mrs. Beck.

L. C. Morris of Chicago was a passenger on the White Star liner Majestic outbound for Cherbourgh and Southampton.

Sunday School Pupils to Help Feed Hungry

Luncheon Fund to Be Their Mission.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

SUNDAY school children of the city who on past occasions have collected their pennies, nickels, and dimes for famine stricken missionary fields in China, India, and elsewhere now will raise money for Chicago's hungry public school children.

The plan developed by the Chicago council of religious education, a branch of the local church federation, was announced yesterday by Prof. W. C. Bower of the University of Chicago. He is chairman of the council. Religious leaders point out that undernourishment seriously retards children's character development; that a child who is denied certain "growth" foods not only suffers physical damage but also grows up under moral handicaps which promise future social problems.

Pastors and superintendents of nearly 1,000 Sunday schools represented in the church federation will receive letters tomorrow from Dr. Bower appealing for a special collection in their schools. The administrative committee of the council asserted this program is of a genuinely religious nature.

Dr. Bower's letter points out that 10,000 Chicago school children are being fed each day at a cost of five cents for each lunch. The fund, administered by Miss Frances L. Swain, director of household arts in the public schools, is being spent at the rate of $3,000 each week and that it will be exhausted by Feb. 1.

The date suggested for the special collection will be Sunday, Feb. 7.

"We presented this need," said Dr. Bower in his letter to the members of the administrative committee of the council, "along with the suggestion that had come from THE TRIBUNE that we invite the Sunday schools of Chicago to take a special offering for this fund in order that they may have a part in this worthy undertaking.

"We feel that this need should be so apparent to the children that many of them would be glad to take care of one child for one day, or even several days, if the matter were presented to them. Will you not take this up with your school at your early convenience? Kindly send your gift to Miss Frances L. Swain, 460 S. State street. She assures us that every dollar received will go for meals for needy school children."

The Sunday school superintendents were requested by Dr. Bower to make the announcement of the special offering tomorrow. This will allow a week for the children to save their pennies, nickels, and dimes for the offering on Sunday, Feb. 7.

PROGRESS OF FUND

As ten thousand children sat down to a hot nourishing lunch in 211 schools, furnished by the Hungry School Children's fund, their teachers wondered yesterday if a similar lunch would be forthcoming on the same day next week.

After Feb. 4 the fund will be near exhaustion, and it is problematical if lunches can be continued. During the last week the contributions have averaged below $100 daily. It costs $500 a day to feed the 10,000 children. Although contributors have been generous, a greater number will be needed to finance the fund over the approaching crisis.

$2.50—"The Family Tree."
$1—A Chicago School Teacher, Anonymous.
Total	3 38.50
Previously acknowledged	33,135.05
Grand total	$33,173.55

LA ARGENTINA

BY HAZEL MOORE.

LA ARGENTINA of the flashing smile and the gloom dispelling personality made her first appearance of the season at Orchestra hall last night in a program of Spanish dances mostly new to Chicago. She may not be the greatest Spanish dancer in the world, but for sheer compelling joy let me recommend the rhythmic fascination of La Argentina's seductive castenets. Their mood is infinite, passing as easily from tempest to calm as Argentina's own expressive face.

Nor does her expression end with face and castenets, for she is vitally alive from head to toe, as much so in the utterly charming "Classic Bolero" as in the graceful clumsiness of the "Malaguena," the "Fish Vendor of Malaga." The latter was repeated and the Bolero should have been. Two dances from the ballet "La romeria de los cornudos" by G. Pittaluga and the "Shawl Dance," and "Dance of Granada" by M. de Falla were new, while the same composer's "Dance of Terror" from the ballet "El amor brujo," a gypsy dance, "Seguidillas" and "La Corrida" were from her more familiar and popular repertoire.

The music of Isaac Albeniz led by a wide margin that of any other composer both in the dances of La Argentina and in the compositions chosen by her able accompanist, Luis Galve, to fill in the interstices of a dancer's program. Particularly well played was the gentle sounding but none too easy "Tango" of Albeniz arranged by Godowsky.

The only drawback in an otherwise entirely charming program was the seemingly inevitable wait in a dancer's program as Argentina changed from one gorgeous costume to the next. This would seem to suggest the advisability of a visual filler for perfect program building. Good news is that La Argentina will return to Orchestra hall on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 6, to delight another audience with her radiance as she mimics the dances of her sunny Spain.

De Paul university's junior promenade, annually the feature of the social season at the university, will be held Friday evening, Feb. 5, at the Medinah Athletic club. This was announced yesterday by Thomas Ryan, co-chairman with John Griffin of the committee on arrangements for the dance. The grand march, in three divisions, will be led by Harold Cherne, who will escort Miss Helen Schwartz; Herman Gaul, who will escort Miss Bernice D. Juhnke, and Thomas Henehan, who will have as his guest Miss Rita De Vry.

BERNICE D. JUHNKE

New Dry Group Arrives Here for Conventions

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The Allied Forces for Prohibition, an organization formed last July by 33 dry groups, making it nonsectarian, reached Chicago yesterday in its battle to regain a nation-wide confidence in prohibition before the national political conventions assemble in June.

Chicago is the 130th city on the Allied Forces' map of 587 "centers of strategy" which will have been visited by June 5 by the organization's campaign speakers. From noon until late last night meetings were held continually at the Congress hotel and at the Chicago Temple in an effort to enlist new members and gather more funds for the remainder of the campaign.

"We are going all over the land, from Brooklyn to Los Angeles, from North Dakota to Tennessee, visiting every capital, every large city, warning all of the crucial test which prohibition will undergo at the approaching political conventions," declared Miss Norma C. Brown, secretary of the Allied Forces. She spoke at a luncheon of women at the Congress hotel, and again at the Chicago Temple massmeeting.

"We are taking to people everywhere the message of hope that this nation of ours will rise to meet the test. We have no time, however, for a frenzied attack on our opponents. We have quite enough to do if we present our own case—that of supporting the eighteenth amendment.

"My own faith in the penetrating power of this campaign was strengthened the other night by a thing I saw in a Little Rock, Ark., meeting. I was speaking in a high school and down on the front row I saw five men in overalls. They were unshaven—men of hard toil.

"I found that four of the five men had walked ten miles to the home of the fifth, where they had driven a dilapidated automobile thirty miles to the meeting. When they left they asked for literature to take back to their neighbors — Arkansas mountaineers. And that is how our cause is penetrating our country's out of the way places."

"I have no stone to fling at winemakers in France or beermakers in Germany, but I am interested in our newspapers and politicians who talk about 100 per cent Americanism and at the same time do their utmost to break down the eighteenth amendment.

"Some of our lovely society ladies declare themselves deeply concerned with the effect of prohibition upon our youth. But making liquor cheaper and easier to get will not better our youth. No lovely lady or gentleman high in the business world is ever going to win honorable gain by winning legal booze back to the United States.

"We are going to finish our job, and when June comes and the job is done we hope to have organized an army ready for both conventions. If our conventions nominate the man who will not try to enforce prohibition, then we'll have a great deal to say and some of you will have to do some of the saying. We are organized on fighting ground and we expect to work until the liquor traffic is as dead as slavery."

Today a luncheon will be held at the Palmer house in honor of Dr. Daniel A. Poling, editor of the Christian Herald, who will speak on "Shall We Observe Our Laws?" Dr. W. A. Evans of THE TRIBUNE will be toastmaster. Those who will attend will be the Allied Business Men of Chicago, led by Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago.

Star of Movies Finds Another Has His Name

Two Doug Fairbanks Are Introduced.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 29.—Gwili Andre, Danish magazine cover ash blond, who reported to Radio Film studio today from New York, astonished the movie colony by disavowing any aspirations toward movie stardom. She was brought here on a screen contract, but said all she wants to do is carry out her contract satisfactorily. To do that, she intends to stay away from the camera for three months until she has trained herself to be film wise.

Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford attended night court in downtown Los Angeles this week as guests of Municipal Judge Alfred Peaonessa. While there Doug got one of the big thrills of his life, being introduced to another friend of the judge, named Elton Douglas Fairbanks. The latter lives in Pasadena and is exalted ruler of the Pasadena Elks. Doug said the coincidence was startling because his own name is Douglas Elton Fairbanks. He and the namesake could not discover even a remote family relationship. Doug, the actor, uses the name Elton as a nom de plume on some of his pictures in which he is actor, writer and director.

No one would ever think that Ernest Schoedsack, explorer and film director responsible for those striking jungle hits like "Chang," "Grass," and "Four Feathers," launched his career as a camera man for Mack Sennett's comedies. Schoedsack is just back from Asia with all the native footage needed for Paramount's "Bengal Lancer." He brings back with him the impression that the whole of Asia is seething with trouble.

Marie Prevost and Buster Collier are occupying rooms not far from each other at Hollywod hospital. They have their respective nurses running errands and playing jokes on each other, until the surgeons can't hold their instruments for laughing.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

From a young man of 21 one learns that it is much more enjoyable from the male point of view to go about with various girls. The reason advanced by the 21 year old for the taste for girl friends rather than a girl friend is that you avoid that uncomfortable feeling of "being hooked." Also, because you can still remain the judge of where to go on dates. The latter, it seems, is a privilege denied the "hooked." He goes where the girl orders or suggests.

One of the faults of our young social life, I learn from parents and close observers of girls and boys in the teens, is this pairing off of young couples before said young folk have a chance to get around with other companions of the opposite sex. Too, in my department I see every day the influence this system has on young women.

It instills in them at a very early age that hated [by men] sense of ownership, or as "Twenty-one" puts it, the feeling of "being hooked." Being bossed around about dates, and so on. And it does not work out well for future matrimonial dealing. The girl who takes this upper hand young wants to hold it all through life: she wants to order, and dictate, and direct every step of her man's doings.

"Why do model wives—the more model they are, the more they do it—have to be so gallingly, obtrusively assertive of their proprietary rights? Is it any wonder that, after many years, a husband relishes an hour in the company of a woman who will treat him as a human being, not a chattel. Signed, JONES."

Those early years are the fruitful ones in learning the art of friendship, a more valuable matrimonial art than the one Jones alludes to, as you see. Too, those early years are still growing years in matters of affection as well as stature. The girl's ideal at 17 is rarely ever her 21 year old crush, her 23 or 24 year old crush. So that there ought to be more freedom in these young couple arrangements than are currently reported.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Try Persuasion.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl who has a girl friend that is bad company. What can I do? FRANK."

Persuade your girl that she means too much to you to have her subjected to criticism by the friends she keeps.

Antoinette Tells Thin Girls How to Increase Weight

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

An underweight young woman reports that she lost four additional pounds and quit the doctor she consulted about weight-gaining. An unfair procedure both to doctor and girl. It often happens that a little more weight is lost when one is being adjusted to a new food program. Then, a thing few people, fat or thin, take into account is the amount of waste matter stored up in systems that are expunged with a new and improved diet.

So, run right back to your physician, sister, and let him finish the job. If he is a reputable man of medicine he knows what he is doing and he is doing the best thing possible for you. If you can afford to have medical direction when weight gaining is wanted, the luckier you are.

Fat folk can often get along without paying the physician's fee because they know why they are fat just as well as the doctor does. They know they are fat because they have been overeating and lazying around the place. Underweight folk, on the other hand, may have constitutional disorders and very often require expert medical advice.

Correspondent asks if a quarter of a pound of butter daily will help her put on weight. It will. Butter is a grand weight adder. It is easily assimilated and easily used on toast, vegetables, meats, etc. But a quarter of a pound a day is considerable of a quantity for a starter. I should advise half of that to start with, if one has been a squeamish butter user heretofore.

A mixture of milk and cream, four times as much milk as cream, drunk with each meal and between meals, also will do much toward filling out the hollows. And rest. These are three grand things to build up on. Rest to most nervous, highstrung, underweight folk is the most difficult to take. But whether the eyes close in sleep or not, the body should be deposited early at night between the covers and made to remain there until seven in the morning.

And if, in addition, a half hour or an hour can be snatched during the daytime, so much the better. Doctors are now advocating these rest periods immediately after each meal.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MRS. D.: MASSAGE THE FACE and neck every day when you're on a diet; not only when you're on a diet, but before and after dieting. It's the surest way of preserving the skin's youth. You might send for my booklet on neck and face message.

Couldn't Fill the Order.

Soon after I came to America I began clerking in a department store. One day I received the following note:

"Please send me samples of black and blue velvet and oblige."

After reading the note I remarked, "I have the velvet, but I can't find the oblige."

You can imagine my embarrassment on learning the meaning of oblige. V. M.

Prof. Snyder Talks Tonight at N. U. Dinner

Society Group Will Hear His Speech.

AMONG the good friends of Northwestern who have made reservations for the University Associates dinner this evening at the Fortnightly are Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Theophilus Noel II., Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Swift, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Thomason, Miss Marjorie Montgomery Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Hallett W. Thorne, President and Mrs. Walter Dill Scott, Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Greenlee, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Griffin Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Rush C. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Everitt, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Maynard, Prof. Franklyn Bliss Snyder of the Northwestern department of English will give a lecture entitled "From the Professor's Point of View."

Other things on today's calendar include the Budapest string quartet recital at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Arts club, the opening buffet supper of the Contract Whist club at the Drake this evening, and the fashion show of Palm Beach styles tonight at the Opera club.

Twenty months old Mervyn Winston Adams will have her christening party tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, for whom she is named, and Dr. Baum at 1508 State parkway. Little Miss Adams is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams [Janet Lawrence]. Dean Duncan H. Browne of St. James' will officiate, and Mrs. John Lewis Cochran and Mrs. Laurence O. Wilson will be Mervyn's godmothers, and Dr. James Herbert Mitchell will be her godfather.

Mrs. Franklin M. Miller will read some of her plays at a meeting of the Three Arts club tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Women's College Choirs to Be Heard Via Radio.

The Wellesley alumnae in Chicago are all planning to tune in on Monday afternoon to hear that college's choir over the national network of the Columbia system. This will be the first of seven successive broadcasts to be given by the choirs and glee clubs of seven eastern colleges for women. The choirs will sing from 2:45 to 3 o'clock, central standard time, on Monday afternoons, starting next week.

After Wellesley on Feb. 1 will come Barnard on Feb. 8, Radcliffe on Feb. 15, Vassar on Feb. 22, Mount Holyoke on Feb. 29, Bryn Mawr on March 7 and Smith on March 14. Among the Wellesley alumnae in Chicago and the suburbs are young Elizabeth Knode of Hubbard Woods and Elizabeth Patterson of Evanston, who came in to see us to tell us all about the broadcast of their alma mater's choir [they were graduated from Wellesley last June], Louise Conway of Winnetka, Mrs. John Dern, Emily Goehst, Audrey McGrath, and Alice Jacques of Chicago, and Elsie Watkins of Highland Park. Mrs. Francis E. Bromell is president of the Chicago Wellesley club.

Mrs. Robert B. Gregory is entertaining at luncheon next Tuesday at her residence at 1638 Prairie avenue for Miss Helen Anne Wright, who is from the national office in New York of the Girls' Friendly society. The sustaining membership of the society has been invited by Mrs. Gregory to meet Miss Wright. Mrs. Gregory plans to be in Chicago until late spring, when she will go to Geneva, Switzerland, to be near her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Sweetser.

Mrs. P. A. Valentine Plans "Elephant" Sale.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine and Mrs. Oren E. Taft will conduct a reduced price sale at the White Elephant Rummage shop next Wednesday. Assisting them will be Mrs. Secor Cunningham, Mrs. William M. Scudder, Mrs. Eliphalet W. Cramer, Mrs. Knickerbocker Wood, and a few others.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hagey of 2337 Commonwealth avenue are being congratulated upon the birth of a daughter on Jan. 22 at the Passavant hospital. Mrs. Hagey is the former Elinor Whiting and is the daughter of Mrs. A. Harris Whiting and the granddaughter of the J. Hill Whitings and the late Mr. and Mrs. Graham Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Keep (Isabel Scott) are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter, Alice, on Thursday, at the Cambridge hospital at Cambridge, Mass. The baby's maternal grandparents, the Frederick H. Scotts of Hubbard Woods, are visiting the Keeps in Cambridge.

Peggy Hixon and Betty Brooks now have the common bond of appendectomies performed almost simultaneously. Both girls are students at Farmington and both were rushed to the school infirmary about ten days ago for emergency operations. Their respective mothers, Mrs. Robert Hixon and Mrs. Mason Phelps, dashed east to be with them and brought them back to Lake Forest yesterday to continue their convalescence at home.

A note from Rosemary Hall at Greenwich brings news of a Chicago girl, Shirley Logan, who is to play one of the leading characters in the performance of Aristophanes' masterpiece, "Birds," to be given at the school today. Miss Logan is the daughter of Stuart Logan of 2344 Lincoln Park West.

From Phoenix we hear that Mrs. William E. Patterson of Bar Harbor has arrived to spend the rest of the winter with her brother, Jarvis Hunt, and to act as hostess for him in his lovely house there. Also that the George Ludlows of Evanston have taken a house on the Country club grounds for the remainder of the season. Also that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dutton of East Delaware place are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Neil Gates, formerly of Winnetka, at their residence in Arcadia. Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Salisbury are leaving today for Phœnix, and after a stay there they will go to Pasadena to visit the Charles Deere Wimans. Mrs. Welch Dickinson and Mrs. Jefferson Jackson are among the Chicagoans at the Biltmore who plan to go on to Los Angeles later in the season.

Mrs. Adelaide S. Ames of the Ambassador and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Ames, have been at the Huntington in Pasadena for a fortnight and will remain there for an indefinite stay.

Brookline Girl Arrives to See Grandmother.

Miss Alice Means of Brookline arrived yesterday for a month's visit with her grandmother, Mrs. William H. Hubbard of 26 Scott street. Miss Means, who made her debut last winter in Boston, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitman Means and no doubt will be entertained quite a lot in an informal way by the many old friends of her mother, the former Alice Hubbard, and by her relatives here.

Edgar Uihlein and his debutante daughter, Miss Paula Uihlein, will be off in a day or so for a month of life in the saddle at their ranch near Rawlins, Wyo.

Stylish Group Hears Talk on Weapon Curb

As Fashions Recall Days of Court Intrigues.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

TRY HARD as you will to be individual, fashion is nothing but a matter of imitation after all. Take for example the styles, the colors, and the accessories that repeated themselves time and again in the smart audience that assembled yesterday to hear Harold G. Moulton, an economist of Washington, untangle some of the intricacies of disarmament before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

RUTH DE YOUNG.

The council, founded as you may remember by a prominent group of Chicagoans who decided there ought to be a forum "devoted exclusively to the discussion of foreign affairs," celebrates its tenth birthday this year. And most of the charter members, including Victor Elting, William P. Sidley, and Arthur T. Aldis, will take part in the anniversary ceremonies. The council had the late Jacob M. Dickinson, secretary of war in President Taft's cabinet, as its first presiding officer. Today it will have a second "disarmament" luncheon, with James Grafton Rogers, the assistant secretary of state, and Prof. Harry D. Gideonse of the University of Chicago as the speakers and Silas H. Strawn as toastmaster.

But to return to the "style" subject—it was practically a matter of minks, caraculs, and quills yesterday. Of course, there are two perfectly distinct reasons for similarity in fashion, the stigma of being thought queer or outdated, and the desire to assert quality the same as friends. 'Way back in 1775 Marie Antoinette adopted a chestnut brown color for her gowns.

All the long list of historic beauties in whose boudoirs plots were hatched, and in whose perfumed palms kingsdoms rested—Mme. du Barry, the inimitable Ninon de Lenclos, Nell Gwyn, the orange girl of Drury Lane, Mme. de Montespan, and the magnificent Pompadour—swayed for a moment the pendulum of fashion according to their own whims and tastes.

This matter of quills pointed stiletto style from a felt turban had its inception with good Queen Elizabeth, who was the first to use feathers for headdress ornaments. The latest revival of the fashion came last fall, when plumes swept the style world, but, fortunately for the tailored costume, the abbreviated version has since assumed popularity.

Mrs. Barrett Wendell Jr. was wearing a becoming cloche yesterday that used a quill for its only ornament. Others noticed "in quills" and handsome brown and black furs were Mrs. George H. High, Mrs. Benjamin F. Affleck, Mrs. George Richardson, Mrs. Arthur Farwell, Mrs. John T. Pirie Jr., Mrs. Adlai Stevenson, Mrs. Ambrose Cramer, Miss Mildred Wetten, and Mrs. Freeman Hinckley.

Paris Emphasizes Its Shoulder Lines

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The newest shoulder lines for coats and dresses of Paris styles are widened enough to look athletic no matter who wears them, but they are no longer the angular and exaggerated wooden soldier shoulders of our winter coats. The new shoulder lines from Paris have no resort to the wadding that the French couturiers shamelessly stuffed into the winter coats.

They are widened by more subtle devices than cotton batting. Small unstiffened shoulder caps are twisted and braided into the top of raglan sleeves. Parisiennes and exclusive American importers have enthusiastically fallen upon these new shoulder lines and adopted them.

Mainbocher, whose taste is impeccable, and who dresses a great number of the smartest ladies in Paris, created these braided and capped shoulder lines and one of his dresses bearing them is shown in our sketch. It is a coat dress made of dove gray silk serge, completely delustered and looking like woolen. The shoulder caps of this dress which was braided into the collar are clearly shown at the bottom of our illustration.

Lecture Fund Memorial for Mrs. Carpenter

Arts Club Recalls Her Career There.

THE board of directors of the Arts club met yesterday afternoon and adopted the following resolution for the establishment of a memorial fund to the late Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, president for the last fifteen years of the club:

"The Arts club of Chicago, feeling deeply the irreparable loss of Mrs. Carpenter, irreparable not only to the club but to Chicago, has sought some avenue which could best express its understanding appreciation of her service and establish some enduring tribute to that service.

"Our chief concern was that it should embody and give life to the purpose which underlay all of the activities of the club and the work of Mrs. Carpenter; something which would reflect the stimulus and vitality with which she endowed it. The emphasis in the club has always been put on the solution of the more lively and adventurous phases of current art problems, and we realized that whatever form the plan took it should be one that reflected something of this attitude; something likely to enrich all research in this field with a similar energy, something that would continue as a living force.

"The past has given us ample proof that the irrevocable and final interpretation of a period is always to be found recorded in its art. Mrs. Carpenter believed that to clarify and fully appreciate the present and to serve it in terms of our own time was of fundamental importance. She was convinced that no avenue offered so effective a means as that of the living arts. Therefore, paramount in all plans formulated to insure the usefulness of the club, was the idea of making it an effective forum for their expression. We are all aware today of the measure of her success.

"Mrs. Carpenter had vision, courage, and a fine discrimination, which inevitably obtained for and brought to us contentious and desirable performances available in the musical, literary and graphic arts. Those who had the privilege of her intimate acquaintance were alive to the special quality with which she invested all social contact, a rare gift of adorning such moments with gayety and animation, and somehow this precious quality carried through to the larger world of Arts club affairs and gave them their special flavor.

"In grateful acknowledgment of all these gifts of which she was so prodigal, the board of directors in session today have passed a unanimous resolution creating a memorial fund to be known as the Rue Carpenter-Arts Club memorial.

"The income of this fund is to be used exclusively for lectures on all the living arts in their contemporary aspects [architecture, sculpture, music, painting, literature, poetry and drama], thus insuring an ever recurrent effort at intelligent interpretation of problems arising for future generations in the field of the living arts.

"To insure the widest benefits to the city, these lectures, in addition to the club itself, will be made available for, by mutual agreement, certain civic institutions such as the Art institute of Chicago and the Field museum.

"The board of directors chose this form of memorial feeling that it would visualize and make clear to a certain extent the thought and conviction that lay behind the work of the last fifteen years. They concluded that it comes as near being a statement of the Arts club credo and that of Mrs. Carpenter as it is possible to make it."

It also was the unanimous opinion of those at the meeting that the unfilled term of the late president be designated as a period of mourning and that the term of all officers and committees be extended until next November, when the annual meeting will be held. F. J. Reichmann is first vice president of the club.

Noodles—the homemade kind—come to my mind today. And, now that I think of it, we never have said much about them. There are so many interesting ways to use noodles—in ring mold, as a soup accompaniment, fried, escalloped, boiled, and served with buttered crumbs, in timbales, with chicken, or in the form of noodle shells.

There is no trick at all to making them. Why don't we do it more often? Chicken soup with noodles is on the menu for Monday. Make the soup from the chicken left from Sunday's dinner.

To make noodles, first beat the yolks of 2 eggs, add ¼ teaspoon salt, and enough flour to make a stiff dough, about 1 cup. Sprinkle flour on the bread board and roll out the dough as thin as paper. Dust it well with flour. Roll it up closely and shred with a sharp knife as you would cabbage for cole slaw. Toss the noodles up lightly with fingers to separate well and spread them out on the board to dry. When thoroughly dry, put in covered jars for future use. Drop by handfuls into boiling chicken soup 5 minutes before serving.

An interesting version is the fried noodle. It is not difficult to make either, but judging from the number of times we are questioned, the procedure is not familiar to every one.

You all have eaten the crisp noodle nests. Probably with chicken à la king.

First of all, cook the noodles in boiling salted water until tender. Drain them thoroughly. In the meantime have a kettle of deep fat heating, and when it has reached the temperature of 375 degrees F., or thereabouts, drop in the noodles very gently. See that the strands are separated. Cook them until a delicate brown.

Now remove them from the fat with a perforated spoon unless you are using a deep frying basket, allow them to drain for a second, and then curl the strands around quickly into muffin tins or similar molds. It is important to get them in the desired form while still hot, because on cooling the noodles become crisp and brittle.

NOODLE TIMBALES.

2 tablespoons cream.
1 egg.
2 tablespoons melted butter.
½ teaspoon salt.

Line the slightly greased molds with the previously cooked noodles. Cook the milk and bread crumbs ten minutes, add the salmon, which has been pressed through a sieve, and then the rest of the ingredients. Fill this forcemeat into the molds. Put the molds in a pan, half surround with hot water, cover with buttered paper, and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with Hollandaise sauce.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

Wham—there she lays, boys. There's the 5 and 2.

I'm afraid we will have to leave the seven as the particular property of the galloping dominoes. However, in contract bridge, we can do a great deal with the eleven. The rule of eleven is one of great value in this game. By its use we gain an insight into card reading which is usually intriguing to the average player. Yesterday's play-a-problem was a beautiful example of the use of the rule of eleven. This was the hand:

♥—J,5,4

WEST (Dealer) EAST
♠—A,10,9 ♠—Q,J,7
♥—A,K,Q,2 ♥—6,3
♦—8 ♦—K,J,10,5,2
♣—Q,10,8,5,3 ♣—K,7,2

SOUTH
♠—K,8,5,4

West dealt and bid a heart. Now the Official system prefers showing a five card suit before a four. However, in this case the hearts are so very strong and the clubs so very weak in top strength that a variation from the usual procedure would seem to be more than justified. In fact, the clubs probably will not be shown at all except as a last resort. North passed. While North has defensive strength to justify an overcall in diamonds if the overcall could be made with a bid of one, North has not quite enough strength to overcall with a bid of two. East now took out with two diamonds. South passed. West, finding his one weak suit stopped, took out with a bid of three no-trumps, which ended the bidding.

North opened the ♦ 7, dummy played the 2, South the 4, and declarer the 8. West then led the ♣ 3, North played the 9, dummy came up with the K, and South took the trick with the A. South then returned the ♥ 10, which declarer captured with the A. Declarer then took in the ♣ Q and followed with the ♣ 5, which dummy took with the 7. Dummy took the next trick with the ♠ Q and then led the ♠ 7, which declarer captured with the 9. Declarer then took the next five tricks with the ♣ 10, ♣ 8, ♠ A, and the ♥ K and ♥ Q. On the last trick declarer led the ♥ 2, which was taken by South with the 9, East and West making their game and two extra tricks.

Seven from eleven leaves four. And so by application of the rule of eleven the declarer knows that he can win the first lead with the ♦ 8 in his own hand and so plays low from the dummy. At trick two the fall of the ♣ 9 shows that North has nothing smaller and, of course, he can only have two higher. When South captures dummy's ♣ K with the A, declarer is obliged to lead the Q when he gets in. If North does not hold the J the third round will set two clubs up in declarer's hand, even if South has all the other clubs. Since North has the J, the ♣ 7 becomes an entry into the dummy hand which allows that hand to lead the ♠ Q.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S. 3, H. K, etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

Circus Is Broke; Naples Feeds Roaring Lions

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 29.—Regular rations of two horses and one mule per day were guaranteed to 100 hungry lions and 30 tigers of the bankrupt Schneider circus. The animals' roars for food have kept the city of Naples trembling in its boots for five days. It was feared that the ferocious beasts maddened by hunger might break from the cages and start in on the townspeople.

When the circus went bankrupt and could not feed the animals the humane society did its best, but the outstanding funds were quickly exhausted and it was not until today that sufficient contributions in money and in kind were received to guarantee that the lions and tigers could eat regularly.

The circus is shortly to be put in the hands of the receiver and any one who wants a lion or a tiger can have one cheap, but bidders have been scarce so far, and the only hope now rests in amateurs and muncipal zoos in Austria and Germany it was announced today. If no other arrangements can be made one proposal is to take the lions and tigers back to Africa and turn them loose.

Special care was used in a scene taken from the novel "Quo Vadis" after Roma got loose and bit a keeper.

Two young lion cubs named Vesuvius and Naples who can not rely on their teeth to any extent were paraded through the town today, and paid a visit to the newspaper offices to offer their thanks for the food contributions.

Lion tamers, acrobats, and clowns who have been nearly as hungry as the lions since the circus went broke are being repatriated to Austria and Germany by the Naples municipality.

When Child Disobeys Ask Yourself Why Before Scolding Him

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

There is a well known psychologist in one of our larger cities who specializes in "problem" children. In order to discover the causes leading to behavior difficulties that are so extreme as to label children "problems" she spends four hours with the mother for every one hour with the child!

It might be well for all of us, when confronted with either large or small difficulties with our perfectly normal children, to use the same method. For every time we say to ourselves, "Why is Jane so stubborn?" say to ourselves four times, "What did I do to Jane that made her so stubborn?"

For every time we inwardly complain, "Why is Tim so disobedient?" let us say to ourselves four times, "How do I speak to Tim that makes him not want to mind?" For every time the baby picks up something she should not, let us ask ourselves four times, "How have I managed things so the baby is always getting into things she shouldn't?"

This is not nearly so easy, at first, as punishing Jane because she is stubborn, or reprimanding Tim because he is disobedient, or slapping baby's hands because he gets into everything. But if we will take the emphasis away from the children and put it on our conduct we might get some enlightenment; we might find out from our behavior why the children act as they do.

And perhaps we will find Jane is not really stubborn—that instead we have expected pretty prompt obedience to our commands, not understanding the power of concentration Jane shows in everything she does [an admirable quality]. Or that Tim is not really disobedient, but that instead we deluge him with so many commands, orders, admonitions, etc., that the only way he can protect himself against them is to ignore about 75 per cent and obey 25 per cent [an admirable proportion].

NEW YORK CENTER OF SOCIETY HOMES LOCATED FOR 1932

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The geographical social center of New York City for 1932 has been determined by the Social Register association at a point between 71st and 72d streets and Madison and Park avenues. That was announced yesterday.

According to the Register the social residence pull northward and eastward is apparently increasing, though the balance between the popular Fifth and Park avenues remains about the same. The real estate developments along the East river and the growing appreciation of the upper streets near Central park are evidently the disturbing features.

The new focal point, as the former one did, falls in an area thickly populated with persons of social prominence. Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly resides at 1 East 71st street. Further down the block are Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. McVeigh, Mr. and Mrs. G. Beekman Hoppin, and Mr. and Mrs. Bayard C. Hoppin. At 18 East 72d street reside the Count and Countess Alfonso P. Villa, and at the corner of Madison avenue and 72d street is the residence of Mrs. William Bayard Cutting. Newcomb Carlton, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Davie, and Mrs. Robert L. Stevens are other residents near the new center.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Babe Dye, long suffering manager of the Chicago Shamrocks, last night threw away his straitjacket and ordered the pads off the wall of his boudoir. And well he might, for his green and white boys performed with great zest and skill to lick the league leading Kansas City Pla-Mors, 4 to 2.

This stellar conduct not only made Mr. Babe and the rest of the Shamrocks exceedingly happy, but it lifted the Chicagoans into a second place tie with the St. Louis Fliers, only one game behind the Pla-Mors. The fortunate circumstance, so soon after the slump, is due, in part, to the whimsical hockey policy of deducting nothing from hockey standings because of losses—and the Shamrocks won a lot of early season hockey games. Remember?

The Shamrocks won last night because they skated hard and presented a team offensive which reflected to the credit of Manager Dye, who exercised great patience in nursing his boys out of their slump.

There Was a Fight.

Half of the Chicago goals were registered by the Riley-Wiseman-Prelesnik line. Riley made one on an assist from Wiseman, and Wiseman made one on assists from Riley and Prelesnik. McFadyen and Burns registered the other pair.

The first period was delightful for those who like their hockey rough—there were the two major penalties for the fistic engagement between Burns and McKinnon. Moreover, the Shamrocks came from behind to finish the session in possession of a 2 to 1 lead.

Though there have been numerous first fights in recent Shamrock games, the punishment accorded Burns and McKinnon was the first major, or five minute, penalties given pugnacious hockey players in an American league game here this season.

Pla-Mors Score First.

The increased penalty indicated that officials have concluded the boys have been carrying their rompishness just a bit too far, which is too bad, for the fans have been enjoying the fisticuffs no end.

The Pla-Mors were the first to score. After taking a pass from Campbell, McCormick shoveled a long, backhand shot with his eyes shut and, to the surprise of all, the thing drifted right into the Shamrock cage. The time was 5:55.

In the fifteenth minute of play, Wiseman carried the puck down the ice and, after his shot, Riley picked up the rebound and made the tying score. Immediately afterward Taylor drew the first penalty of the game which seemed to touch things off, for it was less than a minute until Burns and McKinnon did their stuff.

Later on, with the Shamrocks playing five men against four, McFadyen took a pass from Headley and banged it past Goalie Levine for goal No. 2.

Shamrocks Score Again.

The third Shamrock goal in the second period was a fitting climax to a concerted onslaught by Wiseman, Riley, and Prelesnik, Wiseman accomplishing the counter in 17:21, with Riley and Prelesnik getting credit for able assists.

The Shamrocks got goal No. 4 in 8:32 of the third period. Mackenzie stole the puck from the Kansas City forward line, passed to Burns and Bobby whistled it home.

The Pla-Mors made it 4 to 2 when Halderson counted on a pass from Campbell in 11:49. It was the last goal of the game.

Kirkwood's 70 Leads Field in Texas Open

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Joe Kirkwood, Philadelphia golf pro, shot six birdies today for a 34—36—70, enough to lead the $2,500 Texas open field at the end of the first 18 holes of the 72 hole meet.

Kirkwood started with a birdie three, finished the first nine with a birdie four, shot two consecutive birdies on the first three holes of the back nine and walked in with a score one under par. He was only one stroke ahead of Gene Sarazen, who toured the Brackenridge Park course in 34—37—71.

Three Birdies for Gene.

Sarazen shot three birdies in the par 36 front nine, but his chance to lead the first day field glimmered when he took fives on the 11th, 12th and 13th holes.

Harry Cooper of Chicago finished in a tie for third place with Ray Mangrum of Los Angeles and Clarence Clark of Bloomfield, N. J., with 72. Cooper suffered a couple of penalty strokes on the back nine to ruin his chance for a tie with Kirkwood. After the penalty, he finished with two birdies, taking a two on the 18th hole.

Play Another 18 Today.

Tomorrow the second 18 of the 72 holes will be played and the 64 low shooters, together with all ties, will play 36 holes Sunday for first prize money of $600 and 17 smaller money prizes.

Joe Kirkwood, Philadelphia	34	36—70
Gene Sarazen, New York	34	37—71
Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles	38	34—72
Clarence Clark, Bloomfield, N. J.	36	36—72
Harry Cooper, Chicago	38	34—72
Hugh Carpenter, Dallas	37	36—73
Ralph Guldahl, Detroit	38	36—74

Michigan State Quintet Defeats Colgate, 30 to 20

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Michigan State defeated Colgate in an intersectional basketball game here tonight, 30 to 20. McCastin and Boeskel led the attack for the Spartans, while Capt. Nichols starred for Colgate.

Dr. Zeitlin Meets Platak for A. A. U. Handball Title

Dr. N. S. Zeitlin of Postl's Health club will meet Joe Platak, a clubmate, tonight in the finals for the Central A. A. U. singles handball championship at Postl's club, 312 South Wabash avenue.

BUFFALO DROPPED FROM AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

Poor Showing and Small Crowds Force Action.

The Buffalo Majors, tailenders in the American Hockey league, yesterday were dropped from the circuit because of financial difficulties. Announcement of the action was made by President William Grant following a league meeting here in the afternoon.

The Buffalo franchise has reverted to the league and the players, with two exceptions, have been made free agents. The two exceptions are Leo Carbol and Paul Armand, whose contracts are the property of the Chicago Shamrocks.

It was said after the meeting that the backers of the Buffalo club had failed to pay installments on their franchise and that the management also has failed to pay player salaries and several other obligations incurred by the organization.

Will Rearrange Schedule.

The American league will proceed as a five club circuit, with the schedule rearranged so that each club will play 48 games, the number provided for in the six club league. Buffalo was scheduled to play here on Feb. 4 and 20 and March 15 and the Shamrocks were booked for Buffalo tomorrow and Tuesday nights and on March 6. Substitute attractions probably will be announced today.

President Grant said the other members of the league, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Duluth, and Tulsa are in sound financial condition and that he believed the dropping of the Majors would do much to strengthen the organization in its entirety.

Chicago Will Miss Majors.

During the recent flop of the Shamrocks, the long sequence of defeats was broken only by victories over the Majors. While this afforded some comfort to the panicky sponsors of the Shamrocks, hockey fans were not drawn into any wild ecstasies over the appearance of the Majors.

On the other hand, the Majors in their swan song in St. Louis Thursday night are said to have drawn 14,000 spectators and braced to play an overtime tie with the rampant Fliers.

The players who were cut loose by yesterday's decision are not eligible to obtain employment in so-called organized hockey and their talents were not such as to cause other American league teams to scramble for their services.

PIRATES' OWNER SERIOUSLY ILL; WIFE AT SIDE

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates since 1899, is seriously ill in Mount Sinai hospital, following an operation for prostatis. Mrs. Dreyfuss is with him night and day. His condition was unchanged this afternoon, she reported.

Engen Breaks Own World Ski Jumping Record

Big Pines, Cal., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Alf Engen, professional ski jumper from Salt Lake City, today eclipsed his own world's professional record with a leap of 257 feet in the first flight of the annual winter games carnival here. It was 14 feet better than his record for this course, set at 243 feet last year, and was the second best official jump ever recorded.

U. S. Basketball Coaches to Meet Here April 1, 2

The National Association of Basketball Coaches of the United States will hold its annual meeting at the Shoreland hotel in Chicago April 1 and 2, the association's board of directors announced last night. A. A. Schabinger of Creighton university, Omaha, president of the association, will preside at the meeting.

A Fan Learns About Golden Gloves Bouts

BY WILFRID SMITH.

A letter has just reached our desk which we'll take great pleasure in answering. It differs completely from the majority of our correspondence. The communication is from G. F. Anderson, manager of a Cincinnati company, who refers to himself as a "poor Chicagoan who has recently been transferred to this town."

Anderson apparently is not casting any aspersion on his present home town, but he does resent that his transfer has prevented him following the course of Golden Gloves tournaments.

"In spite of the 300 miles between us," Anderson continues, "I don't want to miss THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves tournament, especially in view of the fact that last night I witnessed that Battalino-Miller farce.

"Will you please advise me when the semi-finals and finals are to be held, and also state where the intercity bouts between Chicago and New York will be held this year. I'm sorry that I will not be in Chicago to support some of the elimination bouts."

We expect to give our correspondent all this information and also tell him, as he requests, how to purchase tickets. That is quite easy, for all one must do is make a check payable to THE TRIBUNE and mail it to the Ticket Manager, Golden Gloves Tournament. The semi-finals and finals of the meet will be held March 9 at the Chicago Stadium. Ticket prices for that night are $3, $2, and $1.

The Tournament of Champions will be held Feb. 29, March 1 and 2 at the Chicago Stadium. Tickets for each night range from 50 cents to $1.50. The first two nights two rings will be used so that the entry list of 208 may be reduced to 64 boys who will fight the quarter final bouts on March 2 in one ring.

Johnny Coulon, former ring champion, who has developed many splendid boxers in his 63d street gymnasium, agrees that the heavyweights will be exceptional this year, at least better than in recent seasons. Coulon promises to enter three heavies who will be in the running up to the finals.

Bobby Groshek of Hammond, Ind., is seeking the middleweight Golden Gloves title. Groshek reached the Tournament of Champions last year before losing a decision. He is employed by the Standard Steel Car company of Hammond as a clerk.

Another Hammond boxer, Bruno Falta, will enlist in the 147 pound class. He is a sophomore in Hammond High school, but at night he follows the amateurs around Chicago rings, learning by observation and occasional stepping in himself.

The entries close for the west section trials a week from Monday. The tournament, which will be held at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium, starts Feb. 15. The north side entries close on Feb. 11, while entries for the south side trials at White City close Feb. 15.

Individual entries may be made by using the blank which is printed daily in THE TRIBUNE. Team entries may be made in a group. No post entries will be accepted.

GOLDEN GLOVES
Tickets, March 9

Twenty-three thousand seats are reserved. Lower floor and center mezzanine tickets are $3. Other mezzanine and first balcony tickets are $2. Second balcony, $1.

Mail orders also are being accepted for the Tournament of Champions at the Chicago Stadium, Feb. 29, March 1 and 2. Prices are $1.50, $1 and fifty cents.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Kieckhefer wasn't even in the lead in the title chase, for Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia was occupying that lofty position. But Kieckhefer had just beaten Len Kenney of Chicago, 50 to 35, in 46 innings. And as he downed Kenney, he played with the confidence of a champion, made shots without even halting to figure them out, and had his cue performing feats that might have caused a magician to stub his toe.

There's always something that distinguishes a champion. Kieckhefer had that something last night. He didn't make any remarkably long runs, but when it became necessary to make a difficult three cushion shot he did it.

Kenney Leads at Start.

After Kenney had made the pace to the 21st inning, Kieckhefer finally took the lead. From the 32d to the 37th inning Kieckhefer scored 15 billiards, and the result of the match was no longer in doubt. He scored 5 in the 45th inning, then went out with a beautiful around the table shot in the 46th.

Perhaps the reason Kieckhefer looked so much like a champion was due to the difficulty Reiselt had in whipping Frank Scoville of Buffalo in the other evening match. A dozen times Reiselt seemed to have a safe lead. Then Scoville, shooting in his finest stroke, would pull up near him. Reiselt finally won in the 47th inning, 50 to 38.

Two old masters of billiards, neither of them with much of a chance to carry away the championship, fought it out during the afternoon session.

Hall Beats Layton.

They were Allen Hall of Chicago and Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., who has been the world's champion on ten occasions. Both have been kicked and pushed around considerably since the tournament opened, and neither can hope for much more than a place in the sun when the tournament ends.

So only a few folks were on hand when they clashed and the result was one of the finest matches of the tournament, with Hall winning, 50 to 38, in 52 innings.

Layton, whose eyes have bothered him throughout the tournament, groped around the table at times. He lost three points by fouling, which, no doubt, was a result of his impaired vision. The defeat blasted the title hopes of Layton. All he or Hall can do now until the finish is upset some budding champion.

For the last three days Layton has been under the care of an eye specialist, who, according to reports, ad-

What Is a Boxing Title in These Times? Well, What Is It?

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—The prize fighting championships, which formerly were regarded as titles of some little distinction, no longer convey their old prestige, and I doubt that you could find in a street car full of people today more than one who could name the incumbent champions of the various divisions. You might not find even the one.

There have been several reasons for this decline, which is to be deplored or celebrated, according to your preference. Certainly the fighters themselves have done much to destroy the heroic illusion which used to exist among the people, but I would not exclude the prize fight commissioners of the various jurisdictions from the blame or credit, as the case may be.

The Commissions Helped.

The prize fight commissions did their bit. They first cheapened the old standard titles by creating a number of synthetic titles such as the junior featherweight, junior lightweight, and junior welterweight championships with the object of stimulating the game at the box offices, which was no proper concern of theirs. They then added to the confusion by creating a regular class of logical contenderships, as they called them, and appointing their respective lists of logical contenders.

Now the commissioners of separate jurisdictions began to grow jealous of one another, generally because one commissioner was taking in too much territory with his rulings. One commissioner might decide to recognize such a one as featherweight champion, for instance, and an envious commissioner in another state would say, "Well, no outside commission is creating champions in this state, and our commission refuses to recognize this appointment."

Couldn't Agree on Contenders.

Similarly, they disagreed on the logical contenderships and the result was that in time there were almost as many champions and logical contenders in each class, including the synthetic classes, as there were commissions.

To serve as a prize fight commissioner a man must be willing to bother himself with the intricate little disputes of an element of sporting shysters and, to some extent, to associate with them.

This would have involved no condescension a few years ago, when the prize fight managers were an entertaining and jovial lot and quite intelligent, including among the most active members of the guild Uncle Will Gibson, Jimmy Bronson, Dumb Daniel Morgan, Nate Lewis, Fat Eddie Meade, Leo P. Flynn, and Jimmy Johnston. But with the boom in prize fighting there entered the business as managers a school of exploiters who were without humor and, in some cases, were not without questionable records.

The prize fighters themselves are often looked upon as innocent dupes of unscrupulous managers, but this is another of the sentimental American fallacies. A prize fighter of the age of 19 or 20 who has been fighting for a year or so is no Boy Scout, and when he engages in a fake fight he is just as much responsible for the fake as his manager.

I have known three notorious fakers in the last ten years, all of them under thirty and all of them as full of guile as any manager that ever dipped a sponge. Two of them were hard drinkers and one was such a cunning drunkard that one night he showed up drunk for an important fight and disguised the fact from his own manager until he was in the ring and the fight was on.

His manager had bet heavily on him to win because he seemed by far the better fighter and he was quite nonplused when he discovered the true state of affairs too late to place any defensive bets on the other man.

What the Managers Did.

He did not admit his nonplusment at once, however. In fact, when he was asked a few days later, "Were you nonplused?" he roared, "You leave my family out of this!" Later, however, he confessed that he had been nonplused.

The managers, of course, have been primarily responsible for the disrepute into which the titles have fallen. Managers established a tradition that the heavyweight champion should not fight more than once a year, although, of course, a champion worth the name should be ready to fight at all times and, like the champions of baseball, the turf, golf, and tennis, should play through instead of meeting only one picked member of the challenging class. The risks would be greater, to be sure, but he would make more money

MAROONS SEEK FIRST TRIUMPH AT MINNEAPOLIS

The University of Chicago basketball team will make its fourth attempt to win a game tonight at Minneapolis when it faces Minnesota in a return engagement. The Maroons are a better team than they were when they lost to Minnesota, 22 to 14, at the Midway two weeks ago.

In its three conference games to date the Chicago team has totaled only ten field goals, and, although Coach Nels Norgren has been schooling the players to shoot rather than to dally with the prospect of setup shots, Minnesota's powerful guards, Licht and Cielusak, and the deliberate offense used by the Gophers are detrimental to their style.

The Maroons will start a revised lineup, with Byron Evans, sophomore, a former forward, at center, Scott Rexinger and Paul Stephenson at forwards, and Bernie Wien and Capt. Harry Ashley at guards. This combination puts Keith Parsons and Jim Porter, who have been somewhat erratic, into reserve, and has proved steadier in floor play.

Bobsled Riders Banned; A. A. U. Center of Storm

Lake Placid, N. Y., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The suspension of eight bobsleighers, including the chairman of the American Olympic Bobsleigh committee and four other members of the United States squad, caused a stir of excitement in this quiet little village today.

Ralph J. Ury, chairman of the registration committee, barred the competitors, here for the North American and A. A. U. championship run, because they lacked traveling permits from their local A. A. U. associations. However, if the permits arrive before the title tests on Sunday and Monday the ban will be lifted.

Among those suspended were Jay O'Brien, chairman of the American bobsleigh committee and brakeman on the bob driven by Billy Fiske, pilot of the winning sled at St. Moritz in 1928; Clifford Gray and Eddie Eagan, crew on the same sled, as well as Albert B. Ashford Jr. and Howard S. Lipson, crew of Hunter Goodrich's bob. The others suspended were Harry Grayson Martin, Gerald Norman Burk, and John N. Trainer of the same team.

I'M TOUGH AND HOW I TAKE 'EM ON RIBS—KING

Crowd Agrees He's Good Catcher.

Baer started a roasting of his rival's left side soon after the opening bell and thereafter gave himself over almost exclusively to this method of attack against a rival who could muster no defense for the blows.

At the finish the fighters were locked head to head, giving and taking in stevedore fashion. The King seemed to weaken while Baer appeared to thrive and grow stronger on the diet. There was nothing else for Referee Gunboat Smith and the two judges to do except give a unanimous decision in favor of Baer.

Some of the crowd did not like the verdict. This was indicated in a salvo of jeers when it was announced. But the action of the battle justified this award, because Baer won seven of the ten rounds, almost exclusively on his rib-roasting rights. These punches had Levinsky's left side red and raw and brought expressions of unconcealed pain to the Chicagoan's face.

11,000 See Fight.

It was a methodical battle before 11,000 fight fans who paid gross receipts of $31,028, a battle whose thrills were negative since they consisted principally of missed punches and ill timed and poorly executed attempts of Levinsky to score a knockout.

At times the fighters became rough. Baer, annoyed by Levinsky's holding, gave himself over to an exhibition of wrestling strength in the fourth, when he almost tossed Levinsky bodily through the ropes. They ended the session by fighting strenuously after the bell. They threatened to fight after the bell in the third and in several rounds subsequent to the fourth.

As the Kingfish stepped out of the ring to mingle with the crowd, he remarked: "I couldn't keep away from that guy's right hand, but I'm tough, I am, and, boy, can't I take it?"

All Agree with King.

And a neutral observer must admit that he certainly can and did take one of the worst body beatings anybody ever received. Late in the fight the fans chanted in unison with every punch Baer landed, and would count one, two, three—sometimes up to thirteen—before Levinsky would wilt and hold on to save himself punishment.

Levinsky's sister and manager, Leaping Lena Levy, added a touch of comedy as she shouted advice from her seat in the second row. "Put him away, King," she'd yell, or, again, as the going got too tough and the King seemed in grave danger of going to the floor, "Fight him from a distance, King, fight him from a distance."

Retzlaff Stops Woods.

Charley Retzlaff, Duluth, Minn., heavyweight, scored a technical knockout over Joe Woods of Los Angeles, in 2:14 of the seventh round of a scheduled ten round bout in the semi-final. Retzlaff opened deep gashes over Woods' eyes and Referee Gunboat Smith stopped the fight, although Woods was apparently able and willing to continue. Woods floored Retzlaff for a nine count in the fourth round.

Yale Okun, 176¾, beat Tony Cancela, 178½, in ten slow rounds. Vincent Harryle, 202½, Argentina, knocked out Johnny Rosseau, 178, Burlington, Vt., in 2:12 of the sixth round.

Oimen Betters 200 Feet in Olympic Skiing Trials

Lake Placid, N. Y., Jan. 29.—(AP)—For the first time today, an American jumper, Casper Oimen, and a Swede, Sven Ericksson, stole the skiing spotlight from the brilliant Norwegians, headed by the flying Ruud brothers. Both Oimen and Ericksson, in practice on the mammoth intervale Olympic jump, cleared better than 200 feet unofficially and in perfect form. The record is 198 feet, but the Norwegians consistently have been bettering 200. Today the Norwegians did no jumping.

December Wins Six Round Decision Over Jack Purvis

De Paul academy's heavyweight quintet, favorite in the Chicago Catholic High School league race, suffered its first league defeat last night, losing to St. Patrick, 22 to 14, at De Paul's gymnasium. It was the Saints' fourth consecutive victory and gave them undisputed possession of first place in the north section.

De Paul Leads at Half.

De Paul, with Yost and Phillips leading the attack, took a lead of 7 to 6 at the end of the first half. St. Patrick then rallied and held a 14 to 10 advantage at the third quarter. De Paul's lights, who are leading the section, defeated St. Patrick, 20 to 17, in a preliminary game.

York and Riverside heavyweights teams remained tied for the lead in the West Suburban conference by scoring victories last night. However, the tie will be broken tonight when they meet at the Riverside gymnasium. Each has won five games, while losing one.

York Wins Five Straight.

York hung up its fifth triumph by handing Glenbard a 10 to 8 defeat at Elmhurst. Riverside defeated West Chicago, 20 to 17, Percival starring for the victors with nine points on the West Chicago court.

The lead in the South Suburban league was decided when Bloom triumphed over Thornton Fractional, 24 to 14, at Chicago Heights. Bloom led, 11 to 6, at half time. Di Duillo featured for Bloom, collecting three baskets and two penalty throws.

Gus Copulos won the first afternoon game from Tiff Denton, the old razorback from the Ozarks, 50 to 45, in 56 innings. The victory put Copulos into third place in the battle for the title. MOON MULLINS—OUTSIDE OF THAT EVERYTHING WAS O. K.

What Is Ring Title Now? Well, What?

The managers also established the custom of avoiding the most formidable challenger and, under a technical rule of the boxing commissions, selecting the least dangerous man as the opponent for the championship bout. This has been done in all classes, so in many cases titles have been held by men who ranked no higher than fourth or fifth at their weight.

Beating Title Defense Rule.

Prize fight commissions made this possible with a rule passed in exasperation which required champions to defend their titles every so often. A champion approaching the end of his term under this rule and wishing to continue his practice in the harmless no decision trade would then repair to some outlying place and defend his title against some novice or relic or roommate before an uninformed attendance. He had then technically met the rule and was free to fight no decision bouts and avoid his legitimate challengers for another period of months.

Mickey Walker, who has been much outraged by the failure of his plan to meet Max Schmeling for the heavyweight championship, was one of the most evasive champions that ever held a title when he possessed the middleweight championship. Consequently his sense of wrong when Schmeling declined to give him a chance for the heavyweight title was more amusing than pathetic.

The prize fight commissioners also have condoned fakes by reinstating many known fakers and faking managers, notwithstanding their absolute power to refuse and revoke credentials subject to no review.

The Boys Were Ingenious.

Their tolerance also permitted the development of the interlocking directorate, an idea borrowed from big business, whereby in frequent cases both champion and challenger belonged to one manager, and the defending champion, if he lost, became a stockholder in the man who took his title. It will be seen that the boys were very ingenious, anyway.

As a result of all this the titles fell into dispute and disrepute and the people no longer had any clear idea of the descent of the championships from one man to another. I keep fairly familiar with the rankings, but it has been five years since I could list the eight champions without entering long explanations to justify the titles of half of them. It is like picking an all-American football team.

200 GIRLS SEEK OLYMPIC CHANCE IN MEET TODAY

Compete in Four Events at Naval Armory.

Last minute entries for the women's preparatory indoor track meet, sponsored by the Illinois Women's Athletic club this afternoon at the Naval armory, Randolph street and the lake, have increased the list to more than 200.

The meet is under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union of America and is for the purpose of discovering and instructing Olympic prospects. It is open to all girls 14 years of age and over and all competitors must be registered with the C. A. A. U. Late entries may register at the door.

I. W. A. C. Provides Coaches.

The following events are scheduled: 60 yard hurdles, 60 yard dash, running high jump, and 440 yard relay. The I. W. A. C. track team will not compete, but will give exhibitions. Members of the team, Doris Anderson, Evelyn Ferrara, Nan Gindele, Evelyn Hall, Elsie Imhof, Evelyn Jacobson, Leora Johnson, Mildred Kmet, Annette Rogers, and Katherine Rutherford, have been coaching the girls entered at sectional training sites, giving them the benefit of their years of practice and instruction.

Twenty-five late entries were received from the Ogden Park district, which has been under the instructorship of Evelyn Hall, holder of the 50 yard indoor hurdle championship, and Katherine Rutherford, specialist in the shot and discus events. The girls entered are:

Ruth Berry, Evelyn Custer, Grace Darling, Ann Fritz, Estelle Fritz, Florence Finnegan, Martha Gustafson, Anne Jazorsky, Gladys Lourtizes, Marian Claese, Loretta McGinty, Kay McAvoy, Ruth Newman, Muriel Nelson, Peggy Reozley, Eva Root, Genevieve Root, Ruth and Kay Rahanagel, Mary Jane Sipes, Peggy Simonds, Mary Tebrugge, Winifred Wildish, and Florence Welnak.

And Here Are Some More.

Other potential stars entered are from the SS. Peter and Paul organiation and include: Margaret Curran, Marie Poygeff, Ann Sivak, Gladys Young, and Rose Rothwick. Ruth Schueppage, sent in her entry from the Loyola district and Hazel Singleton is a McKinley Park representative.

Betty Robinson, Olympic runner, who is recovering from an airplane accident of last summer, will award bronze medals to the first, second, and third place winners, and also the three trophy cups, which will be given to the fastest relay team. Mrs. Richard Folsom, member of the A. A. U. committee, has donated a special cup, to be awarded to the high point winner.

METROPOLITAN POLO LEAGUE OPENS TONIGHT

Having prepared themselves and their ponies by engaging in weekly matches, four members of the Metropolitan Polo league are ready for their opening matches tonight in the series that will decide three qualifiers for the world's championship to be held in New York April 1. Tonight's action will take place at the 124th field armory, 5200 Cottage Grove avenue.

The 124th Field Artillery Remount association team will clash with the Culver alumni, and the 124th field artillery trio will meet the 6th corps area riders.

The Metropolitan circuit includes eleven leading polo teams in the middle west. In addition to those named they are: Fort Sheridan, 122d Field Artillery, 124th F. A. Cardinals, 124th F. A. Blackhawks, Ohio State alumni, University of Chicago, and the Chicago Riding club.

TILDEN SKATERS TO DEFEND PREP TITLES TODAY

Tilden Tech will defend its team championships in the tenth annual ice skating meet of the Chicago Public High School league this afternoon at the Chicago Stadium. There will be competition in two divisions, junior and senior.

Among the stars on the Tilden squad are Bob Huck, Melvin Barnett, and Tony Neberz. The team competed in the national speed skating championships at Oconomowoc, Wis., last Saturday and Sunday.

There will be four races in the junior meet—220, 440, 880, and half mile relay. The seniors will compete in the 440, 880, one mile, and one mile relay races.

The meet was moved into the Stadium because of mild weather, which marks the first time that the league has arranged indoor competition. There will be public skating after the meet.

WEIGHT LIFTERS OF 3 STATES IN MEET TONIGHT

The second annual Central A. A. U. weight lifting tournament will be held tonight at Kimball hall, Wabash avenue and Jackson boulevard. Weight lifters from three states, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, will compete.

William Alberg of Chicago is one of the favorites in the meet. Alberg last year set a new world's record in the one hand snatch. Winners of the tournament will compete in the Olympic tryouts.

Former Maroon Stars Meet Varsity Track Team Today

Former Maroon track stars will compete this afternoon in the fieldhouse against the University of Chicago varsity and freshman squads. Dale Letts, who has been running the mile in 4:20, leads the alumni. Norman Root, captain two seasons back; Allan East, captain last year, and Lill Brand are the alumni's sprinters.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Who's the Blond?

Squirrel Uses House Top as Landing Field

BY BOB BECKER.

The roof of the Becker homestead served as a landing field for a flyer recently, but the roof wasn't damaged a bit. It was between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning when a flying squirrel apparently made a sailing leap from a big oak tree in the front yard and dropped kerplunk on the roof.

Of course we couldn't prove in court it was a squirrel because we didn't brave the cold to climb on the roof. But, by the process of elimination, it is easy to establish the identity of our night visitor.

They Take Over Attics.

Apparently there is a fairly large colony of these good looking and friendly little animals in and around the town. Sometimes the squirrels move into the attic of a house. Then they become quite a nuisance. They are active only at night. Thus any home that has been adopted by flying squirrels is apt to become a "haunted house," with many queer sounds and movements between sundown and sunrise.

This recent roof landing is not the first time the squirrels have been heard on the same shingles during the last few years. They have made similar visits before. These playful little squirrels like to build their homes in the cavities of old trees. They line the pockets with dried leaves. The result is a snug winter home which also may be a storehouse for a supply of nuts, seeds, and other winter provisions.

They Don't Fly.

The flying squirrel is among those animals about which interesting myths are told. In this case the story is that the animal can fly. No flying squirrel can actually fly.

But it can glide by extending the arms and legs, and pulling taut the hairy membrane that extends laterally from the front to the hind feet. The tail is used as a rudder in these glides, so that the animal can land just about where he wants to.

GRIMM TO RIDE WITH WALTHOUR IN 6 DAY RACE

Willie Grimm of New Jersey, winner of Chicago's last two six-day races, will pair with Bobby Walthour of New York in the bicycle race which starts in the Stadium a week from tomorrow night.

Grimm won the last Chicago race with Duelberg and the one previous with Richili. He is confident he can make three in a row with Bobby Walthour as his partner.

Jimmy Walthour, Bobby's cousin, will ride with Charley Ritter of Newark. Walthour and Ritter finished third in the last race here and fourth in New York.

PRINCETON GETS MILLIONS IN WILL OF PAUL GUNTHER

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Paul M. Guenther, former president of the Onyx Pointex Hosiery company, left several million dollars to Princeton university, it was learned today when his will was filed for probate in the surrogate's office at Morristown, N. J. Mr. Guenther, who left an estate estimated at about $10,000,000, died Jan. 17.

Mr. Guenther's will provides that the residuary, after payment of bequests totaling about $1,400,000, shall be presented to the trustees of Princeton to use as they see fit. Mr. Guenther also left a cash bequest of $80,000 to the students' loan fund at Princeton.

Other bequests include $100,000 each to the Dover, N. J., general hospital and to the endowment funds of Leipzig university in Germany and Lincoln Memorial university in Tennessee. Lenox Hill hospital and the German Society of New York receive $50,000 each, while the Dover Presbyterian church and the Morris county Y. M. C. A. are left $25,000 each.

Mrs. Rebecca Witherell, widow of Nathaniel Witherell, left an estate valued at $3,472,125 net, of which $402,520 goes to charity, according to the appraisal filed today. The Young Men's Christian association of Greenwich, Conn., receives $250,000, and the Working Girls Vacation society, and the Society for the Relief of the Ruptured and Crippled each receive $50,000. Other small bequests were made.

TRAVELER USES TOO MUCH SOAP; SKIDS INTO BED

He sought to reconcile his long, arduous search for the "thrilling and the beautiful" with the dismal turn of events which thrust him into a sickbed because of the least romantic of accidents—a fall in a bathtub. He explained he used too much soap. Worse still, he had just recovered from another equally prosaic accident, a fall out of bed.

Mannix, who never married, has been courting adventure since he was ten years old in Albion, N. Y., when he found what was inside of a hornet's nest. He became a hero in 1889 when he saved scores of workers in a Minneapolis newspaper plant fire he discovered which cost seven lives.

Edward C. Portman, Grain Broker Many Years, Dead

Edward C. Portman, a member of the Chicago Board of Trade for 48 years, died yesterday of pneumonia in the Evanston hospital. He was 74 years old. For many years Mr. Portman was associated with the late John C. Ross in the grain receiving business. His widow, Mrs. Emma C. Portman of the Library Plaza hotel, Evanston; two sons, Edward C. Portman Jr. of Milwaukee and A. Nelson Porman of Altadena, Cal., and a daughter, Mrs. George M. McCallum of Evanston, survive. Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock Monday in the chapel at Graceland cemetery. Pallbearers will be members of the Board of Trade.

Fire Chief Passerella of Melrose Park Dies at 34

Chief Daniel Passerella of the Melrose Park fire department died yesterday in the Oak Park hospital of pneumonia which was contracted after an operation for appendicitis on Tuesday. He was 34 years old and lived at 1106 Broadway avenue, Melrose Park. Passerella had been fire chief for four years, and early this year, because the village could not pay the firemen, he instituted the plan of voluntary work. He announced that persons would pay for fires individually. Chief Passerella is survived by his widow, Florence, and four sons, Daniel Jr., 7 years old; Joseph, 5; Richard, 3, and Raymond, 5 months.

Enters Prison for Stealing Auto; Leaves Same Way

William Johnston, 29 years old, of Kankakee, entered the state penitentiary at Joliet in 1928 for stealing a car. He escaped from the prison yesterday in the same way. Johnston was made a trusty recently and in this capacity was dispatched on a downtown errand. He took an automobile and did not return.

Indicted in Road Graft Case, Waives Examination

Benton Harbor, Mich., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Claude Harriman, Aurora, Ill., stone dealer, among the 18 men indicted here recently in Berrien county's road board graft scandal, waived examination late today before Justice Elizabeth Forhan, and was bound over to Berrien Circuit court. He was released on $2,000 bonds.

WOMAN'S ORDERS IN UNUSUAL WILL ARE CARRIED OUT

The last wishes of Miss Loureine Aber, who died at the age of 37 on Sept. 24, 1930, have been carried to completion, relatives assured George B. Weiss, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner, yesterday when he closed her estate. Miss Aber, whose home was in St. Joseph, Mich., died in Chicago, where she was employed as an advertising copy writer, leaving a $17,000 estate.

Her will, which was probated shortly after her death, left gifts to all the members of her family and to a number of friends. With every gift the document explained the reasons for the bequest. One of the paragraphs read: "To my mother, Mrs. Katherine Aber, St. Joseph, Mich., I give the sum of $2,000. I would like to have her use this for a trip and a good time, but she hardly ever took my advice, and I'm afraid she won't now." The will added that she had always respected her mother because "she didn't meddle."

Bequests of $100 each were given to six sisters and brothers, of whom she stated: "We never understood each other, but at least we never fought, and that's something in a family of eight." Mrs. W. H. Dial, 4024 Lake Park avenue, was given $100 to spend on theater tickets, "because her laugh was so pleasant."

Mrs. A. J. Turney of New York City, a friend, was given the bulk of the property.

ROY C. MERRICK FUNERAL RITES WILL BE TODAY

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the South Shore Community church, Yates avenue and 74th street, for Roy C. Merrick, member of the law firm of Jacobson, Merrick, Nierman & Silbert, who died on Thursday in the Wesley hospital. Attorney Merrick was 55 years old and a native of Kane county. He was admitted to the bar in 1902. He took part in the "antiloan shark" campaign of many years ago, and also figured in the long litigation which restored to the late Capt. E. W. Morrison millions of dollars. Mr. Merrick was a member of the Hamilton club and a former associate editor of the Hamiltonian.

Surviving him are his widow, Edna, and five children, Richard H., Hubert C., Frances A., Alice R., and Robert B. Merrick.

Silk Stocking Millionaire Leaves $100,000 to College

Morristown, N. J., Jan. 29.—(AP)—A bequest of $100,000 to Lincoln university of Harrogate, Tenn., is contained in the will of Paul Guenther, millionaire silk stocking manufacturer, filed for probate today. The value of the estate was not given, but it has been estimated at $3,500,000. Educational, religious and welfare institutions in this county and Germany were among the chief beneficiaries.

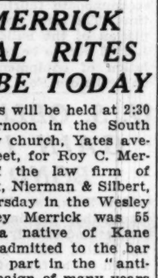
Tune in TONIGHT KYW 7:15 P. M.

HEAR



William H. Malone

Taxpayers' Candidate for Governor on the Republican Ticket

Malone tells how public expenditures can be reduced forty per cent for the benefit of the taxpayers.

Malone demands for all citizens of Illinois equal representation in the lawmaking bodies of the State and in constitutional conventions.

Malone states that the people of Illinois declared by referendum vote for the modification of our prohibition laws. Their will shall be obeyed when Malone is governor.

Malone demands a change in our banking laws to safeguard depositors' money and to stop depletion of bank assets through exorbitant receiver's and attorney's fees.

Mr. Malone will also speak tomorrow night over KYW at 9:15 P. M.

JUDD JUROR HAS FLU; TRIAL HELD UP TILL MONDAY

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Continued serious illness of two jurors hearing her murder trial today permitted Winnie Ruth Judd, "trunk slayer," to spend her 27th birthday in her county jail cell.

After she emphasized her demands with another display of temper, Mrs. Judd was permitted to entertain her father and mother, the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. McKinnell, and her husband, Dr. W. C. Judd, for an hour this afternoon.

Sheriff J. R. McFadden capitulated to another demand and permitted a hairdresser to visit her cell. Mrs. Judd appeared in court only long enough to hear Judge Howard C. Speakman again recess her trial until Monday morning with the comment that "as a means of trying to save money" he would recess the trial "for weeks or months, if necessary," rather than declare a mistrial.

A special nurse was ordered today for Joseph L. Standage, alternate juror, whose slight cold became intestinal flu during the night. M. T. White, regular juror suffering from a severe cold, was reported unchanged in condition.

Bailiff Ed. Warren, who has been in charge of the "hospital ward" of the jury dormitory, was reported slightly ill this morning and the court swore in an additional bailiff. Bailiff W. A. McNabb, in charge of the other jurors, was ordered not to take them to any motion picture show "in which homicide figures in any manner."

ARMY OFFICER ASKS DIVORCE, CHARGES THREAT

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Major Pedro A. Hernandez, veteran army officer, testified today in his suit for divorce that his wife, Rachel, threatened to kill him and herself, destroyed pictures of his mother and his daughter by a former marriage, and once struck him with an iron rod.

Major Hernandez, a son of José H. Hernandez, chief justice of the Porto Rican Supreme court, flew here from Washington to testify. He claimed he had been confined at Walter Reed hospital there because of a nervous breakdown resulting from mistreatment at the hands of his wife.

Mrs. Hernandez, smartly dressed, was in the court room. They met in Panama where she was a cabaret entertainer, Hernandez said, and were married May 23, 1919.

The major testified his wife sent letters to his superiors complaining that he did not support her. He now is with the 99th division of the army reserves.

Wife of Movie Director Terrorized and Robbed

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Two armed gunmen invaded the home of John Francis Dillon, movie director, in daylight today, herded Mrs. Dillon, her friend, Mrs. William Bailey; her maid, cook, chauffeur, and small son into the basement, and escaped with $600 cash and $11,000 in jewelry. The maid was struck and beaten when she tried to argue with the thugs, and Mrs. Dillon was scratched and cuffed when one of the pair pulled an emerald bracelet off her arm.

Deaths of a Day

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(AP)—Monsignor Andrew B. Meehan, D. D., widely known Catholic scholar and writer, who once refused a bishopric to continue his work as a professor at St. Bernard's seminary. He was 64 years old.

WORCESTER, Mass. — (AP) — Mrs. Thomas F. Henney of Shrewsbury and Boston.

SOMERS POINT, N. J.—(AP)—George W. Monroe, 70, for many years a well known actor. He retired about 18 years ago.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—(AP)—Harvey J. Hill, 51, originator of the Red Cross roll call. He was until recently a member of Ward, Hill, Pierce & Wells, of New York and San Francisco, a firm which conducts philanthropic drives. He was formerly executive secretary of the National Red Cross war council.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. — [Special.] — George Webster, 75, lifelong resident of Van Buren county, died of pneumonia. He had lived in the same house 35 years. He is survived by his widow. Webster's parents blazed southern Michigan trails.

FREE PHILIPPINES AND AID FARMERS, BEET MEN'S PLEA

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Beet growers of the northwest and representatives of the National grandge and the American Farm Bureau federation joined in a plea to the house insular affairs committee today for independence for the Philippine islands.

The farm representatives stated that the United States should let them go as a step toward economic readjustment of special benefit to the American farmer.

Fred Cummings of Colorado, president of the National Beet Growers' association, declared that importations of sugar from the islands, free of duty, has been making it impossible for the western beet growers to survive.

Fred Brenckman, Washington representative of the National grange, estimated that 80 per cent of the American exports to the Philippines are manufactured products, while virtually all of the island exports to the United States are raw materials which come into direct competition with American farm products.

DR. C. S. SPERRY, PHYSICIAN HERE 50 YEARS, DEAD

Dr. Charles C. Sperry, for fifty years a practicing physician in Chicago, died yesterday in the Florence sanitarium at Marengo, Ill., following a year's illness. He was 81 years old. Dr. Sperry was born in Marengo. In 1874 he was graduated from medical school. He established practice in Chicago and maintained offices here until five years ago, when he returned to Marengo. Surviving Dr. Sperry is his brother, Prof. E. A. Sperry, living in China. Funeral services will be held in Marengo at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF.

Edgar Cox, 37 years old, a Negro, ended a domestic quarrel in his home at 5046 Prairie avenue yesterday when he shot and killed his wife, Ophalia, 33 years old, then killed himself. Cox was a taxicab driver.

COLDS must be driven out from within

The cold germ is not an ordinary germ but an invisible ultravirus. Science knows that it is a poisonous infection that gets into the system and multiples rapidly—often causing other serious ills. Internal infection must be destroyed and expelled from within. Bromo Quinine tablets have won the recognition of the entire civilized world as the safe and proved remedy for colds. MONROE-WELLS BONDHOLDERS NAME CHAIRMAN

M. Marvin Meyer Chosen Head of Body.

BY AL CHASE.

Members of the committee representing the holders of first mortgage bonds in the Monroe-Wells building have elected M. Marvin Meyer chairman, it was announced last night. Other officers named were: O. F. Johnson, vice chairman; David S. Cohn, secretary, and Philip Stein, treasurer. Chairman Meyer stated that his organization controls $200,000 of the $350,000 bonds outstanding. Murphy, Hollywood, Turner & Barron are attorneys for the new bondholders' committee.

M. MARVIN MEYER [TRIBUNE Photo.]

This is the committee which was organized last Wednesday to conserve the interests of the bondholders in the property at the southeast corner of Wells and Monroe, owned by Samuel, William J. and Morris Pancoe. There seems to be considerable difference of opinion regarding this situation. Most of it seems to have arisen over the paying of interest coupons direct by the owners instead of permitting the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, as trustee, to continue in that capacity. The owners state that they have a letter from the Greenebaum Sons Investment company stating that such a change is satisfactory.

Other Committee in Field.

Meanwhile there is another bondholders' protective committee, formed some time ago, of which C. J. Olsen is secretary and Abel Davis is chairman. This body states that enough bonds have been deposited with it to accelerate the bond issue, which was not due until September, 1932. The new bondholders' committee chairman, Mr. Meyer, says that his organization, while not sponsored by the owners of the equity, is willing to cooperate with them if possible in meeting the situation in some way. It is considered that a new refinancing loan may be secured.

Transfer of title yesterday to the Raymond Park apartment building, at the northeast corner of Hinman avenue and Grove street, Evanston, by the Hinman Grove Building corporation to Paul Tilke and by Mr. Tilke to Harry G. Zimmermann, assistant trust officers of the Chicago Title and Trust company, completes further steps in the reorganization of that property. Mr. Zimmerman will convey title later on to the Raymond Park Realty trust, according to T. E. Williams, secretary of the bondholders' protective committee.

University Apartments.

Kenneth E. Anderson, secretary of the Huszagh, Musson & Co. bondholders' protective committee, yesterday took title to the University apartments, at the southwest corner of Maple avenue and Noyes street, Evanston, from Bernard Given, who bought it from Charles Peterson. This is a step in the reorganization of the property, which defaulted in payment of $135,000 principal due April, 1931. All but $18,000 of the bonds have been deposited. There are no junior liens. If all bonds are received the mortgage will be canceled and the reorganization carried through along lines to be announced later. D'Ancona, Pflaum & Kohlsaat are attorneys for the committee.

Martin Grosby, of Plotke & Grosby, was the original mortgagor and the original issue was $185,000, at 6½ per cent, issued in 1926. The building contains thirty-two flats, of four and five rooms. Twenty-five are rented. Chester Davis, of the Chicago Title and Trust company, is receiver. The foreclosure suit has not been proved up.

SEARS-ROEBUCK PROFIT EQUALS $2.50 A SHARE

Mail Orders Drop; Retail Sales Up.

BY O. A. MATHER.

With farmers' income sharply reduced as the result of abnormally low prices for agricultural products, it was inevitable that the mail order business of Sears, Roebuck & Co. should shrink last year. On the other hand, the retail business of the company's chain of stores increased somewhat.

The total business produced sufficient earnings to cover the company's cash dividends for 1931, although the last of the stock dividends paid during the first part of the year necessitated taking more than $2,300,000 from surplus. Net earnings were $12,169,672, which was equivalent to $2.50 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year, and to $2.47 a share on the amount of stock outstanding at the end of 1931. Net income for 1930 was $14,308,897, which was equivalent to $3.01 a share. Cash dividends totaled $12,104,703 last year and two stock dividends of 1 per cent each were capitalized at $2,392,300. This resulted in total surplus declining to $75,037,676, compared with $77,365,008 at the end of 1930.

Net sales held up fairly well last year, considering the decline in commodity prices. The total was $216,294,562, compared with $350,429,045 in 1930 and $415,889,987 in 1929, which was the company's banner year. The decline in mail order sales alone last year was $48,000,000, and profit from such sales receded $3,800,000.

Retail Sales Improve.

"The decline in mail order sales since 1929 corresponds almost exactly in percentage to the decline in farm income," Gen. Robert E. Wood, president, says in his annual report, issued yesterday. "Our retail sales fared better, showing a slight increase in stores operating in both years, which, with the acquisition of several stores already established and the opening of a few in addition, resulted in an increase in total retail sales for the year.

"For the first time in the history of the company the retail store sales exceeded those of the mail order division. Our fixed assets at the end of the year, despite the heavy depreciation taken, showed a slight increase. Advantage was taken of prevailing low real estate prices to purchase properties in cities in which we intend to locate retail stores. In view of the decline in building costs, it also was deemed advisable to continue all betterments needed in our plants and retail stores."

The report shows that inventories declined about $8,000,000, or about 13½ per cent, last year, whereas the decline in sales was only 11 per cent. Inventories at the end of 1931 totaled $52,028,454.

Customers Remain Same.

"It is not anticipated that there will be any revival in the mail order business until there is some advance in commodity prices, particularly in farm products, with consequent increase in the purchasing power of the former," Gen. Wood concludes. "When that time arrives an increase in sales and profits may be expected. Our number of mail order customers has remained practically the same, but the amount of purchases per customer has decreased, reflecting his lower purchasing power. The management is confident of the continuing success of the company. Even in the last two years of unprecedented depression the company has shown steady, though reduced profits, and has preserved its organization, its personnel, and its customers. With any revival in general business our sales and profits should mount rapidly."

The company's balance sheet, as of Dec. 31, 1931, shows a strong position. Current assets totaled $123,779,883 and curren liabilities were $25,256,512. Total assets were $228,428,724.

Upturn in Food Prices Is Less Than Seasonal

Bradstreet's weekly food index, which showed its first gain since Nov. 18 last week, dropped back again this week to $1.82. This decrease of 1.1 per cent from the previous week's figure of $1.84 exactly cancels the gain made last week. Since the expected normal seasonal variation at this time is an increase of 0.3 per cent the real loss amounts to 1.4 per cent. In spite of so much talk of inflation, the publication will say, wholesale food prices, at least, show no evidence of it. The index represents the totals of the prices per pound of 31 foods in common demand. Weekly price changes in Bradstreet's list of eighty-seven selected commodities show that 8 were higher than the preceding week, 16 were lower and 63 remained unchanged. This campares with last week's changes when 19 were higher, 16 lower and 52 remained the same.

Archer-Daniels-Midland Reports 6 Months' Income

The Archer-Daniels-Midland company reported for the six months ended Dec. 31, 1931, net profit of $444,873, equal after preferred dividends to 59c a share on 549,546 shares of common.

For the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1931, the company showed a net profit of $225,013, equal to 30c a share on the common, compared with $219,860, or 29c a share, in the preceding quarter. No comparisons are available with the preceding year, since the company changed its fiscal year.

New York Stock Exchange Seat Bought at $135,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—The New York Stock exchange reported today that arrangements have been completed for the sale of a membership in the exchange at $135,000, an increase of $3,000 compared with the last previous sale.

Regulation of Railways Seen Failure

BY SCRUTATOR.

A lot of water has gone over the dam since the railroads announced their "declaration of policy" a little more than a year ago. There has been a striking change of opinion in railroad circles as to the reason for the carriers' ailments and their cure.

In November, 1930, the railroads adopted as a policy a series of demands chief of which was that the same type of regulation suffered by them be extended to cover highway and water transportation.

On Dec. 5, 1930, in this column the idea was advanced that a better solution would be had by freeing the railroads from bureaucratic domination rather than extending this blighting influence to other carriers.

Advocates Cure.

Three weeks later the Traffic World in its lead editorial commented on the suggestion that equalization be attained by removing some of the regulatory burden from the railroads.

"So favorably impressed are we with the logic of this program," the editorial stated, "that we have altered the 'platform' at the head of our editorial page to conform to it.

"We no longer, in that platform, insist on regulation of competing transportation agencies—even though in the original platform we suggested removal of regulation from the railroads as an alternative—but press for equalization of regulation."

Opposes Suggestion.

The Railway Age, however, bitterly opposed the suggestion on Jan. 10, 1931, in an editorial entitled, "How Make Competition Equal?" This journal has the regutation of being closely in tune with the sentiment of railway managements.

"Persons not interested in other means of transportation," said the Railway Age, "who sincerely advocate freeing the railways as a means of establishing equality of opportunity in transportation do so apparently without considering what freeing the railways would mean and the utter impracticability of accomplishing it.

"'Railroad men are justified in their opposition to present regulations restricting them,' says THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. 'The remedy does not lie in imposing similarly deadening regulations on competitors, but in freeing the railroads.'

"Do those who suggest that the railways should be treated as their competitors realize all they are proposing?"

Changes Viewpoint.

Apparently they did, for the Railway Age itself has now come around to that viewpoint.

"Nobody wants government ownership," this same paper said editorially on Nov. 7, 1931, "but a continuance of the present policy of regulation will make it inevitable. . . .

"It will be said by some that the granting of more freedom to the railways and the withdrawal of subsidies from their competitors would create chaos in transportation. There is chaos now, after twenty-five years of effective federal regulation by commission; and government policies, not railway management, have created it."

Cites Regulation Results.

The Railway Age followed this on Dec. 26, 1931, with an editorial in which it quoted the following from an article written twenty-four years ago by Woodrow Wilson:

"Regulation by commission is not regulation by law, but control according to the discretion of governmental officials. . . .

"There is no logical stopping place between that and the actual conduct of business enterprises by the government. Such methods of regulation, it may be safely predicted, will sooner or later be completely discredited by experience. Commissions in the future as in the past will reflect rather public opinion than business discretion."

The chief fruits of years of railroad regulation are the highest rates in history, impossible classification schedules, mileage scales that result in steadily contracting markets, and railroads that are broke.

STEVENS STORE PUT IN FRIENDLY RECEIVERSHIP

Charles A. Stevens & Bros., a department store established 35 years ago, went into friendly receivership yesterday before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

Judge Wilkerson, who was informed that the assets of the concern exceed its liabilities by more than a million dollars, appointed Elmer T. Stevens, president of the company, and the Chicago Title and Trust company as joint receivers.

The business will be carried on as usual, it was announced. Attorneys explained that the receivership was sought in order to enable the store to realize on its assets, consisting principally of merchandise, without loss. It is expected that new capital will be made available for the business and the company will be amply refinanced. It was announced that a plan is being worked out for an extension of time from the creditors of the company, and it is expected that a substantial payment will be made to creditors soon.

The attorneys who filed the petition for receivership were Montgomery, Hart, Pritchard and Harriott, acting on behalf of the Bradley Knitting company of Delavan, Wis., which has a claim for $9,033 against the store.

On Dec. 31, 1931, the petition stated, the company had assets of $2,321,243 and liabilities of $1,232,656.

Charles A. Stevens & Bros. is a separate corporation which owns and operates the women's store at 19 North State street, and is not the Stevens Brothers corporation, which owns the Columbus Memorial building, the Venetian building, and the Stevens building.

FOREIGN TRADE IN 1931 TOTALS OVER 4 BILLIONS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—(AP)—American shippers exported $2,423,759,239 worth of goods in 1931, and imports totaled $2,089,802,098. For 1930 exports amounted to $3,843,181,282 and imports $3,060,908,489.

This was announced today by the commerce department, in making public complete foreign trade figures for December. During that month exports were valued at $183,577,629 and imports $152,940,444. In December, 1930, exports were $274,855,725 and imports $208,636,013.

Buy Low Priced Cotton.

American exports declined to all countries except China and Japan during December as compared with December, 1930. Shipments to China last month totaled $13,713,201, compared with $7,243,977 in December, 1930, and to Japan $18,445,200, compared with $12,592,599. Shipments to Hongkong were $1,417,211, compared with $1,508,935. Commerce department officials said shipments to the far east increased because of large purchases of low priced cotton.

Shipments to principal European countries were: Belgium, $4,412,254 in December, 1931, compared with $5,747,626 in December, 1930; France, $8,278,916, against $19,171,119; Germany, $14,586,906, against $20,325,119; Italy, $7,075,720, against $8,625,229; Netherlands, $5,210,951, against $10,232,556; soviet Russia in Europe, $4,610,198, against $7,898,337; United Kingdom, $36,699,486, against $53,870,641; Canada, $19,776,876, against $36,077,187.

Imports from Europe.

Imports from principal European countries for December, 1931, compared with December, 1930, were: Belgium, $3,018,179, against $2,506,402; France, $6,722,036, against $7,274,851; Germany, $8,186,532, against $11,615,813; Italy, $6,630,251, against $5,252,025; Netherlands, $3,448,285, against $2,496,196; soviet Russia in Europe, $548,404, against $1,168,821; United Kingdom, $9,236,992, against $11,472,912. Canada, $20,037,357, against $26,155,348.

Imports from China were $3,495,650 in December, compared with $4,218,433 in December, 1930, and from Japan $18,802,513, against $27,208,700.

EXPORT COPPER PRICE IS BELOW DOMESTIC; 7⅛ CENTS A POUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—Export copper prices today dropped below the domestic equivalent when custom smelters quoted 7⅛ cents a pound, c. i. f. Hamburg, Havre, and London, to foreign buyers.

This was the first time in the history of Copper Exporters, Inc., that the foreign price has fallen below the domestic. The regular price for export is 7⅝ cents a pound and the domestic price is 7⅛ cents a pound, although a few sales have been reported recently at 7¼ cents.

Accumulations in the hands of custom smelters prompted them to avail themselves of the clause in the new rules of copper exporters which permits the sale of surplus stocks abroad at whatever prices they will bring.

As soon as the tonnage of accumulated metal is disposed of, the price automatically returns to the 7⅝ cent level. This clause was inserted in the rules to give relief to custom smelters, who must pay cash for the copper shipped to them for smelting on custom account whether they have an immediate market or not.

Damage to Wheat Crop Feared by Grain Trade

With a drop in temperatures to close to zero predicted in various weather reports covering the leading winter wheat belt in the southwest and in the middle west, the grain trade is uneasy. Serious crop damage would reduce the yield in the coming harvest and eventually result in bringing supplies down closer to demand requirements.

R. O. Cromwell, the Lamson Brothers & Co. crop expert, referring to the unexpected cold wave, says, "If this cold wave east of the Mississippi river materializes temperatures below 15 above will probably do permanent injury to vital processes of the wheat plant in its growing condition because of its unusual advanced stage of growth, but I believe a temperature of 10 above or lower would be required to do serious damage. In the southwest temperatures of 5 degrees or lower over considerable areas not snow covered would be harmful, as much of the western third of this territory has small shoots just coming up."

Europeans' Fingers Itch for U. S. Gold

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—American eagles and double eagles are finding their way into all countries in Europe as the result of extensive operations by smugglers from Paris attempting to satisfy the demand for gold coins for hoarding purposes.

A steady stream of American gold coins has been flowing to Paris for some time and, as one banker put it today, "the American eagle is proving a good advertising agent."

Except for France, this is the only important country where it can be truly said there is free coinage. While France is on a gold basis, it is not easy for ordinary individuals to change paper money into gold. It was reported here that bankers did not look with approval on the steady export of gold coin for hoarding and that there had been some talk of an agreement not to ship coins, only bars. This could not be confirmed in any authoritative quarters.

Imports of Small Dealers.

The European importation of American eagles and double eagles is being done by small dealers whom some bankers do not hesitate to term "bootleggers." Some large European banks generally either discourage the purchase of American gold coins or flatly refuse to execute orders.

The coins are being ordered by small hoarders in Germany, France, England, and surrounding countries in tens and twenties. As in the case of Germany, where there are rigid foreign exchange restrictions, the orders have to be given and received in a roundabout way that amounts to smuggling.

The dealers generally are located in Paris, but they have agents at many points who have ways and means of crossing international boundary lines.

In those countries that still are on a gold basis so many questions are asked of nationals who try to get gold that there is a disinclination on the part of hoarders to expose themselves to official investigation. That is the reason for the big demand for American coins.

No Desire for Gold Bars.

The export of gold coins is but part of the flight of foreign capital from this country. The gold coins are shipped to Paris to be redistributed and the dealers engaged in that traffic have no desire for gold bars.

The gold bars being shipped are generally for the account of central banks abroad. France has been gradually pulling down her balances here for about six months and bankers believe that in time French money here will be reduced to only bare necessity. France is supposed to have about half a billion dollars here in gold, bank balances and securities. American bankers show no concern about the withdrawal of these balances. On the other hand, bankers believe that the withdrawal of French balances will relieve this country of a certain amount of anxiety.

The flight of foreign capital from this country has been one of the chief reasons for the strength in French francs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—Gold in the amount of $29,379,300, representing partly transfers of earmarked stocks and partly exchange transactions, was withdrawn from the Federal Reserve bank today and shipped to Europe. France took $20,369,600 of the metal, Holland $4,765,000, Belgium $4,164,700, and Switzerland $80,000.

EVENTS IN CHINA SWEEP WHEAT PRICES UPWARD

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A combination of unfavorable weather reports and the Chinese war situation swept the wheat market up 2@2¼c yesterday, with a marked broadening in the general trade. At no time were prices more than a fraction below the finish of the previous day despite the weakness in the stock market, the forecast for a cold wave over the winter wheat belt bringing in rather persistent scattered buying. Later the trade had reports of temperatures well below zero in parts of west central Kansas, where the crop was not protected by snow and a wave of buying developed, with houses with eastern connections leading.

The advance was in the face of heavy selling of May wheat by several leading commission houses, but the offerings were readily absorbed and prices forged rapidly upward, with the May touching 60⅛c and the July, 60⅝c, with the finish at the top to ¾c under. March closed at 57⅞ to 57½c.

Fear Crop Damage.

Uncertainty continues as to the probable effect of the warlike developments in the far east, and this had some effect on the wheat market both here and at Winnipeg. The latter closed 1¾@2⅞c higher, with October leading, May finishing at 63½c in Canadian funds which were around 13½ per cent discount.

Traders were decidedly apprehensive of damage to the new winter wheat crop due to the low temperatures. R. O. Cromwell, the Lamson Bros. & Co. expert, expressed the belief that temperatures of 10 to 15 above zero would cause permanent injury to the crop in the states east of the Mississippi river owing to the advanced growth, and he looked to damage in the southwest should the temperature fall to around 5 above. As the private reports suggested as low as 5 below as Colby, Kas., the trade took it that there would be damage claims receive din the immediate future, especially as the forecast suggested continued cold weather over the week-end.

Aggressive Buying.

Buying of wheat futures by houses with eastern connections yesterday was decidedly aggressive, and the orders came into the pit with clock like regularity, in striking contrast to the inactivity of the same interests earlier in the week. Sellers of offers were forced to protect themselves on the way up.

Even the Buenos Aires wheat market felt the infectious bullish feeling and closed 1⅜@1½c higher, with March at 41¾c, and the advance

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—The air above Wall street was full of ferry boat smoke during the earlier hours of the day and traders with dispositions out of joint sold the stock market without compunction. Virtually the entire list was scuttled for new lows for the movement.

Around midday, however, better feelings prevailed and the leaders snapped back smartly, most of them to within striking distance of last night's close. At least half of the earlier losses were restored, leaving the final figures off no worse than 1 to 2 points on the day.

The Chinese war situation was shouldered with responsibility for the swing in both directions. In the forenoon, traders were discouraged over the prospect of a still more serious turn to the trouble and by the slump in foreign bonds, particularly those of Japan. In the afternoon, the brisk upturn in wheat in Chicago, credited here to the war, made the situation look a little better and those who had liquidated or sold short in the first two hours got busy buying back or covering.

Await Definite Action.

The Chicago railway wage conference was not so much of a factor today as it has been. The street has long since grown tired of trying to adapt itself to changing word from this theater of action and the inclination now is to refrain from any excitement that might run up blood pressure until something definite is really done. Poor earnings reports, however, continued to drag somewhat on this group, which sagged with the rest of the list in the early trading and recovered with it later.

At its low ebb today—around the noon hour—the market was uncomfortably close to the major decline lows registered on Jan. 5. On the face of the averages, indeed, it had a margin of only about 2 points clear of the deadline, the present retreat having wiped out a good 80 per cent of the recent recovery.

Railroad shares, buoyed by the persistent hopes of a wage reduction, have held their ground somewhat better than the industrials. Their average at today's minimums was about 5

Buying-Paying-Spending Power
--of the dollars you borrow

It isn't the buying—paying—spending power of the dollars you get from a loan when made which tells the whole story.

It is what the borrowed dollars have finally cost when they (and the cost) are paid back which tells you the actual worth of the dollars which you have borrowed for buying, paying, spending.

Liberal Friday hog receipts subjected the market to another price cut. Quotations were marked down mostly 5@10c, and the general market was lowest since June, 1899. The average went down 5c to the new low of $3.80, while the peak showed 5c loss at $4.10.

No material change was reported in the condition of the wholesale pork market, although a better undertone prevailed, due entirely to the anticipated expansion in retail demand over the week-end. Smaller local houses and city butchers were rather aggressive, and better grades of hogs finished firm at the decline in view of the drop in temperatures, which increased speculative buying late in the day.

Few of the 4,000 left at the close were being offered for sale. Larger houses refused to place too much confidence in the probable effect of the cold wave and limited their buying when strength appeared late.

There was little support in the hog futures trade yesterday and quotations in most months were lower. May mediums were bid $4.50. March mediums were offered at $5.00 and bid $4.25, while February contracts offered at $4.50 carried $4.00 bids.

Market Loses Ground.

More ground was lost in the cattle market yesterday when 3,000 head came into the yards and put prices under pressure. It was the largest Friday supply since last November and started reports that a larger movement of receipts may be under way for early next week. Considering the undependable consumptive demand for dressed beef lately, the cattle market is in need of light supplies if gains scored during the last few days are to be held.

Yesterday's offerings were mostly medium grades selling at $5.00@$6.75. Only a few lots were good enough to pass $7.00, although one shipment of 875 lb. yearlings topped the list at $8.75. Poorest grades of beef steers ranged down to $4.50, with several lots of thin 500@1,000 lb. averages down to $4.00. Butcher stock met a sticky market and most beef cows ruled weak to 25c lower. Most cows found slow sale at $2.75@3.25. Activity featured the calf market and numerous sales displayed strength in better grades of vealers bringing $8.50@$9.50. Packers bought at $7.50@8.50.

Lambs Slightly Lower.

Buyers and sellers came to grips in the lamb market yesterday when 22,000 head arrived at Chicago against 9,135 a week ago, and packers asked a cut of 25c on all purchases. It was a large Friday run and compared with 15,203 a year ago and with 14,215 two years ago, but sellers called attention to large supplies and favorable market conditions at other places in demanding Thursday's full gains.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for next Monday are estimated from 58,000 to 78,000. W. T. Reneker marked 78,000, S. Lund and J. M. Waters 71,000, G. W. Chandler, R. B. Ellis and H. S. Turner 70,000, A. G. Welhener 67,000, F. Knutzen and G. Brittain 66,000, F. M. Sherwood, R. Trullinger, M. J. Berkery, H. Wolfe and P. Allen 65,000, G. Dunlap 63,000, C. Southwick 62,000, and H. Pattison, 58,000.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today, with refiners showing interest at last paid prices of 3.08c for spots, duty paid. At this level about 9,000 bags of Porto Rican for February arrival sold to a local refiner and 27,000 bags of Philippines to an operator and 18,000 bags to an outport refiner for February-March shipment.

Futures were firmer, reflecting the better London cables and rumors that Java had agreed to the restriction plan, with final prices showing net advances of 2@3 points. Approximate sales were 15,450 tons. Prices follow:

EVENTS IN EAST SWEEP WHEAT PRICES UPWARD

Gains of 2 to 2⅛c Made; May Touches 60⅛c.

there is expected to have considerable influence on Liverpool today, as there was no pressure of cash wheat on Friday other than from Argentina. The English market finished ⅝@⅞c higher, with May at 54c. The trade paid no attention to the Indian report which made the acreage 32,437,000 acres, compared with 31,004,000 acres harvested last year. Aggregate exports from Argentina and Australia for the week were 8,207,000 bu compared with 11,521,000 bu the previous week, and 8,926,000 bu last year. There was no export business of consequence in North American cash wheat.

Corn Closes on Rally.

The corn market continues to be dominated by the action of wheat, and while the trade believed cold weather would result in a heavier movement of cash grain due to betterment of country roads the futures closed ⅞@1¼c higher. March finished at 33⅜c, May 41¼ to 41⅜c, and July 43⅛ to 43¼c. Shipping demand showed improvement, with sales of 31,000 bu, while country offerings were light. Purchases of 5,000 bu were made to arrive.

An advance of ⅜c in oat futures was largely in sympathy with other grains. May closed at 26¼ to 26⅜c, and July at 25⅝c. Some operators see prospects of a crop scare developing in this grain as last year 42.7 per cent of the acreage in the south was seeded to fall or winter oats, and in the past there have been times when cold weather did more or less damage.

While nothing was heard regarding foreign demand for rye, the close was 1½@1¾c higher, with May 47½c, and July 48c. Berlin closed ⅝@2⅜c per bu higher, which was taken as suggesting government selling was less pronounced.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Butter market continues weak and prices declined ½@⅝c. Receipts, 7,829 tubs. Fresh eggs were unsettled with prices ¼c higher to ½c lower. Receipts, 7,405 cases; Live hens declined ½c, while other poultry was unchanged. Receipts, 1 car and 20 trucks. Potatoes weak. Receipts, 48 cars, with 231 cars on team track.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

With the China-Japanese war uncertainties coupled with prospects of freezing weather over a large part of the winter wheat belt, wheat traders took a better view of the situation. A number of local operators, however, who have been long, sold out early, securing fair profits, and, in some instances, their lines were reinstated at higher levels. The disposition of the trade is to await for later developments.

It was the opinion of the trade that should temperature close to zero come to the greater part of the winter wheat belt, especially that east of the Mississippi river where most of the red wheat is raised, serious damage would result. This, it is said, would be rather favorable for better prices later in the season, especially should the crop be materially reduced. The trade is looking for higher Liverpool prices today.

ARGENTINE EXPORTS
